COMMON INTEREST Your Government and Mine

By DANA P. BLAKE, Director

PLAN A

The task facing the voters of Newton this fall is twofold:

- (1) the election of men to public office and
- (2) deciding on whether or not the form of city government should be changed, and if so, to which form.

Governments must be administered by men, and the personnel of public office, both elective and appointive, is important. Though there is a divergence of opinion on the point of the importance of the form of government, the fact still remains that the form of government is important not only in attracting the right type of men into office, but in enabling them to carry on their work efficiently and economically once they have been attracted into the municipal service. However, it is also a proven fact that wiser government does not flow automatically from a mechanical form of government. Summed up—the voter cannot discard either of the two elements essential to insure efficient, economical and honest administration of public affairs, viz:

- (a) right men in the right public office;
- (b) and the right tools with which to work

HISTORICAL REVIEW

This week we shall look into the oldest, and as yet the most widely used form of city government—the MAYOR-AND-COUNCIL form. Before discussing the features of Plans A and B (Plan A this week, Plan B next) which plans represent the 20th century edition of the Mayor-and-Council plan of government we feel that even a superficial summary of the steps through which the present frame of American city government has been evolved will help the voter to better understand the chief features which characterize it at the present day. This course of evolution is over a period of nearly 300 years, beginning with the Colonial period, through the critical period immediately following the Revolution, the pre-civil war period from 1825 to 1865; the stormy course through the 'spoils system' era which brought about imperative reforms; the bumping over the rapid growth in population during the latter part of the 19th century; the rapid growth of municipal functions due to improvements in living conditions developed through inventions and science, and progress in civilization; and the 'civic conscience' (awakening) of period which commenced around 1890, and which factor today is more than ever on the alert.

Origin of Plan

The Mayor-and-council plan had its origin in the Colonial period, and was patterned on that existing in England at the time. The governing body, to which were given the corporate powers of the community, was usually styled "the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty" of the borough. The Councilmen, and so the Aldermen as a rule, were chosen by popular vote, but not the Mayor. He was selected by the council in a few cases, but usually by the colonial Governor. His term of office was in all cases one year, though cases of reappointment were frequent.

Charter, Power and Appointment of Mayor

The charters were granted by the Royal Governors. Their colonial charters conferred few powers upon the mayor. He presided at council meetings but he had NEITHER veto or appointing power. However, in this period the judicial powers of the mayor were of considerable importance. The Mayor's Court (which is still in existence in some Southern States) was given rather extensive criminal and civil jurisdiction. Generally, the person appointed mayor was a man of experience in municipal affairs and one who became a real force in municipal government.

The New Era

With the separation from Great Britain (1776) and the establishment of state governments, great changes in both the form and spirit of municipal government commenced taking place. Outstanding changes were:

- (a) the charters which were formerly granted by the Governors and not by the Colonial Legislatures, were henceforth granted not by the Governor alone, but by the State Legislature. This wrought a radical change in the relation existing between the municipality and the state, for whereas under the royal charters the municipalities enjoyed almost entire freedom from legislative interference, under the new dispensation they were completely under the domination of the state legislature. The City Charters had become a statute which might be amended or repealed like any other statute. Municipal home rule which characterized the situation in American cities during the colonial period has become virtually extinct. For instance, from 1885 to 1908 the Massachusetts Legislature passed no fewer than 400 special laws relating to Boston, many of which have been considered unnecessary, unwise and the motives behind the enactments not commendable.

- (b) the system of State appointment of mayors gave way to appointment by the state executive council or by the City

Swimming Program Limited to Newton Residents

In line with policies of the Newton Recreation Department, Mr. F. Ewing Wilson, Director, the local chapter of the American Red Cross has been asked to announce that as in former years the Newton swimming program is of necessity available only to residents of Newton. The response of local children to the instruction offered by the Red Cross is such that it is impossible for the service to be extended to include children of nearly communities. Watertown and Brookline residents may call the Boston Red Cross Chapter for information regarding available facilities.

Mr. Frank E. Dowsett, Chairman of the Red Cross Water Safety Program, reports that enrollments were taken on Monday and Tuesday both at Crystal Lake and Auburndale, and that actual class instruction was begun for the season.

Bank Wants Change In Zoning to Permit New Bank Building

At the request of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company the Waban Improvement Society is conducting a poll of public opinion on the question of a change in zoning to permit erection of a new bank building on Woodland street, Waban.

Frank L. Richardson, executive vice-president of the bank, in a letter to the residents of Waban, has stated that the required change in zoning will be requested from the city government as soon as they have indicated that they are in favor of erection of the building.

Residents are requested to send expressions of their opinion in the matter to Archibald M. Price, secretary-treasurer of the Improvement Society of 7 Radcliff road, Waban.

Pascoe Installed Pres. of Lions Club

George T. Pascoe of Newton Centre was installed president of the Newton Lions Club at a 'Ladies' Night' program held Thursday evening at the Newton Y. M. C. A.

Other officers inducted by District Governor Fred A. Smythe were as follows: Louis W. Tedstone, first vice-president; Hazen E. Edgar, second vice-president; Dr. John H. Hanks, third vice-president; Austin W. Flint, secretary-treasurer; John W. Tappan, lion tamer; Edward A. Pascoe.

Perry Named V.P. Savings Bank Life Insurance Council

Joseph Earl Perry, president of the Newton Savings Bank, was elected first vice-president of the newly formed Massachusetts Savings Bank Life Insurance Council at a meeting preceding the 40th anniversary observance of Savings Bank Life Insurance at the Parker House, Boston, on Thursday.

Edward F. McLennan, former law partner of Justice Brandeis, was the principal speaker and entertainment included the Raleigh Brothers of Newton Highlands and the American Male Chorus.

Others present at the anniversary dinner from Newton were Walter R. Amesbury, Ralph S. E. Sanguinetti, Benjamin F. Louis, Harlow Sylvester, John Stevens, Owen Murphy, Miss Carolyn P. Rice, Miss Ada M. Powell, and William H. Wragg.

Charles J. O'Malley Opposes Edison Poles

At a hearing held before the Boston street lighting board at the Boston City Hall Monday on the question of whether the Boston Edison Company should hang wires on poles or put them underground, Charles J. O'Malley, former Newton resident and head of the O'Malley Advertising Agency of Boston, offered to pass the hat to finance underground construction.

Volunteer Typists Needed

Do you have a few spare hours each week that you could devote to volunteer work? If so, then the Volunteer Service Bureau of the Newton Community Council wants to meet you! Your assistance is asked by the Family Service Bureau of Newton and by the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Typists for the Educational Department of the hospital to cut stencils and copy records are urgently needed for the summer months. The Family Service Bureau also seeks volunteers to type and file. This is both necessary and satisfying work.

All women from 18 to 50 who can type, are in good health, and who have a few hours a week that they could contribute are urged to respond to this need.

This is your opportunity to do pleasant, interesting work in your home community, Newton. It will mean just a few hours of your time each week and yet be greatly appreciated!

If you plan to be home this summer, like to type or file, and have a few hours free time each week — the Volunteer Service Bureau of the Newton Community Council urges you to aid these organizations that need your help. Call the Volunteer Service Bureau of the Newton Community Council today—LAsell 5121.

Mrs. Barker New Nutrition Chairman

Announcement comes from Mr. Charles B. Floyd, Chairman of the Newton Red Cross, that Mrs. Arnold C. Barker has been appointed Chairman of Nutrition. Mrs. Barker has had wide experience in this field and is unusually well equipped for this assignment.

Having been an active member of the Red Cross Canteen for a number of years, she has also served as Canteen Vice-Chairman. She has been a member of the Speakers' Bureau for Red Cross in their program of public relations.

"Forty Plus of New England Conquers Worry - Gets Jobs"

Forty Plus of New England, the association of former executives organized in a group effort to place its members in permanent positions, is daily demonstrating what men collectively can do to overcome the prejudices against employing the man over FORTY. It has been eminently successful in restoring men of EXECUTIVE calibre to industry with definite economic savings to all concerned.

"Blessed is the man who is too busy to worry in the daytime and too tired to lay awake at night." Old stuff but actually a wonderful formula for combating the conflicting emotions experienced by a man seeking new employment. Sooner or later, nine of every ten men can be absolutely certain that their day of unemployment will come. Pensions and voluntary retirements are growing but the individual's day of unemployment is as certain as "DEATH and TAXES."

The executive is usually a company product. Ability to acquire the many details of management problems and successful performance in doing so, results in advancement to the Executive level. The FORTY hour week is a myth to such a man. Consequently, when his day arrives, the emotional reactions are extremely severe.

This interruption in his business career must not be permitted to cause him to think it spells "FINIS." He, like hundreds of thousands of his fellow countrymen, cannot escape the law of average. How to make the quickest recovery is his "CHALLENGE." Sitting around home brooding about it is positively BAD. Must not be permitted. ACTION and more ACTION is what is needed. Clear thinking, planning and working tirelessly on the problem is the only worthwhile effort.

FORTY PLUS offers him a chance to meet with other men in the same circumstances. They talk things over. Eventually they laugh and joke. They see jobs obtained for their fellow members. Soon they are ready to lick the world again themselves. They've overcome the "FORTYPHOBIA" fears. They finally prove it to themselves and the world by stepping into a new executive position and filling it efficiently and highly satisfactorily to their new employers.

FORTY PLUS has had extensive experience in EXECUTIVE placement. It has rigid membership requirements. Its men have had bona fide executive experience, earned at least $4000 in such a position, be unemployed and over FORTY. United States citizenship is also a MUST. His references, former employment history is carefully checked. This ensures a prospective employer that a man has the background and abilities to handle any position to which he is recommended.

FORTY PLUS of NEW ENGLAND has had the generous and beneficial assistance of many public spirited citizens in its efforts to provide a reliable liaison group between employer and the unemployed executive. It has placed over seven hundred men in lucrative positions since it was organized in June of 1938 and that does not include the period during the war when their activities were suspended. There are no fees nor dues to either its members or the employer. It is a strictly GOLDEN RULE organization in all its phases. Employer and unemployed executives alike should investigate its advantages. Its new offices are located at 54 Kilby street in downtown Boston.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note.)

A Lady Alderman

At long last it has happened. A politically-minded lady of considerable ability has decided to challenge a member of the sterner sex for a seat on the Newton Board of Aldermen. The lady is Mrs. Helen R. Lesses, wife of Dr. Mark F. Lesses, living at 33 Hancock avenue, Newton Centre. The man whom she challenges is Stanton J. TenBroeck Jr., living at 77 Allerton road, Newton Centre. Mr. TenBroeck is quite well-known in Ward 6, although he has never, to my knowledge, made an important bid for political office. That, however, may be said of a good many of our Aldermen in years past.

What is the line-up, to date, in Ward 6? It is generally understood that the president of the Board of Aldermen, Joseph B. Jamieson Jr., who has represented Ward 6 for a good many years, is presently retiring. As a matter of fact, only the insistence of his constituents has kept him at his post for several years. With Alderman Jamieson's retirement there comes, of course, a vacancy for Alderman-at-large. The sitting Ward Alderman, Julian D. Anthony, is expected to run for Alderman Jamieson's seat and, so far as anybody knows, Alderman William V. Tripp of Chestnut Hill, the other Alderman-at-large, will run for re-election.

Let us now consider briefly what might happen in this unique contest now shaping up. Mrs. Lesses starts off with one obvious advantage and one obvious disadvantage. On the affirmative side, a study of her background and community service record shows her to be a lady of more than average ability. Furthermore, as a half-hour telephone conversation with her revealed, she has much more than normal political "savvy." She will know where the votes are located and she will doubtless go after them hammer and tongs. Whatever she herself may miss, her many friends will pick up. She can speak well and she can presumably write as well as she speaks. All in all, she represents the first serious threat to the complete domination of the male in the Board of Aldermen.

On the other side of the ledger we have the well-known fact that there are still thousands upon thousands of the fairer sex who view with dissatisfaction the idea of one of their own sex going out into the political arena. I think that this may be more true of Newton than of some other communities. I do recall, however, a case in our neighboring community of Brookline. There, a lady who had succeeded in breaking down precedent and winning election to the State Senate, was defeated rather handsily when she ran for re-election. Political observers, by and large, were of the opinion that former Senator Sybil H. Holmes was defeated, partly because of the failure of her own sex to go to bat for her and partly because she was on the wrong side, politically, on an important matter of public policy. Again, she was a serious-minded solon who did not seem to find time to do all the necessary favors for constituents and who was seemingly uninterested in all the usual political maneuvering which precedes an election.

Newton currently has a lady in its delegation at the State House, Rep. Margaret Spear. It will be profoundly interesting to note the stand which this capable public servant takes. Of course, she may "sit it out" and decline to take sides. Also, we now have a lady member of our School Committee in the person of Mrs. B. Alden Thresher of Waban, which is in Ward 5 and therefore not involved in the strictly local Ward 6 contest between Mr. TenBroeck and Mrs. Lesses. There are a dozen or more very active ladies who follow politics closely in Newton. Let's watch the stand, if any, which they may take.

There is one prediction which I will make right now. My guess is that there will be a larger vote cast, proportionally, in Ward 6 than in any other ward next fall. It is possible that 75 per cent of the registered vote will turn out on Nov. 4. It would be a mighty good sign of re-awakened public interest in governmental matters if a similar showing could be made in other wards. If only the Mayoral contest would take on some semblance of life, we might have a splendid turn-out of voters in this extremely important election.

Taxpayers Association—

Council. By 1821 this transition had been completed, and the still newer idea of election of the mayor by popular vote was in Boston among the earliest to follow this course for its charter granted in 1822 provided for the popular election of the Mayor.

(c) the development of the office of mayor to a dominating position through increase of the powers of the mayor and the tendency to lengthen his term of office. This change came about very gradually, and at different rates of progress in the cities throughout the country. Nevertheless, from no veto or appointive powers by 1830 (New York) he was given veto power, and power to appoint committees of the council over which he presided. This proved to be an indirect means of exerting control. Still later, by 1850, provision was made for the appointment of administrative officials by the mayor, first this power was subject to confirmation by the council, but in the latter part of the 19th century all checks on his appointing power were removed in some cities.

(d) departures from the English model of the early charter paved the way for the charters which came in at the threshold of the 19th century, and which embodied the more important ideas concerning governmental organization that had been recognized in the National and State constitutions—the principle of divided powers, or of 'checks and balances'. In short, the doctrine that executive and legislative authority should be vested in separate and independent hands.

The reader will note how Plans A and B, which are the Mayor-Council plans available to the cities under Chapter 43 (1915) and referred to as the Strong Mayor and Weak Mayor types, have separated and incorporated these developments as well as underlying principles that the power to determine public policy should be vested in one body of men, while the function of carrying this policy into effect should be given to another; the former to be elective, the latter mainly appointive; representation of the people being desired in one case; administrative skill and efficiency in the other.

Thus you will note that the Strong-Mayor-Council plan under which the council is supposed to confine itself to legislative duties, leaving the direction of administration to the chief administrative officer (whether he be mayor or manager) is embodied in Plan A. This is the more centralized form in which the Council has less authority, there are fewer elected administrative officials, and more power is concentrated in the hands of the Mayor. Elections are non-partisan, and any reference to party or political designations, or views or opinions of the candidate, or anything showing how he was nominated, is strictly forbidden by law.

The Mayor is elected by and from the qualified voters of the city and his term of office is two years.

As chief executive of the city the Mayor is the head of the administrative branch of the government. The most important of his administrative powers is that of appointing and removing the heads of departments and the members of boards and commissions, excepting the School Committee, officials appointed by the Governor and the Council. The absolute power to remove at will is only encumbered by the requirements that the mayor file a written statement with the city clerk setting forth in detail the specific reasons therefor, and a copy furnished to the person thus removed, who is given leave to reply. But still the decision of the mayor is final. This complete freedom in the appointment and removal of his subordinates permits the mayor to exercise control over these officers and to secure cooperation among them.

On matters which require the mayor's approval, such as contracts the city is empowered to make, he is free to exercise his judgment and discretion without limitation, and so long as he acts in good faith, and not capriciously or arbitrarily, his course of action cannot be interfered with, nor can he be compelled to take further or different action.

The veto power is probably the most important of the mayor's legislative powers, although in Massachusetts it is not this column is being read. What I have on my mind, however, is just as appropriate today as it will be two weeks from now. The point is just this. Nearly every year our Legislature finds itself in substantially the same predicament. In the very late spring or the early summer it decides that it wants to shut up shop and go home. However, there are always quite a few bills which have not been disposed of. So, there is a mad rush to hurry through a lot of half-baked legislation which is satisfactory to nobody and very distasteful to untold thousands. "The boys" say that they are hot and tired and need a rest. They rush through several weeks work in a few days and then tell the Governor that they are all set to go home (unless a Red Sox game delays prorogation). And so "The Boys" go home and the taxpayers have to "take it and like it."

O'Malley said he had been fighting for 12 years to prevent erection of the 38 poles proposed by the Edison Co., and said he would continue the fight with court action if necessary. He said he was speaking for 10 property owners.

O'Malley said poles would reduce the value of property. Ralph Young of the right of way division of the Edison Co., said most of the poles would be on state land, affecting only a few property owners.

the power of absolute veto, for while he has the right to veto every order, ordinance, resolution and vote relative to the affairs of the city, adopted or passed by the Council, the Council may, upon reconsideration, by two-thirds vote override the mayor's veto.

The salary of the Mayor under Plan A is such salary as the city council determines, not to exceed $5000 per annum, and not to receive any other compensation from the city.

Under Plan A the LEGISLATIVE POWERS are vested in the City Council which consist of nine persons elected at large by and from the qualified voters of the city. The President of the Council is elected annually from its members. At the first election held after the adoption of Plan A, unless the Plan provides for biennial elections the five candidates receiving the largest number of votes hold office for two years and the remaining four hold office for one year. Thereafter, as these terms expire the vacancies are filled at the city's annual election, and each member so elected serves for two years.

Inasmuch as certain provisions of the General Laws governing City Charters apply to any Plan adopted (except as the Plan may otherwise provide) we find that he is also a member and Chairman of the School Committee.

Plan A is based on the principle that centralization of authority and responsibility is essential to successful administration. By concentrating responsibility the mayor can be held responsible at the polls.

Miss Dolby in Debut As Concert Violinist

Hailed by critics as "a young and talented artist of great promise," Miss Leslie Sandra Dolby, of Robinsdale, Mass., student in the Levi Warren Junior (3) High School of Newton, made a successful debut as a concert violinist last Sunday at the Sheraton Hotel in Boston, before an audience of one hundred. She is 13 years old. Gertrude Marshall Spiek was her accompanist.

Miss Dolby has been the pupil of Hiram R. Goldman, widely known teacher and artist, for the last three years, and her interpretation of the works of Debussy, Rode, Bohm, Corelli, Alard, Accolay and other composers showed unusually fine interpretation. She was poised and confident at all times.

Her Meditation from Thais was beautifully done as was Neruda's "Berceuse Slave." She concluded with the Accolay "Concerto," 2nd Movement.

Miss Dolby has been active in the school orchestra and last year was its concert master. Both her teacher and the critics predict a successful career.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Dolby of Robinsdale, Mass.

An adult grasshopper will eat its own weight in about 16 hours and a Mormon cricket in about 18, entomologists estimate. A beef animal on good range will eat his own weight in grass in 7 or 8 days.

'Duel in the Sun' At Wellesley Hills

Outstanding among current films, "Duel in the Sun" plays its only engagement in this area at the Wellesley Hills Community Playhouse where it opens on Sunday.

Told against a background of Post-Civil War Texas, the screen play was written by David O. Selznick as suggested by Niven Busch's novel.

Playing the principal parts in "Duel in the Sun" are Jennifer Jones, as a tempestuous half-breed named Pearl Chavez, Gregory Peck as Lewt McCanles, a charming but worthless man, and Joseph Cotten as his brother, Jesse McCanles, an idealistic gentleman.

Other important roles in "Duel in the Sun" are portrayed by such players as Lionel Barrymore, Lillian Gish, Herbert Marshall, Walter Huston, Charles Bickford, Otto Kruger, Joan Tetzel, Butterfly McQueen, and Tilly Losch, an internationally famous Viennese concert artist.

In 1844 the first telegram was sent over the wires from one city to another. The telegraph line was constructed by Samuel F. B. Morse with funds provided by Congress and amounting to $30,000. The line went from Baltimore, Md. to Washington, D.C. and in 1866 the United States and England began sending messages to each other.

John Hubert in Schoolboy Chess Tournament

John Hubert of 828 Shady Hill Road, Newton Highlands, who holds the title of Massachusetts Schoolboy Chess Champion, is planning to participate in the tournament to be held in Cleveland next week to determine the National Schoolboy Chess Championship.

John, a graduate of Newton High School, who is 16 years old and has just completed his first year at the University of Chicago, was honored by being received by Mayor Paul M. Goddard at City Hall this morning. After wishing him success in his National tournament play, Mayor Goddard pointed out that there was much to be gained at such a meeting besides the championship. "You will have opportunity," he said, "to express such qualities as good sportsmanship and unselfishness which are also qualities of champions."

Chess players in Newton, many of whom have played the game with John Hubert, presented him, as a token of their good will and esteem, funds to cover his traveling expenses to Cleveland and return.

Waldo Waters, President of the Massachusetts Chess Association, and Carl Crummett of the Newton Chess Nuts comprised the committee in charge.

Summer Union Services Begin Sun. in Newton Ctr.

Beginning this Sunday, July 6, and continuing through July 20, the Summer Union Services sponsored by and held in the following Newton Centre Churches: the First Church in Newton (Congregational), the Methodist Church, the Unitarian Church, and the First Baptist Church in Newton, will be held in the Baptist Church, Rev. Charles N. Arbuckle, D. D. Minister. On Sunday morning, at eleven o'clock, Rev. Gordon E. Bigelow, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Beverly, Massachusetts, will be the guest minister. His subject, "Congratulations!"

Norumbega Council's Summer Program includes a trip to Philmont Ranch, National Boy Scout Camp in the Southern Rockies of New Mexico. The Norumbega contingent includes Scouts Charles Post, Troop 22, Hans Haggen, Dan Abbott, William Underhill, Troop 16, Maurice Burg, Troop 17, Thomas Lyndon, Troop 5, and George West, Troop 5.

The group left Newtonville Depot for the train trip to New Mexico Friday afternoon, when a large group of Norumbega Scouts and Scouters were on hand for a send off.

Philmont Scout Ranch, in the great American Rockies, land of the ancient American history, and stamping grounds of many an old famous Scout and character of our pioneer days, is providing new thrills and old-time western adventure for thousands of Senior Scouts today.

Here are the mountains, the western plains and valley floors, in a country first found for the present civilized world by the Spanish Conquistadores more than 500 years ago.

Customs and landmarks of those colorful days still remain. You may follow some of the trails blazed originally by Indians; see wild life aplenty; visit old robbers caves; see Indian picture writings; explore old cliff dwellers homes; pan for gold; and yes, just sitting around the campfires where once sat such famous characters as Jim Bridger, Kit Carson, Lucien B. Maxwell, Black Jack Ketchum and others, when this was considered the Roarin' West along the Santa Fe Trail.

Tracks still are visible where once rolled the Pony Express and a Stage Coach we have preserved here, along with other equipment used on the old Santa Fe Trail—these are housed in a building not three hundred feet from where they actually lumbered proudly along in days of yore.

Wild Life Wherever you go, especially in small groups, you are bound to see wild life aplenty—provided Scouts are not too noisy, of course. On the wild life list to be seen at Philmont are buffalo, deer, elk, and antelope, bobcats and coyotes, beaver and porcupine, prairie dogs, and other animals. Over 100 kinds of birds were observed and identified last year from the smallest hummingbird to the wild turkey and the bald eagle. All may be hunted—with a camera.

New trails? Yes, there are miles and miles of this ranch which have never been covered by people who are living today—Scouts, perhaps—will have an opportunity of following the pathways of newly blazed trails to virgin areas where Scouts of today and tomorrow will camp. Just to camp in such a vast expanse of mountains, plains, woods, and valleys—just to stand on a mountain top and look down on the whole world of nature—is sufficient in itself. But Philmont offers ever more than that.

On this great ranch, said to be among the finest in America, typical western ranching activities continue. There are a hundred head of the finest Hereford cattle and over 200 horses. If Scouts have ever had a desire to see a great western ranch in operation—cowboys and all—here's their opportunity—and it all belongs to a Scout as a member of the Boy Scouts of America.

Kit Carson's adobe home, built by the famous Scout, is on the ranch property near the base camp bearing his name. Here is Rayado Crater with evidence which tells the story of the once smoldering volcano, and "Lovers Leap," a sheer perpendicular cliff that guards the entrance to the Ureaca Canyon.

Scouts will have plenty of fun just trying to find Hidden Valley—where Mrs. Martin Johnson (Osa Johnson) shot a mountain lion on a big game hunt a short while back. Deer Lake Mesa, Cimarroncito Valley, the canyon of the Rayado, the Indian Writings, the old Gold Mine, are just a few of a score of beauty spots.

Senior Training The Senior Training Program covers four weeks of high adventure and training in Troop leadership, camping skills, and pioneering. This Ranch-Mountain-Wilderness experience will be on a Troop and Patrol basis and the Scout method of "learning by doing" will be followed in a way which will prove not only valuable to each Senior personally but his home Troop as well.

This training program, started in 1942, has grown rapidly and this coming summer provisions are being made for fifteen Troops of three Patrols each. Patrols will arrive at Philmont on a pre-arranged opening date and will be organized into a Senior Training Troop of sound Patrol organization. The first two days will be spent at the Camping Headquarters where the organization of the Training Troop into a working unit will take place, each fellow receive his medical check, tour the ranch headquarters, browse through the historical museum and receive some preliminary instruction about the Philmont Program. The Troop will then go to the Kit Carson Base Camp where they will receive their first week's training. This training will be a "conditioner" preparing Seniors for the real, rigorous camping and exploration program ahead. Here they will receive training in axeman, cooking, hiking, packing, horsemanship, marksmanship, and other camp activities.

The schedule to follow will consist of a week at the Ponil Base Camp where Seniors will have an opportunity to explore, to visit Indian Ruins, and to practice animal packing in one of the roughest and most historical sections of the Rockies.

Another week will be spent at the Rayado Base Camp. Here is a camp far off the highway and usual trails. All food and supplies used in this camp must be packed in. This is a real pioneer experience with Seniors being challenged to exercise their knowledge of campcraft and pioneering skills. While at this camp, they will have an opportunity to fish and to hike to the top of Clear Creek Mountain, towering nearly 12,000 feet above sea level. Here, too, they can try their skill at stalking the cunning wild horses.

The last week will be spent at the Cimarroncito Base Camp where a string of horses will be at the disposal of the Troop. During this busy week Seniors will find time to complete their personal projects and to make explorations of points of interest including Hidden Valley, Deer Lake Mesa, old Gold Mines, Black Mountain, and other thrilling points. The last day they will go to the Camping Headquarters where they will get ready for their trip home and participate in a closing Fiesta which is packed with inspiration and fellowship and is a fitting climax to this great adventure.

Former W. Newton Man Is President of N. J. Junior C. of C.

Philip S. Carter of Plainfield, New Jersey, a former resident of West Newton, was recently elected president of the New Jersey Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Carter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Carter, 16 Balcarres Rd., West Newton. He attended Newton High School, graduating in 1929, and received his degree from Harvard University in 1934.

Prior to his election as state president, Mr. Carter served as president of the Plainfield Junior Chamber, building up an organization in ten months from twenty to over one hundred and sixty-five members. During Mr. Carter's administration many new projects were inaugurated. Among these were a driver training school which will eventually spread throughout the state under the guidance of the Motor Vehicle Department. Also sponsored was the Student Safety Patrol, whose excellent record resulted in a citation from the Safety Council.

During the past year, Mr. Carter served on a special five man committee appointed by the mayor of Plainfield to study the question of teacher's salaries. The recommendations of this committee were adopted by the Board of Education after a public forum meeting, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Carter is also a member of the Plainfield Area Safety Council, Mendelssohn Glee Club and the Tri-Country Radio Association. He is married and has two children. He is associated with the Thermionic Engineering Corporation of Pompton Plains, New Jersey as a sales executive.

Want a Beautiful Lawn This Summer?

KILL CRABGRASS NOW WITH TAT C-LECT!

Amazing new selective chemical PMAS (An Organic Mercurial Complex, Patent Pending) kills crabgrass seeds as they germinate, seedlings, and mature plants . . . yet safe on lawns.

Now you can have a lovely, green, velvety lawn all summer long and save yourself the expense and trouble of removing a crabgrass ruined lawn by using TAT C-LECT to kill crabgrass seedlings and germinating seeds NOW!

TAT C-LECT kills crabgrass in all stages—seeds as they germinate, seedlings, or mature plants. But, don't wait until crabgrass gets a head start in your lawn. One mature plant alone may produce 200,000 seeds! If you want a lovely lawn free from crabgrass, use TAT C-LECT to protect it and keep it crabgrass free. Seedlings are now appearing in your lawn so get TAT C-LECT to work now without delay.

Insist on TAT C-LECT! Don't accept substitutes! Don't confuse with weed killers—or chemicals that burn off grasses! You want the selective crabgrass killer that is safe for lawns, so ask for it by name—TAT C-LECT.

How to Tell Crabgrass

If you had crabgrass last year, it will appear in your lawn by the end of May or early June. Crabgrass only grows in sunny areas. Illustrations show slender, curled blades of good grass which does not unfold 'til 2" high, whereas, crabgrass emerges as a complete, broad, slightly curved blade 1/4" in length. The second leaf develops before the plant is 1/2" high.

How to Apply TAT C-LECT and How It Works

Apply TAT C-LECT as directed, wetting soil thoroughly by means of a watering can or sprayer. TAT C-LECT kills growing crabgrass plants through root absorption. TAT C-LECT remains in the soil and kills new crabgrass plants as they germinate from dormant seeds.

Carter Returns from Study of Govt. at Amherst, Mass.

Phillip W. Carter, West Newton, has just returned from a week's stay at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, where he served as a Counselor for Boys State, a week-long study of government sponsored annually by the American Legion, Department of Massachusetts. This year, 550 boys from their junior year in high schools throughout the state, flocked to Amherst to study the structure of our state government and to discuss its problems. Through formation of a mythical 49th state, the youths were elected and appointed to offices in the state government.

Supervision and integration of such a program, especially when it involves 550 teenagers, is no small matter. "But it is well worth the effort," say the Counselors, "when we see the initiative which these boys display in getting the program underway. . . . In a matter of hours, you would think they had known each other all their lives."

Prominent in Legion affairs for many years, Carter is looking forward to the next encampment of Boys State, when he will assist in giving a new crop of boys their first taste of Americanism, the American Legion way.

Jack-Pot Winner On WCOP Broadcast

Larry Cuthbert, 22 Hibbard Road, Newton, came home from a recent broadcast of "Invitation to Studio A" at radio station WCOP, $50.00 richer. When he was unable to answer the "Jack-Pot-A-Phone" query of the day, emcee Nelson Bragg phoned one of Cuthbert's friends who came through with the right answer which netted the accumulation in the jack-pot.

"Invitation to Studio A", which features audience participation stunts and games and the music of Mario Mantini and the WCOP orchestra, is broadcast every Monday through Friday at 4:30 p. m. over WCOP.

Rotary Club

The Newton Rotary Club, meeting at Brae Burn Monday, had as their speaker Mr. Charles C. Dasey, executive of the Cunard White Star Line, who gave a very interesting talk on the subject of "The Future of Transoceanic Travel." As an added treat, Miss Emily Faldetta, accompanied by Lou Haffermehl at the piano, sang several songs, during a beautiful job.

Guests attending the meeting were Egil Reier and Robert Anderson who came with Dr. Phil Enholm, Dwight Bentley with Hal Gores, Jack Walsh from Waltham, Fred Heaney and James O'Connell from Watertown, Walter Phillips, Ed Powers, and Chas. Hewitt from Boston, and Sam Dennis from Wellesley.

The police were notified and an extensive search of the grounds was made for him, and failing to locate him, a search of the river was made, the body being recovered at 3 a. m. in about six feet of water approximately 30 feet from the shore.

Besides his parents he leaves two brothers and two sisters.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning from the home of his parents, followed by a solemn requiem mass in St. Bernard's church at 9 o'clock.

Newton Taxpayers Association, Inc. Views All Plans for City Government

[This is the third in a series of eight factual data articles on city government brought to you by the Association in the interest of better government.—Editor]

COMMON INTEREST Your Government and Mine

By DANA P. BLAKE, Director

PLAN B

Governmental power under our federal system of government is divided and distributed by the Constitution between the central government and the government of the states. The principle underlying this distribution is, those affairs which are of common interest to the country as a whole should be placed under the control of the central government, while matters which lend themselves to the diversity of treatment should be placed under the control of the state governments.

The government of cities was considered to be a matter of local rather than of common concern so it was left under the control of the states. Which brings us to the topic under discussion — HOME RULE — or the power given to the cities to make and change their own charters and to govern themselves in accordance therewith. There are many arguments advanced against Home Rule by the cities, a discussion of which is beyond the scope of these articles. However, it might not be amiss to state the attitude of advocates of home rule as summed up by Mr. R. G. Story:

"Home rule for cities is based upon the fundamental proposition that the local community, in purely local matters, is best able to determine its own needs and to devise ways and means whereby those needs shall be met; on the other hand home rule recognizes that in matters which affect the general welfare of the state the legislature should be supreme. It is not the purpose of municipal home rule movements to impair the legitimate and effective use of the city as a state agent in matters which affect the commonwealth as a whole . . ."

Prior to 1915 the legislature chartered cities by special laws. The use of the special charter system, however, put an enormous burden on the legislature and to relieve this burden Massachusetts

Present Charter Can Be Amended by Legislature To Include City Manager

Correspondence Between Donald D. McKay and City Solicitor Bartlett Clarifies Certain Questions

The following letter from Donald D. McKay to the City Solicitor, and Mr. Bartlett's reply, point out certain facts about the City's present charter and steps that can be taken to amend it so that it would provide for a city manager without adopting Plan E.

July 8, 1947

Mr. Joseph W. Bartlett, City Solicitor
City Hall
Newton Centre, Massachusetts

Dear Mr. Bartlett:

My endorsement of Plan E for Newton is not wholehearted as I am opposed to Proportional Representation voting and payment of salaries to the councilors. This I stated in a letter to the Newton papers and the Waltham News Tribune expressing my hope that the legislature would undoubtedly be agreeable to eliminate those conditions.

Today I have discussed this with Secretary of State Frederick W. Cook and he is of the opinion that the legislature would probably be loath to alter the conditions.

My main and only interest in Plan E was as a stepping stone to securing a full time City Manager.

Mr. Cook suggested that this can be accomplished in a much simpler and more satisfactory way by petitioning for an amendment to our present city charter. Accordingly I am desisting further efforts to secure signatures for a referendum, and shall appreciate your advising me on the procedure of effecting a charter change which enables Newton to employ a City Manager.

Sincerely,
Donald D. McKay.

Volunteers Needed At Playgrounds

The Volunteer Service Bureau of the Newton Community Council in cooperation with the Recreation Department of the City of Newton urges you, if you have free time during the summer months, to volunteer as a recreation director! This work is very necessary and vitally interesting! All men and women over 18 interested in working with children are urged to donate a few hours of their time each week.

You will teach varied games, crafts, music and drama to children of all ages. Everyone who has physical education, kindergarten or craft training is especially urged to respond. It is your opportunity to do a pleasant and worthwhile community service! The program began July 1 and continues for six weeks. The hours are 9 a.m. to 12 noon, 2-5 p.m., or 6-9 p.m. Four workers are needed.

If you can give a few hours of your time each week during July and August as a recreation director, call the Volunteer Service Bureau of the Newton Community Council.

Killings On The Highways

Twenty Massachusetts boys and girls of school age will be killed in motor vehicle accidents during July and August this summer, unless every driver does something about it. Grim statistics compiled by the Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles show that 20 boys and girls were killed in July and August in 1945, and again 20 were killed in 1946. This year with more cars on the road, the hazards are even greater.

In order to curb this killing of innocent children during their vacation from school the American Automobile Association has launched a national campaign warning motorists, "IN TRAFFIC, TAKE IT EASY AND LIVE."

Opening gun of this campaign was fired when all the post offices and mail trucks throughout United States blazed forth with more than 25,000 red posters bearing a large policeman's hand held up in the "stop" position with the slogan "IN TRAFFIC, TAKE IT EASY AND LIVE."

Postmaster Patrick J. Connolly, personally attached the first poster to the trucks in the Boston postal district and requested all mail drivers to observe safety rules.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King has approved the "TAKE IT EASY AND LIVE" campaign which was organized locally by the Boston Automobile Club of the American Automobile Association.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note.)

NEWTON SCHOOLS

For some little time I have been hearing considerable talk about our Newton schools. Because I have always believed, and with reason, that Newton schools stood high in the eyes of the public, both here and in the State, I have never seriously worried about the increasingly heated discussion indulged in by a number of people whom I know rather well. With this as a brief prelude, may I now do a little thinking out loud and discover what reaction, if any, there may be.

Right now, it is my opinion that there are two entirely different points of view concerning our schools. One point of view favors the so-called modern theory of public education; the other favors the more old-fashioned methods of education, which might be summed up as the teaching of the three R's—"Reading, Riting, and Rithmetic." It may not be quite as simple as that; however, it covers the general situation. Modern methods, so they say, include a good many frills and furbelows; in other words, fancy stuff which may or may not be of vital importance. Later on, if the occasion warrants, I may get more specific and name some of these frills.

You see, there is a real fundamental cleavage here. Those who do not blindly worship "things as they are," for the apparent reason that Newton's scholastic reputation, even in the nation as a whole, is extremely high, are gravely concerned over what they consider to be the current failure to stress the original fundamentals of public school education.

Let me be specific. For many years, now, there has been an increasing number of boys and girls who leave Newton schools well before graduation for the purpose of entering some private school, in Newton or elsewhere. Why do they leave? I can hear some of my readers reply that there are a score or more good and sufficient reasons for this yearly exodus. Some are sent away on account of home conditions, involving health, lack of parental discipline, etc. Others are sent away because many private schools appear to have advantages and facilities which the average public school lacks. BUT, and it is this point which deserves emphasis at the moment, the point is now being raised that quite a few boys and girls are sent away by those parents who can afford it for the very good reason that these youngsters fail to receive the necessary training in the good old fundamentals which so many of the older generation recall with satisfaction and much pleasure.

Well, there you have it. This merely represents a bit of thinking out loud. Is there, or is there not, a real major problem here?

POLITICAL POT BOILS

We may be approaching mid-summer, but there are increasing signs that the usual political apathy will be less noticeable. Your columnist's phone rings frequently and several recent conversations were in the marathon class. It is a good sign. It is much healthier and much more productive to discuss our city government and the various candidates who will be on the ballot next fall than it is to curse the heat and gossip about one's neighbors.

There is another new candidacy for the voters to think about this week. However, it affects only those who live in Ward 5. Alderman Kenneth B. McCutcheon of Waban has finally decided to retire as Ward Alderman and announcement has just been made of the candidacy of Clyde S. Casady of 75 Devonshire road. Mr. Casady has for many years been Executive Vice-President of the Savings Bank Life Insurance Council. Graduate of a mid-western university, (Iowa) active in community affairs and backed by a large group of Waban residents, it would seem as though Waban was determined to continue its fine reputation at City Hall.

A few words about that Ward 6 Alderman contest, which is getting hotter every day. I have just received a letter from one of the finest public servants we have ever had in this city. Partly because this gentleman is now retired from active politics and does not live in Ward 6, I shall not mention his name. Most readers of the Newton Graphic would recognize his name immediately. I quote a part of his letter to me: "I have known Ten Broeck for 20 years and have seen quite a bit of him and I think very highly of his habits of industry and character, and desire to be of service. In my opinion fit him for the position of Alderman."

So much for Ward 6 and the fireworks which will soon be flying about there.

MAYOR CURLEY
To be entirely honest, I was inclined to be a bit sorry for the obviously ageing Mayor of Boston when, at long last, he went to jail in Connecticut. There isn't much point in jumping on a man when he is down and practically out. Had this happened 10 years ago it would be a different story, because it would seem that the Mayor got what he deserved; no more and no less. However, I am a bit nauseated by the antics of the G.O.P. high-command in coddling him at this time and in pushing one-side John Kelly, the recently acquitted President of the Boston City Council, who would normally serve as Mayor while Mr. Curley is detained elsewhere. The G.O.P. did all this to get the pro-Curley vote in 1948. What a rotten business.

sets (as well as other states) enacted the "Optional Charter Laws." This measure provides that any city of Massachusetts (EXCEPT BOSTON) may either retain its present charter or may adopt by popular vote any one of the five general types of charter incorporated in the act — Plans A, B, C, D and E. The law gives cities a fair measure of latitude in selecting their own frame of government without allowing them such degree of freedom as might lead to abuse, while at the same time the legislature is relieved to a certain extent from the deluge of charter proposals which each year came in from the cities.

Last week Plan A was discussed. This week we shall examine Plan B. Just as Plan A is the strong-mayor type of city government, Plan B is the strong council Plan, both of which are already stated in the preceding article, are modelled on the national constitution, and their corner stone is the principle of divided powers.

The Mayor is elected by and from the qualified voters of the city and is assumed to be the head of the city administration. He is also a member of the School Committee and Chairman thereof. The word "assumed" more accurately states the Mayor's position under Plan B for he is not allowed a free hand in the selection of his own subordinates. He has the power of appointment and removal BUT subject to confirmation by the Council. Only in the case of the City Solicitor may the mayor appoint and remove without confirmation of the City Council.

The Mayor has the power of veto over every order, ordinance, resolution and vote relative to the affairs of the city, adopted or passed by the city council.

Mayors of all cities are required to submit to the City Council the annual budget, but the reader's attention to this function is focused at this point so they may carry it in mind when considering the effect of the division of powers under Plans A and B. The Annual budget is a statement of the amounts recommended by the Mayor for the proposed expenditures of the city for the then current year. In case the mayor fails to submit to the council the annual budget within 60 days after the annual organization of the city government, the city council is empowered and required, on its own initiative to prepare the annual budget without the approval of the mayor.

The Council may approve, reduce or reject any amount recommended but except on recommendation of the mayor, may not increase any amount in or the total of the annual budget. Further, in case of the failure of the mayor to transmit to the council a written recommendation for an appropriation for any purpose not included in the annual budget, which is deemed necessary by the council, after due request to the mayor and non-approval upon its own initiative. Also, upon recommendation of the mayor, and with the written approval of the department involved, the council may transfer any amount appropriated in the then current year for the use of any department to another appropriation for the same department.

The LEGISLATIVE POWERS are vested in the City Council which under both plans is the policy determining body. Under Plan B, cities having more than seven wards the council is composed of 15 members, and in those having seven wards or less, of 11 members. In both instances one member is elected from each ward and from the qualified voters of that ward, and the remaining members are elected by and from the qualified voters of the city.

Salaries are the same as in Plan A, the Mayor's not to exceed $5,000.00 per annum, and the Councilors $500.00 per annum.

Therefore, we find the essential differences between these plans are the concentration of power, the manner of electing and number of city councilors, and partisan or non-partisan city elections.

A careful study of Plans A and B will show how these two ready made plans have met, provided for, or compromised the varying schools of thought on certain principles which have been the subject of much hot debate, viz:

- (1) that the administrative and legislative powers should be divided, but the hands of the executive in carrying out the policies determined by the council should not be fettered, and power should be centered in the mayor;
- (2) that the administrative and legislative powers should be divided, but the responsibility for the administration of the policies should be within the control of the body legislating the policies;
- (3) that elections at large do not give fair representation to all sections of the cities;
- (4) that elections by wards make for a group of councilors who work for the interests of their own ward rather than those of the city as a whole;
- (5) that inasmuch as municipal campaigns should be waged on the basis of municipal issues, such as in questions of expenditures, extravagance vs. economy; expenditure vs. retrenchment, and candidates should be elected not because of their party affiliations but rather their stand on such issues, or because of their prospective ability to administer wisely and honestly the affairs of office, campaigns should not center along national party lines.

Plan A is the strong mayor type, the power of control in the mayor with a city council of nine members elected at large, and is non-partisan (Fall River and Quincy have Plan A). Plan B is the weak mayor type, more power of control in the city council with a varying membership from 11 to 15, combining election by wards and at large, and maybe on a partisan basis. (Fitchburg, Marlboro, New Bedford, Newburyport, Salem, Waltham and Brockton are under Plan B.)

What are some of the activities or administrative functions of a municipality like Newton? What should be the qualifications of the persons to administer them? How to get the best results? These are the things the voter will keep in mind in arriving at a decision as to whether or not Newton's form of government should be changed, and if so, to what form? Listed below is a broad outline not confined to Newton.

Staff Departments, under which heading come the Registration of voters, nominations and elections, Law Department, City Clerk, Engineering, Centralized Purchasing.

Municipal Finance, under which come assessment of property for the production of revenue, Budget making and appropriations, Audits, accounting, statistics and reports.

City Planning, under which come zoning, land takings, streets, pavements, and sidewalks, waste disposals, sewerage.

Public Safety, which embraces Police and Fire protection, Courts, regulations and inspection of buildings, inspection of weights and measures.

Public Welfare, which takes in School Administration, Libraries, health administration, abatement of nuisances, hospitals, housing, public markets and parks and public recreation.

Public Utilities, which takes in water supply, public lighting, transportation.

All of which boil down simply to one thing: how shall the taxpayers money be spent for these services and how much service will he receive for his dollar?

Plain Talk
The American public while demanding and hoping for perfection in government systems, knows that there will always be imperfections. The enlightened and intelligent electorate knows of plenty of instances of divergence from theory and principles of any plan of government. The motive and expediency dictating such divergence will determine whether the government received is good, bad or mediocre. According to the principle of checks and balances the Mayor of a city is an independent executive, without responsibility to the council and free to do his work in his own way. But do Mayors find themselves in such position of agreeable detachment? No matter what the philosophy of the city charter may be, he finds that he must hold conferences with the councilors, compromise with them, appoint some officials of their liking, and meet them halfway on all sorts of issues. Otherwise, the council can ingeniously set to work to throw obstacles in his path. Likewise as to Department Heads. So with the city council when it is supposed to be completely free from executive pressure. The Mayor is not a member of the council under Plans A & B, nevertheless he is an important figure in its deliberations, and power and patronage is not always obliterated from the councilmen's mind. Some of them are his friends, others his foes; he may be balked and bullied, or he may be supported by the council, but in no event can he be ignored. Here enters 'political instinct', here enters party politics. The publicity given to municipal doings tells you that. It is healthy or unhealthy depending on the caliber of the men in office.

NOTE: ONCE A NEW PLAN HAS BEEN ADOPTED IT MUST REMAIN IN FORCE FOR AT LEAST FOUR YEARS.

Next week's article will be on the Commission Form of Government, the first complete departure from the orthodox plans, on which the older forms of special city charters, and the new Optional forms, A and B are predicated.

By joining the Taxpayers' Association you take an active part in their civic program. Fill out and mail the membership blank which you will find in the lower right hand corner on page 1.

Newton High School Graduate Sailing on Morning Star VI

John Francis Fairfield, Newton High School, class of 1940 and Oberlin College 1947, former resident of Newtonville, Mass., is sailing, as radio officer, on the little white missionary ship, "Morning Star VI" which is being sent out by the American Board of Foreign Missions from Boston, Sunday, July 27.

Mr. Fairfield was born in Talu, Shansi Province, China, 25 years ago where his parents were Congregational missionaries. From the first grade on he resided in Newtonville, Mass. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Wynn C. Fairfield of 6112 84th street, Elmhurst, Long Island, New York. His father was for 16 years secretary for the Far East of the American Board with headquarters in Boston and is now general executive of the Foreign Missions Conference of North America with headquarters in New York City.

John Fairfield left Oberlin College in 1942 to attend the U. S. Maritime Radio School. In 1943 he graduated from Gallup's Island Radio Training School and shipped out as a radio operator in the U. S. Merchant Marine. In 1945 he received his first class radiotelegraph operator's license and that fall obtained a junior assistant purser's license. He sailed as a purser until he was discharged from the Merchant Marine in 1946.

He then returned to finish his college course after the war at Oberlin College and secured his BA in business administration.

Mr. Fairfield has been active in the Pilgrim Fellowship, the youth organization of the Congregational Christian Churches, in the Y.M.C.A. and earlier in the Boy Scouts.

Like the other American members of the Morning Star crew, he will go with the boat as far as Honolulu, where it will pick up a Hawaiian or Micronesian crew, but will retain his American skipper, Price Lewis Jr., ex-Naval Lieutenant of Holland Patent, New York. The American crew will then return to the mainland.

This coming week end July 12th and 13th is the first Dad's week end at Camp Day. Already 40 Dads have signed up and will arrive at camp full of pep and ambition. Every one is set to match his skill against that of his son. A week end of real competition in baseball, tennis, volleyball, horse shoes, and many other sports.

The Dads are going really into the camping life. They will sleep in the cabins with their sons on Sat. night. Every one is looking forward to this big week end.

On Friday July 11th will be the first camp track meet of the season when once more skill in a different field will be exhibited. All boys will be on hand to cheer their team mates on as points for all competition are given toward the total team score.

The Midgets have enjoyed their first boat trip on Quacumasset and what a thrill. The big Midget scavenger hunt took place July 7th. About all you could see around camp were midgets going places.

The Seniors travelled by canoe down the outlet and across Quabog where they had a big Hot Dog roast. All 49 boys and their counsellors went on the trip.

Campers are all looking forward to the big times in the next three week period. Camp Day Christmas will be on the 25th of July. The BIG CIRCUS on Sat. Aug. 2nd. Over night canoe trips are in the making.

State's Vacation Income To Top $100 Million in '47

Thousands Attracted by Historic Landmarks and Recreation Facilities

Massachusetts' lucrative recreation business will get its biggest boost in history this year with the Development and Industrial Commission planning an intensive public educational program to let "Mr. and Mrs. America" know what the Bay State offers in year-round vacations.

Businessmen at the annual

Hotel and Restaurant Exposition in Boston estimated that Massachusetts' vacation income this year will top $100,000,000, while the New England vacation income is expected to increase from a half-billion dollars in 1946 to $600,000,000 in 1947.

Realizing that the American public, shedding the shackles of war-time travel restrictions, will be going places in greater numbers than ever before, the Commission is beaming its program toward lengthening the summer season and attracting tourists the year round. Such highlights as colorful autumn foliage, September and October salt water fishing and skiing in the Berkshires will be publicized. In the spring season, enthusiastic sportsmen will be told about well stocked inland streams and ponds where lurk the wily trout and salmon. The hunting seasons on wild duck, upland game and deer furnish still another inducement for ardent sportsmen.

To its lovely beaches along 2,200 miles of shoreline, Massachusetts adds 300-odd years of history, unparalleled anywhere in the United States. Historic landmarks dot the State from Plymouth Rock to the Mohawk Trail. Boston, the "Cradle of American Liberty," is a delight to tourists who visit its shrines by the thousands. The city's cultural institutions and noted landmarks, like Bunker Hill and old North Church, bring joy to history lovers. Summer music festivals, topped by the famed concerts at Tanglewood in the Berkshires, and some of the country's leading summer theatres, like the Cape Playhouse in Dennis, stimulate vacations in Massachusetts. Visitors from distant communities find exciting motor travel on scenic highways and byways, through the rolling countryside of mid-state counties and the undulating Berkshire Hills.

No longer restricted by war-time security regulations, yacht clubs along Massachusetts' coast are swinging into their most active racing season in seven years. A highlight of the current season will be the "Snipe Class" regatta July 14-18 when approximately 30 contestants, coming from various parts of the country, will compete in the first "Snipe Class International Racing Association Championship" under sponsorship of the Winchester Yacht Club with the cooperation and facilities of the Corinthian Yacht Club at Marblehead.

Entries have been received from California, Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma and other distant points. The contestants will come to Marblehead traveling over the road and hauling their craft in trailers. The "Snipes" are 15 1/2 feet long with Marconi rig. The winner of this meet will be sent to Switzerland to compete in the international regatta there, according to Donald R. Simonds of Winchester, the association's international commodore.

The extended July 4th weekend officially ushered in the summer vacation season, bringing thousands of fun-seekers to Massachusetts beaches, lakes and mountain resorts. Recreation has become big business and to keep its share of the trade flowing freely into Massachusetts, despite stiff competition from resorts stretching around the world, the Development and Industrial Commission intends to let Americans know that the Bay State is tops for rest and relaxation. This State offers a diversification of recreations which other vacation resorts find hard to duplicate.

As part of its educational program, the Development Commission has a 22-foot window display, featuring Massachusetts' vacation attractions, in the Airline Terminal on 42nd street, New York, where it will be seen by thousands of tourists during July.

Newton Girl Honored At Mount Holyoke

Miss Laura Elton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Norman W. Elton of Newton Highlands, has received the Florence Purinton Prize at Mount Holyoke College. The Prize was established by the Sigma Theta Chi alumnae and is awarded annually to that one of the five freshmen taking the highest rank who has shown the most satisfactory development during the year.

Miss Elton won the New England Regional Scholarship to Mount Holyoke for her freshman year. Her extracurricular activities included membership in the freshman choir and participation in the freshman production of three one-act plays by the Dramatic Club this spring.

port of Plan E for Newton and that you have consulted with Secretary of State, Frederic W. Cook, in reference to some means of accomplishing what you have chiefly in mind, i.e., a full-time City Manager, or, might I say, a full-time City Mayor.

The City is governed under the provisions of what is called a charter, which really is a special act of the Legislature authorizing and directing the powers and duties of the city government of the City of Newton. This charter has been amended several times, and, of course, is subject to amendment by the Legislature at any time. Ordinarily speaking, the charter would stand a good chance of amendment if the request for amendment came from the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, but it can, of course, be amended by petition to the Legislature and an accompanying bill filed by any citizen within the requirements of the rules of the Legislature for filing of such bill. Any change in the charter, of course, has to be carefully drawn and would have to meet the ideas of the Legislature as to its merits.

As a rule such charter changes fare better if the bill were filed by the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen. Such a petition and bill could provide for a City Manager nominated by the Mayor and confirmed by the Board of Aldermen, who would have the right to fix the salary attached to the office and the terms and breadth of employment.

The Legislature undoubtedly would require acceptance either by the Board of Aldermen or by vote of the people at a city or state election.

What you are trying to get at might well be handled by filling the office of Director of Public Works, which now exists under our Ordinances. That was Mayor Weeks' idea of greater control of general planning.

Yours truly,
s/ Joseph W. Bartlett,
City Solicitor.

and the Victory Clothing Drives for the city of Newton. She has been Public Relations chairman for the Newton Local Council of Girl Scouts and also chairman of the Service Division of the Newton Community Chest.

Mrs. Kennedy has recently been serving as district chairman for Greater Boston of the Smith College 75th Anniversary Fund. She has been an active member of both the Boston and Newton Smith Clubs. She is serving as corresponding secretary of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs and is a director of the Family Service Bureau of Newton. She has served as Waban chairman of the Red Cross Fund.

Working with Mrs. Kennedy as vice chairman will be Mrs. Paul M. Goddard and Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, director of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Mrs. Goddard served with Mrs. Kennedy in the early days of the war as co-chairman of War Services. She has given countless hours of service to the Newton Red Cross both as chairman of Staff Assistance and as vice chairman of Volunteer Special Services. She is on the board of the Stone Institute, and is active in many other civic affairs.

Mrs. Kennedy announces that the next visit to Newton of the Mobile Unit of the State Blood Donor Program will be on October 1, 2, and 3.

The Newton Archers

Burton Howarth led the field with his high handicap score for the afternoon's Single American Round; Reginald Garner won the Men's handicap; Vera Andrews won the Women's handicap; and Janet Budgett, a new member of the Newton Club, won the Juniors' handicap. This was Miss Andrews' third win in succession.

High scorers in the straight American Round were, for the Men, Adrian Matthews and Malcolm Pearce; and, for the Women, Dorothy Stevens. The Novelty Wand Shoot was won by Allston Budgett. The Field Captain for the afternoon was Townsend Cushman.

Rededicate Selves To Principles and Program of Kiwanis

Wednesday, July 2, members of the Newton Kiwanis Club, at the Club's noon meeting in the Y. M. C. A., joined the world's Kiwanians in a pledge of re-dedication.

"In this solemn moment of meditation, I re-dedicate myself to the purposes, principles and program of Kiwanis, to form enduring friendships, render altruistic service, better my community and promote by precept and example that patriotic citizenship, upon which rests the future of our country."

Mr. Stanley Reis, General Motors Acceptance Corporation representative, directed the showing of a timely moving picture, "Let's Go Fishing and Let's Go Fishing Again." The setting along the cool mountain streams, lakes and New England shores, inviting and restful, intrigued the business and professional men present. . . . Richard Brown introduced as his guest, his paternal parent-in-law, John Anderson attended the meeting as the guest of Police Chief Veducio. . . . Wellesley Kiwanian, Benjamin Lewis, entertained with a song. . . . A letter received from Brother Aubert, of the Working Boys' Home, thanking Kiwanis for baseball equipment, was read. . . . President Dr. Ernest Marcoux, Frank Battles and Dr. F. H. Paul are representing the Newton Club at the Kiwanis International convention, Chicago. . . . Charles Hildreth, program director, announced that next week, Mr. John M. Brier will tell the Club of his experiences during his recent visit to England.

MESSAGE . . . Just previous to Kiwanis International's Chicago Convention, now at its height, International President Jay N. Emerson, a resident of Pullman, Washington, nationally known Kiwanian and business executive, died suddenly. Jay Emerson, noted for his lifelong interest in American youth the underprivileged, and beloved of Kiwanis, penned the following message to Kiwanians everywhere shortly before he passed away:

All Kiwanis Week Message by Jay N. Emerson International President
"Kiwanis International, this week, is holding its 32nd annual convention in Chicago. I regret Exceedingly That Each Individual Kiwanian Cannot be in Attendance. We trust that those not present will receive inspiration from the reports of their club delegates.

"As you know, this has been a year that has seen the extension of Kiwanis International influence to Alaska, the Yukon and Hawaii. Many new clubs have been organized and Kiwanis membership now approaches 180,000. The prestige of our organization has reached a new all-time high and there is no reason it should not continue to grow even greater.

"During the past year, Kiwanis International has continued its traditional services to youth. It has also devoted much of its time, efforts and resources to programs designed to bring about permanent peace, to activities that promote individual enterprise as opposed to the communistic system and to projects that tend to mould sound public opinion.

"To meet the demands of peace, we are convinced that members of the United Nations must be morally and spiritually strong to the same extent that the victorious armies were physically strong in winning the war. Unless our treaties give primacy to the human and spiritual values.

"Our youth, of course, holds first place in all Kiwanis activities. Key Club International has enjoyed a significant expansion in our high schools, while Circle K Fraternity offers a great opportunity for developing leadership in college.

"As citizens of Christian Nations, let us show the world we not only excel in all productive and economic efforts, but that it is the spiritual strength in developing character that is the real foundation for our greatness."

Charles C. Barry, of Newton Centre, has been elected vice-president in charge of programs and television of the American Broadcasting Company, according to an announcement by Robert E. Kintner, executive vice president.

Mr. Barry assumed his duties July 28, following his return from the West coast where he is supervising A.B.C.'s new program, "The Paul Whiteman Club."

Following his graduation from Boston University, Barry joined the advertising staff of the Boston Globe and later served as advertising copywriter for Montgomery Ward in New York. Moving to Washington, D. C., he became advertising manager of Grosner's men's store. He entered radio as an announcer for the National Broadcasting Company in Washington.

He served as announcer on a Wendell Wilkie tour of the country and also as special Presidential announcer to the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. He is a brother of John Barry, vice-president of the National Shawmut Bank.

NEWTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

FIRE PREVENTION SERVICE

Much of our most useful building material is of a combustible nature. Many of the existing structures were built without a proper regard to those features which limit the spread of fire. The average home is a good example of this construction. Modern mass production calls for buildings of great size. Goods manufactured and used are generally readily burnable, and the process of production in this chemical and machinery age have introduced many hazards of explosion and fire. Coupled with these were the speed-up of war work, with many concerns turning to processes with which they were not familiar, and the use of equipment not originally designed for the purpose.

These conditions have already resulted in fires of large magnitude which have destroyed unreplaceable goods of great value to our national welfare.

The three principal causes of large fire losses under these conditions are: First, a failure to discover the fire in its early stages. Second, insufficient fire fighting equipment, through the use of which a fire can be extinguished before it has gained great headway or held in check until help arrives. Third, inadequate public fire service, through the operation of which fires of magnitude can be confined.

It must be recognized that none of these conditions can be corrected without a material cost. Fire safety is expensive, but it has been proven beyond any doubt that this expense is justified. Many have the mistaken idea the carelessness can eliminate fires, and justify their belief on the grounds of freedom from serious fires for a period of 50 to 75 years. Freedom from fires is no criterion of fire safety. Nor is the fact that all fires which have occurred have been small in extent an indication that a serious fire cannot occur. With large values in buildings and contents much depends upon the human element, especially in connection with fire fighting.

The best method of quickly discovering a fire is through the use of thermostats. These are appliances usually electrically supervised, which are located so that the heat rising from a fire will cause them to operate. They will transmit a fire call, or can be made to operate extinguishing equipment. Many hazardous processes can be made relatively safe by the use of thermostatic controls or thermostatic alarms. The maintenance of such systems and devices is of utmost importance and should be placed in the hands of those experienced in their supervision. There are small types of thermostatic fire alarms that are suitable for home use which are easy to install and cost very little to keep in operation.

Little excuse exists for failure to provide fire fighting equipment which can be used by the occupants of the building while the fire is small. Today, running water is available in all plants and structures, and water from a small hose can be effectively provided at most points of danger at small cost. A large number of other appliances, of suitable types for fires in special kinds of material, are also available.

All employees that work in places where special fire fighting equipment is provided should be given actual instruction in its operation so that they will be able to correctly use it if needed, thus, saving time and extinguishing the fire before it can gain any headway. Work safely, a fire man mean your position.

uses, rather than the material, we will not have lasting peace.

"Kiwanians will continue to furnish the leadership so essential in finding the solution to the many difficult problems that make for continuing peace. There can be no place for selfish interests with mercenary motives. Our prejudices must be laid aside as we consider the needs of a war-torn and hungry world.

"In activities that promote individual enterprise, Kiwanis accepts the challenge to support representative government. It is unalterably opposed to any totalitarian system that believes government should be the godfather of the people rather than the servant. We ask our representatives in Congress and Parliament to fearlessly defend our freedom and liberties and to govern their acts and decisions not from political expediency, but from their knowledge of the righteous and just needs of the hour.

"Public forums, round tables and discussion groups have been sponsored by Kiwanis Clubs during the past year to mould sound public opinion on national and international issues. A public that is informed is adequately armed to cope with any threatened invasion of its rights and privileges.

"Our youth, of course, holds first place in all Kiwanis activities. Key Club International has enjoyed a significant expansion in our high schools, while Circle K Fraternity offers a great opportunity for developing leadership in college.

"As citizens of Christian Nations, let us show the world we not only excel in all productive and economic efforts, but that it is the spiritual strength in developing character that is the real foundation for our greatness."

FIRST OF ALL A DRUG STORE

People see our store as many things. Some see it as a telephone booth . . . to some it is a refreshing soda fountain . . . it serves many as a meeting place. Still others find it a beauty bar . . . a photo shop . . . a gift store. But first and foremost—IT IS A DRUG STORE. A drug store that is dedicated to the health, comfort, and convenience of the community—a drug store that renders the highest type of professional service and offers a vast array of dependable home drugs and health goods to achieve this function.

Wellesley Summer Theatre Opens Tues.

The Wellesley Summer Theatre, the first professional theatre in the history of the country ever to be sponsored by a college, will have its gala opening on Tuesday night at Alumnae Hall on the Wellesley College campus. The opening production will star Boston-born Jane Cowl in St. John Ervine's delightful comedy "The First Mrs. Fraser," with Reginald Mason supporting. Frank McMullan has staged the play and Charles Rogers is designer. This will be Miss Cowl's only greater Boston appearance this season.

The gala opening will be preceded by a special program to be held in the park just outside the theatre. Ruby Newman's well-known society band will give a concert through the courtesy of the Statler Hotel, and guest speakers will include Lieutenant Governor Arthur W. Coolidge, Mr. Charles Luckman, president of Lever Brothers Company, Mr. Linus Travers, executive vice president, Yankee Network, and the first week's guest star, Miss Jane Cowl. Other invited guests are the commandant of the First Naval District, the Commanding General of the First Corps Area, the mayors, newspaper editors, and leading citizens of the many surrounding communities. The entire proceedings will be broadcast throughout New England over the Yankee Network. The concert will begin at 7:45 p.m. and will be followed by the opening ceremonies at 8:15. The curtain will rise at 9 p.m. on opening night only. Arrangements are now being made for a flight of planes to fly overhead at the beginning and close of the ceremonies and for several large searchlights to play on them from the theatre grounds.

Recent Marriages

Clare - Corcoran

Miss Margaret Mary Corcoran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Joseph Corcoran of Waban was married to David Ross Clare, son of Robert Linn Clare and the late Mrs. Clare of Perth Amboy, New Jersey on Saturday, July 5 in St. Philip Neri Church, Waban. Rev. Walter J. Doyle performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Wellesley Country Club.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned with a fitted bodice of chantilly lace and matching panels inserted in the full skirt and train. She carried yellow roses and blue delphinium.

Miss Patricia Temple Corcoran of Buffalo, New York was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Kathryn Lang Tullock of Huntington, Long Island, New York, Miss Caroline Taylor Small of Gilmanton, New Hampshire, Mrs. Charles Brent Holleran of Perth Amboy, New Jersey and Mrs. Robert Linn Clare, Jr., of Cranford, New Jersey. With their gowns of white marquisette they wore horsehair picture hats and carried arm bouquets of yellow roses, pink and white snapdragon and blue delphinium.

Robert Linn Clare, Jr., of Cranford, New Jersey was the best man and the ushers were Thomas Earl Dempsey of Waban, Charles Brent Holleran, Walter A. Reilly, Jr., all of Perth Amboy, New Jersey, Joseph Outhwaite Walsh of Philadelphia, Pa., and David Trager of Bethlehem, Pa.

Following a wedding trip to the Skytop Inn Club, Pocono Mountains, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Clare will make their home in Cranford, New Jersey.

The bride was graduated from Radcliffe College. Mr. Clare was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Cowell - Doten

Miss Colombe Carol Doten, daughter of Mrs. Wallace Vincent Doten of 14 Margaret road, Newton Highlands and Charles William Cowell of 53 Thurston road, were married at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Newton Highlands on Saturday, June 28. Rev. Stanley W. Ellis of Waban, officiated at the double ring service.

The bride wore a white street length gown with a net hooded veil, caught with gardenias and carried a bouquet of white gardenias. Miss Juanita Jack of Newton Highlands was the maid of honor, and wore an aqua gown with matching hat and carried yellow marquisette.

The groom was attended by Mr. William H. Slayton Jr., of 53 Thurston road.

Following a two week's wedding trip to New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Cowell will reside in Brookline.

Clarke - Gledhill

Miss Gloria Gledhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gledhill of Lewiston, Maine, and Mr. Prescott Chadwick Clarke, son of Mrs. Prescott C. Clarke of Brookline, Mass., were married July 3, at the home of the groom's aunt, Miss Edith L. Clarke, in Waban, Mass.

The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock, Rev. Manley F. Allbright officiating. The bride wore a white linen travelling suit with corsage of red roses. She was attended by Miss Joan F. Clarke, sister of the groom who wore aqua faille, with Taisman roses. Mr. Charles Raleigh, of Brookline, was best man.

Miss Gledhill studied at Cambridge Junior College and is a graduate of the Kathleen Dell Secretarial School. Mr. Clarke, a veteran of the Second Armored Division in World War II, is a graduate of the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, and is now a sophomore at Boston University School of Business Administration.

After a trip through Northern New England, the young couple will reside in Cambridge, Mass.

Riley - Cassidy

At a nuptial mass in St. Jerome's Church, Arlington on Saturday, June 28, Miss Eleanor Zital Cassidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Cassidy, of Arlington, was married to Dr. Leo Harold Riley, son of Mrs. Leo H. Riley of 173 Jackson road, Newton and the late Mr. Riley. Rev. Joseph Fitzgibbons, the pastor, performed the ceremony which was followed by a wedding breakfast and reception at the Philomatheia Club.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, a fingertip veil attached to a satin halo and carried a white prayer book with a white orchid. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ann Marie Cassidy, as maid of honor, who wore a gown of gray faille and carried red roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Irene Geremonte of Stoneham, Miss Patricia Yale of Lynnfield and Miss June Stead of Milton, wore gowns of aqua faille and carried pink roses, with matching flowers in their hair.

Capt. Hector Gai, USMC, of Auburndale was the best man and the ushers were Dr. Edward F. Fierly of Auburndale, Dr. John Goodman and Fred Bowen of Natick, John Swift, Jr., of Milford, James Tobin of Newton and Richard F. Cassidy, brother of the bride, of Melrose.

The bride was graduated from the Lawrence Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Medford. Dr. Riley was graduated from Boston College and the Boston University School of Medicine. During the war he served with the Army Medical Corps.

Bennett - Romsey

Miss Charlotte Louise Weatherbee Romsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Romsey of 32 Nomanston street, Newton, was married to Robert William Bennett of Cambridge at 3 o'clock Sunday, June 29th, in Grace Episcopal Church, Newton. Rev. Robert W. Woodruff, Jr., performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white net gown over a hoop skirt, long fitted sleeves, trimmed with satin. Her finger tip veil was attached to a Juliet cap of satin and she carried a colonial bouquet of gardenias and white sweet peas.

In aqua marquisette, Mrs. Marion D. Romsey attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor. Similarly gowned in French orchids, the bridesmaids included her sister, Mrs. June Equi, the misses Dorothea Kirby, June Hanson and Mrs. Connie Blois. All carried old fashioned nosegays of spring flowers with matching headresses.

Stephen A. White, uncle of the groom was best man and the ushers were, Harry W. Romsey, brother of the bride, Fred and Roy White and James H. Bennett, cousins of the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the parish house after which the couple left for their wedding trip.

The bride, a graduate of Newton High School and Burdett College is now associated with the National Shawmut Bank of Boston.

Mr. Bennett served with the U. S. Army overseas during the war and is now associated with the Glen Martin Aircraft Corp., of Baltimore, Maryland.

Because the Chinese invaded Persia in ancient times, many Persian rugs even to this day show a strong influence of Chinese art in their designs.

Oriental names, similar to the geographical names used to identify genuine handwoven Oriental rugs frequently are used as trade names for machine-made imitations. One manufacturer went so far as to adopt the actual name of a rug-producing district in Persia.

New Floral Creation for the Summer Bride

Police

tioner's artistic creations was presented by Murphy's associates on the Department, the other by Officers Timothy Riley, Michael Connolly, George Carroll and Lawrence O'Donnell, his mates in Newton Corner during "the last," and according to Dennis, "the happiest years of my life."

Newton's Clerk of Court James P. Gallagher, as toastmaster, paid tribute to both officers for their devotion to duty and as "Ambassadors of Good Will."

Alderman Theodore Lockwood told of the respect in which Officers Murphy and Goddard were held in his section of the city and the part such men played in developing the character of a city's teen agers. He read a letter received from Rev. Ray A. Eusden, minister of the Elliot Congregational Church, in which Rev. Eusden expressed the regret of himself and his congregation for the loss of officer Murphy's services and his friendly smile.

Mr. Lockwood presented both officers gifts received from the Committee in charge and friends throughout the city.

Alderman Edward Fahey, facetiously describing Dennis Murphy as a police officer, told of the time a woman inquired the whereabouts of the new Court House.

"I'm sorry madam," Fahey asserted Murphy answered. "I don't know where it is myself."

Frowning, the woman tried

Newton Educator Attends Workshop At WBZ Studios

Miss Avis G. Walsh of 345 Newtonville avenue (Newtonville), an English consultant in the Newton Junior High School, is currently attending the three-week long Workshop on Radio in Education summer session being held at the Boston studios of WBZ.

A total of 125 teachers, supervisors, principals and superintendents from educational institutions throughout New England are enrolled in the Workshop, which is under the direction of Dr. Everett L. Austin, supervisor of secondary education for the state of Rhode Island.

The Workshop is a cooperative venture of radio's four major networks, the New England Committee on Radio in Education and Boston University.

Classes include five categories: script writing, production, use of radio as an educational tool, transcriptions and equipment, and administration.

again, according to the Alderman. "It's near the site of the old Court House," she snapped.

Murphy, according to the story teller, answered over his shoulder as he turned away: "I'm still sorry, madam, I never knew where the old one was either."

Officers James McManus at the piano, accompanied Jimmie Barisano, known over the air waves as Jimmie White, who sang the favorite songs of Murphy and Gooddard. Harold Snyder, emulating Helen Morgan, assisted Barisano. Officer James McHugh rendered "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling". Officer Kilmain and Eddie Hanlon entertained with their own interpretation of the "Dance of the Faun".

Called upon to speak, Officer Murphy thanked his friends, declaring that with 65 birthdays behind him, his 65th, is the happiest one I've ever had. Officer Gooddard, all but inaudible, thanked one and all and declaring officer Murphy had expressed his own feelings, sat down abruptly.

Remley Gets Institute Post at Lasell

Mr. James H. Remley, Supervisor of Music in the Newton public schools, is a member of the faculty of the American Institute of Normal Methods to be held at Lasell Junior College in Auburndale during July. Mr. Remley will present a course in Junior High School methods, and act as associate director of the junior division of the school, composed of boys and girls of high school age.

Leslie Howard, again as a musical called Through the Years, and finally into another musical version with Jeanette MacDonald.

"By this time I graduated to the classics and decided to try my wings as Juliet. I'm thankful to say it became the greatest success in the history of Shakespeare's productions, with a run of 998 performances."

"After this, came Noel Coward's Easy Virtue, which I did for a season in America and then took it to London. I played before the King and Queen, and incidentally it was said to be the first play of Mr. Coward's that the Royal Family had ever been willing to attend, as he had been crowned upon by the Lord High Chancellor." After her brilliant performance, Jane Cowl was presented to Their Majesties at a Royal Garden party at Buckingham Palace.

Upon her return to this country, Miss Cowl immediately went into Robert Sherwood's The Road to Rome, which she played for two and a half years. Twelfth Night followed, then Rain from Heaven, First Lady, and Old Acquaintance.

"One of the most thrilling and worthwhile accomplishments of my whole life was helping the servicemen during the war," says Jane Cowl of her monumental work as chairman of the great Stage Door Canteen. For four and one half years, Miss Cowl devoted all her time, energy and sympathetic understanding to the immense job of directing 3500 workers from the kitchens right up to the dancing and senior hostesses. Her untiring efforts made the Canteen the most popular and best-loved of all the recreational facilities offered our fighting men.

Of her part in the First Mrs. Fraser at the Wellesley Summer Theatre, Miss Cowl says, "It is undoubtedly one of the most interesting parts I have ever played—a truly delightful experience."

Neighborhood Has "Fourth" Celebration

A neighborhood celebration of the Fourth of July was held by the residents of Newell Road, Auburndale and vicinity starting with the raising of the flag and salute by Girl and Boy Scouts on the lawn of the home of Warren Boulter at 51 Newell Road.

The children of the neighborhood dressed in costume, some riding decorated bicycles and others pushing decorated doll carriages, took part in a parade which was led by Rita Mallett as drum major. Also taking part in the parade was Jack Shean, former Army captain. Hartley Kelley, attired in a dress suit, took the part of "Mayor."

Following the parade there were games for both young and older guests under the direction of Daniel Fogarty, and a buffet lunch was served. Prizes were awarded with, Kenneth Peters winning first prize for the best decorated bicycle; for the best boys' costume, Bobby Craig won first prize, Bobby Foley, second and Hartley Kelley, Jr., third and for the best girls' costume first prize went to Suzanne Willis, with Rita Mallett, second and Carol Kelley, third. Awards for the best float went to Gene Sullivan, first and Jack Dolan, second. Teresa Shean won first prize for the best decorated doll carriage with Claire D'Agostino, second.

In the afternoon, the men participated in a softball game and in the evening there was a barn dance for adults in the garage of Mr. Hartley E. Kelley.

Daniel Fogarty and Hartley Kelley were in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Art Exhibit at Savings Bank

The Newton Savings Bank has been receiving widespread commendation on the complete renovation of its main banking office at 286 Washington street, Newton Corner.

The old system of indirect lighting has been replaced by fluorescent lights and the glass and bronze grill work has been removed, and a modern counter substituted. While not actually increasing the size of the banking rooms, it gives the appearance of a substantial enlargement, and at the same time creates a much more friendly and direct contact between the bank personnel and the public.

The bank has recently inaugurated an interesting program of art exhibits, whereby outstanding artists will be invited to display their paintings for public inspection.

The first such exhibit now on display consists of three oils painted by Robert Strong Woodward, one of New England's leading landscape artists. His scenes are mostly laid in the Berkshire Hills of western New England and have been purchased by, and are on exhibition in, museums from the east all the way across the country to the Galleries of Fine Arts in Pasadena and San Francisco, and including many college art museums.

One 36 x 42 painting now being displayed by the Newton Savings Bank is entitled "September Peace," and two others, each 35 x 30, are entitled "In October Hills" and "Full Bloom." The compositions are colorful and well balanced, and the sky and distant mountain effects are particularly notable. All paintings are available for purchase directly from the exhibiting artists.

Plans First Aid Course for Employees Of Local Industries

Plans for a first aid course to be offered selected employees of industries in the Newton Highlands, and Upper Falls areas were discussed at last night's meeting of the Industrial Hygiene Committee of the Newton Community Council. Miss Hilga S. Nelson of the Newton District Nursing Association and chairman of the committee presided at the meeting which took place at the Community Council office at 93 Union Street, Newton Centre.

Miss Ruth Brooks, Health Educator of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, and Miss Mary McAleer, executive secretary of the Newton Community Council, disclosed that they had met with 100% cooperation from the eight industries thus far contacted in the Highlands-Upper Falls area, all of whom have agreed to send representatives to the Standard First Aid Course of eighteen hours to be administered by the Red Cross. Mr. Ralph Emery, director of First Aid of the Red Cross, is in charge of making final arrangements for the class which will start September 11 and continue for nine weeks.

Acceptance by management of this emergency type service is a tangible step toward the eventual goal of the Industrial Hygiene Committee which is adequate medical coverage of all employees in Newton industries, Miss Nelson declared.

Bierer Tells Kiwanis Club of His Recent "Visit to England"

John M. Bierer, president and general manager of the Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Company, a director of the Boy Scouts and Cubs of America, addressed the meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club, at the Y.M.C.A., Wednesday, recounting his experiences during a recent visit to England.

Although no stranger to the "Tight Little Isle," having crossed the Atlantic five times to its shores, 1927, '32, '38, '39, and 1946, Mr. Bierer declared he is no authority on England or its people.

The rubber industry, his own particular interest, is flourishing, he said, although automobile tires made there are inferior to those made in the U. S. Class consciousness is still in existence he added. Citing that in visiting various manufacturing plants, he invariably thanked workmen for any service rendered, until advised by the "powers that be" not to thank the men who were "simply doing what they were paid to do."

England's suburbs are beautiful, according to Mr. Bierer and the results of Germany's bombs are being eliminated rapidly. Food, particularly sugar and eggs, is scarce. Clothes, of any variety, are practically impossible to obtain.

In Sunningdale, a beautiful suburb, he laughed, "Ex-King Edward's and Wally's" jewels were stolen the week I was there."

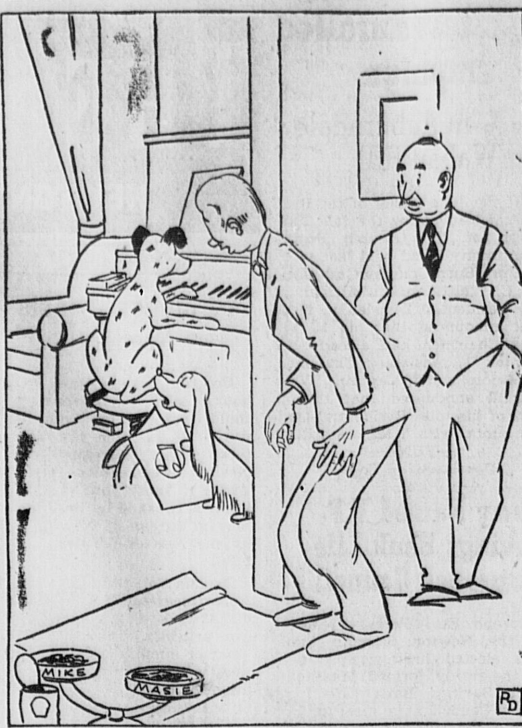

Each person is allowed 22 cents worth of meat a week. Bread is considered a course in a three course meal served in better cafes and rice is second in importance only to sugar. The English cheat when possible on rationing, he said, and there is not the respect for law that once existed. Thousands of German prisoners of war are still there, working to repair the damage done by them and their fellows.

In conclusion, Mr. Bierer said he left all his shirts, collars, socks, suits, but what he was wearing, when he started for home.

Plans Purchase Of Quarters

At a meeting of Lt. Stanton M. Amesbury Post, VFW on Monday evening, it was voted to appropriate a sum of money for the acquisition of quarters for the Post at the Riverside Recreation building.

Past Commander Arthur C. Hill announced that his firm would donate a large size framed bulletin board for the new quarters, while both Adjutant William Calinan and Quartermaster Gerard MacDonald stated that they would provide articles for attendance prizes as part of a Post-wide effort to underwrite the cost of the maintenance of the new quarters.

Junior Vice-Commander William J. Sifford reported on his actions as chief delegate to the recent VFW state convention in Boston. His views of the conduct of the voting for the state departmental posts were also given and supported by other delegates who attended.

Anthony J. McLaughlin, past senior vice-commander, was appointed to investigate insurance rates for Post property which will be kept in the Riverside buildings.

Plans for the year were discussed and a partial program of activities was announced by Mr. MacDonald. Following the meeting refreshments were served under the direction of Carl L. Recco. The next meeting of the Post will be held at Riverside on August 4 when final plans for a weenie roast to be held on the Riverside grounds will be concluded.

ONE STEP

can be FATAL!

12,200 pedestrians were killed by automobiles last year—1,340 more than the year before. Two out of every three violated traffic laws or committed unsafe acts which contributed to their deaths.

And believe it or not—many of these fatal accidents actually happened less than six feet from the curb—only a step or two from safety!

Between intersection accidents accounted for more than one-third of all pedestrian fatalities last year. These victims carelessly rushed out from behind parked cars, or simply jaywalked themselves into traffic—and death. Others even ignored the safety of lights and traffic officers at intersections to save a few seconds—and lost their lives.

Never take safety for granted. Cross at intersections within the crosswalks. Wait for the light or the policeman's whistle. Be alert for the inconsiderate driver making a right turn, or the reckless one beating a light. On open highways, allow for the speed of approaching cars. Walk to the left, facing traffic.

Whenever you cross, look both ways. One step can be fatal!

Newton Taxpayers Association, Inc. Views All Plans for City Government

[This is the fourth in a series of eight factual data articles on city government brought to you by the Association in the interest of better government.—Editor]

COMMON INTEREST Your Government and Mine

By DANA P. BLAKE, Director

PLAN C

Plan C, the Commission form of Government represents the complete departure from orthodox forms of city government. The Commission idea had been successfully used in Sacramento, California, from 1885 to 1893, and New Orleans, Louisiana, from 1870 to 1892, but the tidal wave which swept in from the Gulf in September 1900, destroying about a third of the city of Galveston, Texas, demoralizing its economic structure, can be accredited with popularizing this plan of government.

Prior to the flood Galveston enjoyed the dubious honor of being one of the worst governed cities in the whole country. The 'waste and spoils' system was the order of the day, the city wallowing in debt, and corruption had surpassed the point of public tolerance which exists while some value is received in exchange for bribes. The flood proved to be the crushing blow. The old government (a major and 12 aldermen, all elected at large) failed in the crisis. They debated, discussed and passed resolutions, but did nothing of a constructive nature to meet the desperate situation. Leading citizens felt that only by stringent methods could the city possibly be restored. Business men stepped in and drafted a new charter embodying the ideas of the commission plan which swept away the old system of checks and balances, and substituted a commission of five men to exercise all municipal powers and functions based on integrated executive control.

Maybe the tidal wave was a blessing in disguise for these earnest men put the city on its feet within a few years. The citizens were so impressed with its results that they were convinced it was a good form to maintain permanently. Soon the movement spread throughout the United States and in about 20 years over 400 municipalities adopted the Plan with variations. However, it never became popular in this section and because of executive defects beginning with 1920 its use started to decrease rapidly with the shift towards Plan C or Plan D.

Plan C is not in operation in any of the 39 cities in Massachusetts although Haverhill and Lawrence have had some of its provisions tacked on to their special charters by the Legislature. Lynn abandoned it in 1918.

The Massachusetts Commission Plan provides for a City Council in which is vested the government of the city and the general management and control of all of its affairs, EXCEPT again as to schools. The members are elected at large for a term of two years. The Mayor becomes the Commissioner of Administration, and the other four, Commissioners of Health, Finance, Public Works and Public Property.

As a body, the departmental commissioners exercise all the legislative powers of the city and all the other powers, rights and duties had, possessed or previously exercised by the mayor, board of aldermen, common council, and all other boards, commissions and committees of the city and their members (excepting School), deciding general policies, the work to be undertaken in each department, passing ordinances and making necessary financial arrangements. As individuals they run the Department which by majority vote among themselves has been assigned to the particular matters.

Each Commissioner has the power to appoint (and also to remove) subject to confirmation by the council qualified persons to serve as the HEAD of each of the departments under his executive control. The HEAD of each department has the power to appoint and remove the employees in his department, excepting those under civil service.

The Mayor has no special powers as such. He is the titular head of the city but his legislative and executive powers are shared with the other members.

The salary of the Mayor cannot exceed $5000 and that of the Commissioners $4000.

Fundamental theories underlying the Commission Plan are: (a) that inasmuch as the work of city authorities is business, not government, the principle of checks and balances has no place in the running of a city;

(b) centralization of power and responsibility in a small body cuts red tape, stops back passing, and the few in charge can be watched by the citizens;

(c) that the council should be a small board of amateurs who will secure expert officials and take advice from them.

Though theoretically sound, in actual practice the Plan has shown executive and administrative weaknesses which particularly make it undesirable in municipalities with a population over 30,000 (it has worked best where population was under 5,000).

Among these weaknesses is: (1) the absence of a single responsible head to integrate the work of the Commissioners, so that when friction develops among the commissioners, or the commissioner and the mayor, cooperation ceases and the city suffers. (2) Each commissioner is permitted to appoint his subordinates (subject to the approval of the Council)—which sometimes means 'in return for his approval of the appointees of the other commissioners.'

Flying Clubs to Hold Model Plane Meet in Newtonville August 2nd

Planning Board OK's Subdivision of Weeks Estate in W. Newton

A plan for the development of the Weeks Estate at 97 Valentine street, West Newton, calling for the establishment of a new street and the subdivision of the land into six lots, averaging over 30,000 square feet, has been approved by the Newton Planning Board, acting as a Board of Survey. The Weeks mansion, which had been vacant since the family of Sinclair Weeks moved to Boston several years ago, was demolished recently.

The street which is to run through the development has been named Wingate road, for John Wingate Weeks, former mayor, United States Senator and Secretary of War, who built the mansion more than 50 years ago.

The street will be 45 feet wide and 286 feet long, extending through the property from Valentine street and coming to a "dead end" in a circle having a radius of 40 feet, to enable motorists to turn around.

The Weeks estate is bounded on the east by Valentine street, on the south by Holland road and on the north and west by private land. The petition for the development was filed by Channing Cox, real estate firm. The plan and profile of the street were prepared by Howard L. Vought, surveyor.

300 Entries in Speed, Stunt and Other Contests Under A.M.A. Rules

The Newton Model Flying Clubs have been granted permission by the Recreation Department and the School Committee to hold a model plane meet on the High School grounds on Saturday, August 2, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The event has the approval of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion. The Academy of Model Aeronautics procedures will be followed.

There will be a speed contest for 6 classes of models, according to piston displacement:

- Class 1—.010 Cubic inch displacement.
- Class 2—.020 Cubic inch displacement.
- Class 3—.030 Cubic inch displacement.
- Class 4—.040 Cubic inch displacement.
- Class 5—.050 Cubic inch displacement.
- Class 6—.065 Cubic inch displacement.

The planes will be "U"-controlled, that is controlled from the ground. 6 prizes will be awarded in each class. A stunt contest will be open to models of any piston displacement, and 6 prizes will be awarded in this event. A "Beauty" contest will be featured, and prizes for the model planes having the best lines, finish and general appearance will be awarded.

A general prize consisting of a complete model plane, ready to fly will be the feature attraction. (Continued on Page 4)

Hospital Coffee Shop Needs Volunteers

The Coffee Shop of the Newton Wellesley Hospital reopens July 21st. For its successful operation volunteers are needed immediately! This is your opportunity to give a few hours of your time each week doing interesting and vitally necessary work in pleasant and congenial surroundings. Volunteers are absolutely necessary to the efficient continuance of the coffee shop through the summer months. You can work any of three shifts as a cashier, waitress or fountain operator, weekdays from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.; and Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The shifts are from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. This is YOUR opportunity to be a good neighbor.

The Volunteer Service Bureau of the Newton Community Council urges YOU to respond to this vital need. Remember all proceeds from the Coffee Shop are given to the Newton Hospital. All women who have any free time are eligible and no training is required. So if you can give a few hours each week, call THE NEWTON COMMUNITY COUNCIL, LAsell 5121 today!

Newton Doctor Wins Sculpture Award

Dr. F. Donald Napolitani, veteran Newton physician, was awarded second prize of a $250 United States Savings Bond, for his entry in the sculpture contest for physicians entitled "Courage and Devotion Beyond the Call of Duty" and held at the Centennial American Medical Association Convention at Atlantic City, N. J., last week.

The contest was sponsored by Mead Johnson and Co. of Evansville, Ind., with entries from all parts of the country being judged. Dr. Napolitani's entry represented a bronze sculpture, about three feet high, in the form of a GI Cross, with a helmet across the top and a stethoscope hanging from the cross bar. At the base a musette medical bag was placed. The art piece attested to the supreme sacrifice of the medic and was the Newton doctor's first attempt at sculpturing.

Dr. Napolitani served four years in the Army, being attached to the 85th Division (Custer) which saw action in Italy, and later to the medical staff of Hoff Hospital, in the Pacific area. Dr. and Mrs. Anne Napolitani, with their two sons, Richard and Leo, live at 402 Watertown street, Newton.

350 Students at Newton High Summer Schools

8-Week Course for Vets Studying for High School Diploma
14 Cities and Towns, 58 Schools and Colleges Represented

Charles H. Mergendahl, director of the Newton High School Summer Schools, announces this week an attendance of 267 students at the Newton High School Civilian Summer School and 87 enrolled in the Veterans Summer School. The Civilian Summer School, which is attended by 144 boys and 123 girls from 14 different towns and cities, offers a 6-week program in 16 different subjects including: English 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12; Latin I, II; French I, II; Spanish I; Arithmetic 8, Algebra I; Geometry; Math. II; Math. III U. S. History; French 15, and typing. Algebra I has the highest enrollment with 56 students. French I is runner-up with 30. Students are enrolled from 58 different high schools and colleges including two students who last attended the University of Shanghai, China, and one student from the University High School, Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico. Several college students are enrolled in typewriting. Altogether there are 192 Newton pupils in the Civilian Summer School. Most of the 10 teachers on the instructional staff are from the Newton High School faculty.

The Veterans Summer School, which is an 8-week program, offers 8 different subjects to veterans who are working toward a high school diploma. At least 14 of the 87 veterans enrolled are expected to have fulfilled requirements for a high school diploma at the conclusion of the present session of the summer school. 18 of the veterans enrolled reside outside of the city and pay a nominal tuition for which the veteran may be reimbursed from G.I. Bill of Rights benefits.

In the Beginners' class, the following skills will be demonstrated: breath holding, rhythmic breathing, prone float and glide, back float and glide, front glide and kick, back glide and kick, combined stroke on front, and diving. The Intermediates will show flutter kick, breast stroke kick, scissor kick with flutter boards, crawl, breast, side (Continued on Page 4)

On Sunday afternoon, July 20, from 2 to 4 o'clock, a Red Cross Water Safety Demonstration will be held at Crystal Lake. Under the direction of Miss Claire McCarthy who is in charge of Newton's swimming program, and with the assistance of instructors Phyllis Moran and Virginia Murphy, a complete exhibition of the different stages of water safety will be given.

In the Beginners' class, the following skills will be demonstrated: breath holding, rhythmic breathing, prone float and glide, back float and glide, front glide and kick, back glide and kick, combined stroke on front, and diving. Red Cross Provides Swim Lessons for Nonantum Children

A new program of swimming instructions for children from Nonantum is being provided under the Red Cross Water Safety Program. Through the kindness of the Newton Kiwanis Club transportation for the children is being provided to the lake.

The project is under the co-operation of the Newton Chapter American Red Cross and the Newton Recreation Department.

Fire Depts. of 4 Cities In General Alarm Fire at Grossman's

A general alarm fire at L. Grossman Sons, Inc., lumber yard on the Wellesley Newton line early Wednesday morning destroyed stocks of doors, windows, frames, etc., causing an estimated damage of $60,000 to $75,000.

Chief John L. Keating commanded three companies at about the center of the conflagration where they manned two lines of hose. The Newton detail, consisting of Engine 2 of West Newton, Engine 5 of Auburndale, and Engine 6 of Newton Lower Falls, spent several hours at the scene. A fourth company, Engine 4 of Newtonville, was stationed on the Newton side of the Charles River to prevent sparks, which were flying from the fire across the river from igniting buildings in Newton.

The Newton apparatus responded to line box under the mutual aid system at 1:34 a.m. Engine 2 returned to quarters at 4:20 a.m.; Engine 5 at 6:07 and Engine 6 at 6:09.

Other departments which aided Wellesley were Natick, Needham and Weston and Engine 2 of Waltham, which responded to Box 746 at 1:57 a.m.

Files Papers for Alderman-at-large

John C. Beale, 55 Franklin street, Newton, filed his nomination papers with City Clerk Frank M. Grant last Tuesday. Mr. Beale is a candidate for Alderman-at-Large from Ward 7. All nomination papers must be certified by the Registrar of Voters on or before September 9th.

City Clerk Grant points out that petitions for placing the "Plan E" question on the ballot, under another law, must be filed at City Hall at least 90 days before election day, November 4.

"Mount Vernon" of Massachusetts

If Newtonians would only follow around visitors here from other states they would make the same delightful discoveries about their historical treasures that Londoners and Parisians make when visitors come and insist on seeing the Cheshire Cheese or Lafayette's tomb in the Pere LaChaise cemetery. One of the most rewarding of these discoveries, famous all over America but too little known by Greater Bostonians, is Gore Place, overlooking the Charles River between Waltham and Watertown, within a few minutes ride from Newton.

Built as a country seat in 1804 by Christopher Gore, a few years before he became Governor of Massachusetts, the mansion is the most distinguished 19th century residence in New England, comparable in every way to the renowned red brick country houses along the James River in Virginia. Gore was a stalwart soldier of the Revolution and a brilliant servant of the infant United States. He was appointed by George Washington as the first U. S. District Attorney for Massachusetts and later became Commissioner to England and Charge d'Affaires. Other posts of leadership and responsibility that he occupied with wisdom and force were those of State Senator, State Representative, Fellow and Overseer of Harvard College, culminating with the governorship of Massachusetts in 1809. His house, with its broad acres stretching down to the river, was an expression of the man and his times which demanded that the man of affairs be also a man of taste. The grace and style as well as the simplicity and balance of the mansion at Gore Place are a living testimonial to the greatness of our country's past and well worthy of pilgrimage by old and young.

A resolution passed by the Boston Society of Architects has put this influential group on record as opposing encroachment on the grounds of famous Gore Place for veterans' housing in Waltham and Watertown. According to Mr. Harold Willis, president of the Society, "Gore Place with its mansion and grounds is an historical monument that should be preserved in its entirety." He pointed out that many members of the Boston Society of Architects are veterans and are thoroughly aware of the need for more housing but they feel that it would be shortsighted to make building lots out of the grounds of this nationally famous home of one of the first Governors of Massachusetts while other equally suitable land is understood to be available. "Many of America's architectural and historical treasures have been wantonly destroyed and their loss bitterly regretted after it was too late. Gore Place only narrowly escaped a similar fate in 1935 when public spirited citizens rescued it from the wreckers. Now restored and furnished it is a living testimonial to the greatness and beauty of our country's past. It should no more be subject to encroachment than the Old State House or Mount Vernon."

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note.)

Messrs. Herter and Martin

We are beginning to have some of the usual hot-weather political propaganda in Newton this week. One is the flurry on Capitol Hill over the prospect that Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin, Jr., our long-time Congressman from the Fourteenth District in Massachusetts might become President of the United States if Mr. Truman should fail to live through his present term of office. This is due to the passage of a bill which changes the current line of succession, which moves up the Secretary of State (General Marshall) to the Presidency if and when both the President and Vice-President are removed from the picture.

Let me stress this point, which may not be thoroughly understood by many of our good citizens who are not in constant touch with political developments. At the moment there is NO Vice-President of these United States. Mr. Truman held that office until the death of Mr. Roosevelt, whose position he automatically took over, leaving the post of second-in-command vacant. Inasmuch as the Vice-President's chief function has always been to preside over the U. S. Senate, the only important step which had to be taken a little over two years ago was to elect a President-Pro-Tem of the Senate. The senior Senator from Michigan, Arthur H. Vandenberg, was promptly elected and has been doing an excellent job running the Senate, as well as serving as the G. O. P. leader in matters of foreign policy.

Now, Congressman Martin has been quoted in the papers as having substantially the same attitude as the President, who made no bones about telling his friends that he frankly did not relish the idea of becoming President two years ago. In this connection, it should be pointed out, in all fairness to Mr. Truman, that he has consistently urged a change in the line of succession even when the time came when it would be the G. O. P. which would benefit and not the Democrats.

The other important item coming out of Washington has to do with our own Congressman, Christian A. Herter, who represents the Tenth District. It seems that Mr. Herter was given an opportunity to preside over the House of Representatives last week. This caused the Boston Herald to write an editorial, praising Congressman Herter, but intimating rather broadly that he would probably never become permanently the Speaker of the House. Reason: If the G. O. P. wins the big election in 1948 the chances are that our present Congressman will be given some administrative post of considerable importance. (I could make a good guess about that).

Governor Bradford

Although I have studied rather carefully a digest of the Governor's program as presented to our State Legislature early this year, it is difficult to determine just how much or how little success the Governor had. The summary published in the Boston Globe on July 6 listed some thirty-six proposals for legislation. As nearly as your columnist can figure it, some 19 were approved, 7 were rejected, 3 were referred back for further study and the remaining 7 were approved or rejected in part or were handled in such a manner that there was no clear-cut approval or rejection.

Now, on a purely numerical basis that may not seem to be such a bad record. Let us, however, take a brief look at some of the proposed bills which were rejected. These include the flat rejection of four-fifths of Governor Bradford's five-point tax program, which was without question, the most important plank in his platform. What happened?

Our Chief Executive stated most earnestly that he wanted his entire tax program enacted. He lost out on his 2 percent sales tax, the additional two cents on the gasoline tax, doubling of the income tax and the elimination of the Federal exemption. He won his proposal for one percent tax on corporations when the Legislature gave him one and one-half percent.

And what did the Legislature substitute for the bulk of the proposed program? In addition to the corporation tax just referred to there was a levy of 55 cents per gallon on hard liquor and $1.00 per barrel on malt beverages. Some program, eh?

Well, what's the matter with taxing the highly prosperous horse and dog track interests, for example? Who blocked that type of taxation? You'd be surprised. Why not ask your State Senator, Richard H. Lee or, possibly, one of the Governor's Secretarial staff, Loomis Patrick? These two men were on the inside all along and can undoubtedly enlighten you.

Again, our Governor wished to reorganize the Department of Conservation. What happened? I was told, on excellent authority, that this bill was up for consideration in the House just after the Governor got in that labor jam in connection with his SUPPOSED hostility to the Taft-Hartley labor bill. The Legislature, and more especially the Republicans, got very sore over the Governor's reported attitude. I appeared to indicate a sell-out to the labor bosses. Therefore, "the boys" gave the Conservation reorganization bill the bum's rush.

NEWTON IN THE PAST

From the Files of The Newton Graphic

55 Years Ago, July 15, 1892

All day Monday, detachments of the State cavalry, mounted and remounted, passed through Newton on their way to the State camp in Framingham. Some of the cavalry horses would paralyze an enemy if they once got a glimpse of them in battle array.

WABAN — The Tennis Club has a new idea. They hire a hand-organ man to play at the court while the members dance. What we do not think of is hardly worth any consideration.

Both branches of the City Council met Monday evening and closed up all the odds and ends of business, so that they could adjourn for the summer. Now people have a chance to discuss grade crossings and plans for their abolition, until September, and all can indulge in whatever flights of fancy they choose as to the method they think should be adopted. The Mayor and aldermen will meanwhile keep as comfortable and placid as the weather will allow.

50 Years Ago, July 16, 1897

Pipes are being laid through Washington street between Newton and West Newton by the New England Telephone Company for the electric wires. Accommodation is made for a large number of wires and these will be utilized as quickly as the work can be completed. The trench has been dug parallel with the electric car track as near the centre of the street as possible.

AUBURNDALE — The interior arrangements at the post office have undergone quite a change this week in preparation for the carrier system. New tables for the use of carriers in sorting the letters have been put in, and all but a part of the lock-boxes are to be removed to provide additional room.

The examiners at Yale College announce that those wishing to enter this fall will be obliged to learn to spell. This may strike older people as a rather curious announcement, but college examiners say that correct spelling is in danger of becoming one of the lost arts, judging from the examination papers of those applying for admission to college. Our public schools now run so much to fads of various kinds that there is no time for teaching the pupils how to spell, and although the average public school graduate can write a treatise on almost any science, half the words will probably be spelled incorrectly.

The Commission Plan encourages amateur administration. The average successful business man has neither time nor the desire to engage in political campaigns, nor can he afford to interrupt his business career for a few years and in addition spend part of the salary received for campaign elections. Further, the commissioners receive compensation for their services as administrative officials, but oftentimes the revenues of the cities do not permit the employment of other persons who are experts or professionals to do the work of the department. In the original Galveston plan the duties of the commissioners were of a supervisory nature, with permanent administrators doing the work. Result is that after the new form of government becomes established the usual mantle of apathy and lethargy cloaks the voters, and the element they so ardently sought to remove is right back into office.

Looking close to home, in discussing the abandonment of commission government in Lynn, it was said: "Had there been a split of unity in the governing board there would have been no disposition by the electorate to have changed. In Lynn each commissioner was elected as a specific department head, and the legislative feature was entirely forgotten. As a result, no matter how one of the commissioners conducted his department, the rest dared not risk criticism for fear their own toes might be trodden on. The consequence was we had FIVE LITTLE MAYORS . . . If citizens felt aggrieved at some action, or lack of action, by one of the commissioners and took complaint to the others, they were informed that the matter was outside their jurisdiction—that they could not interfere with another commissioner's department."

The agitation for simplification of municipal machinery will continue as the problems of a city become more numerous and complex. Plan C brought about the City Manager Plan, at the same time retaining our system of majority voting, and our Plan D, the subject of next week's article.

Disabled Veterans Get $2000 Real Estate Exemption

The Newton Department of Veterans' Services has announced the provisions of the law recently passed by the Legislature exempting disabled veterans and their wives or widows from taxation of real estate up to $2000.

The law will be effective as to assessments as of Jan. 1, 1947. The provisions of the law, which was signed by Governor Bradford on June 28 and carries an emergency preamble making it effective immediately, are as follows:

"Section 1. Section 5 of chapter 59 of the General Laws is hereby amended by striking out clause 22, as amended by chapter 579 of the acts of 1946, and inserting in place thereof the following:—Twenty-second, real estate of the following classes of persons who are legal residents of the commonwealth to the amount of two thousand dollars in the case of each person; provided, such real estate is occupied as a domicile by such person, and provided, further, that only two thousand dollars of real estate of any veteran and his wife shall be exempted, and provided, further, that the real estate of the person so exempted or the combined real estate of a veteran and his wife does not exceed $8000, exclusive of the value of the mortgage interest held by persons other than the person to be exempted in such mortgaged real estate as may be included in said real estate; but if, said real estate being less than $2000, the sum total thereof and of mortgage interest exceeds $2000, the amount so exempted shall be $2000.

(a) Soldiers and sailors, who served in the military or naval service in the War of rebellion, in the Spanish War, in the Philippine insurrection or in World War I or World War II and were discharged or released in any manner other than dishonorably therefrom, and by reason of injury received or disease contracted while in such service and in the line of duty, lost the sight of both eyes or of one eye, the sight of the other having been previously lost or who lost one or both feet, or one or both hands.

(b) Soldiers and sailors who served as aforesaid and were discharged or released from such service in the manner aforesaid, and who, as a result of disabilities contracted while in such service and in the line of duty, have a disability rating of ten per cent as determined by the Veterans' Administration.

(c) Soldiers and sailors, not exempt under paragraphs (a) or (b), who served as aforesaid and were discharged or released from such service in the manner aforesaid, and who, as a result of disabilities contracted while in such service and in the

Named Trustee of Wheaton College

Howard Walker Marshall, vice president of the H. Newton Marshall Company of Boston, and a resident of West Newton, has been elected to the board of trustees of Wheaton College, Norton, Mass., according to a recent announcement by President A. Howard Menely. From 1922 to 1942 Mr. Marshall was a builder, and as such was president of the Howard W. Marshall Company, Inc., of Boston. Since that time he has been a painting contractor.

Wheaton's new trustee received his education from the Newton High School, Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass., and he holds a Bachelor of Philosophy degree in Civil Engineering from Yale University. His club affiliations have been with St. Elmo of New Haven, Brae Burn of West Newton, and the Union Club of Boston. He is the father of three sons: Fuller Marshall, a junior at Bowdoin; H. Walker Marshall Jr., a freshman at Yale, and Henry N. Marshall, a freshman at Babson Institute.

Take Part in WCOP Program

Robert Mordecai, 26 Magnolia avenue, Newton, who last week attended a broadcast of "Invitation to Studio A" at radio station WCOP was selected from among the studio audience to take part in one of the broadcast stunts. line of duty, have become permanently incapacitated to an extent equivalent, in the judgment of the assessors, to the disability of soldiers and sailors having disability rating of ten per cent as determined by the Veterans' Administration.

(d) Wives and widows of soldiers or sailors who would be entitled to exemption under paragraphs (a), (b), or (c). No real estate shall be so exempt which the assessors shall judge has been conveyed to a veteran or to his wife or widow to evade taxation. A person aggrieved by the judgment of the assessors may appeal to the county commissioners or to the appellate tax board within the time and in the manner allowed by section sixty-four or sixty-five, as the case may be.

Section 2. This act shall be applicable to taxes levied in nineteen hundred and forty-seven, upon application made not later than December first, nineteen hundred and forty-seven.

RICHARD ARLEN, handsome motion picture star, who will appear next week at the Wellesley Summer Theatre in the Broadway hit, "State of the Union" which will be shown Tuesday thru Saturday evenings in Alumnae Hall on the Wellesley campus.

Richard Arlen at Wellesley Theatre

As the second attraction of its five week season the Wellesley Summer Theatre will present Richard Arlen, handsome motion picture star, in "State of the Union." To be shown in Alumnae Hall on the Wellesley College campus, the Pulitzer Prize comedy which is still running on Broadway, has been brought completely up to date to coincide with the latest political developments and each evening's performance will be as timely as the morning's paper.

This will be Mr. Arlen's first summer theatre appearance in the greater Boston area and will give his many film fans an opportunity to see him in person for the first time. A flier in Canada's Royal Flying Corps during the first world war, his ambition to be an engineer came to an abrupt end when a chance visit to a Hollywood studio culminated in a picture assignment. Mr. Arlen has since appeared in many films over a period of 27 years including such hits as "The Virginian," "College Humor," "Four Feathers," and "Wings," one of the first films on airplanes.

Never having seen New England, one of his main reasons for this first summer stock tour is to get a chance to see the countryside by appearing at two various playhouses.

In spite of the many different roles he has played in almost one hundred films, "State of the Union" will offer him his first chance to play a middle aged character instead of the college football player and other juvenile parts for which he is so famous.

Red Cross Social Worker Off to New Position in Nashua

Miss Ethel M. Knight, who for the past three and a half years has been executive secretary of Home Service for the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross, will become executive secretary of the Nashua Community Council of Nashua, N. H., beginning September first.

Through the closing war years and during the critical period immediately following, Miss Knight gave unstintingly of her time and experience to Newton service men and their families who were in trouble. On 24-hour call, she eased many a situation of real tragedy due to the war with her kindly understanding and her wise counseling. In 1945, the peak year for Home Service, Miss Knight and her assistants worked with 207 cases through the Newton Red Cross.

Since the close of the war, the problems requiring attention have differed somewhat in nature. Instead of being forced to leave home with no one left to take care of their families, the men now in service have fewer personal problems which require Red Cross assistance. A complete claims service is offered and help rendered on a consultative basis during the period of readjustment when men are getting back into civilian life.

A graduate of the Smith College of Social Work, Miss Knight has had a wide experience in the fields of juvenile delinquency, family case work and with the foreign-born. She is well equipped to assume the overall supervision of the private social agencies of Nashua which are housed in one building.

Flies from Roof Top To Logan Airport

J. J. Wellman, 11 Sheffield road, Newtonville, became a member of the World Windmill Club, Inc., when he flew to Logan Airport from the Motor Mart Garage Roof, Park Square, in the first rooftop-to-airport passenger service by helicopter in the world.

The service, inaugurated in April by Skyway Corporation, operates taxi ships which require only three minutes to take the three-mile trip from downtown Boston to the Airport. Ground travel time varies from 25 minutes to 50.

Igor Sikorsky, inventor of the helicopter, recently predicted that the Boston service "will be duplicated in all large cities of the world within five years."

Wellman said he was "thrilled by the flight. The only thing I regretted was that I didn't have my camera along."

Mr. Frank E. Dowcett, chairman of the American Red Cross Water Safety Committee announces the beginning of adult swimming and senior life-saving classes at Crystal Lake. These classes will be conducted throughout the summer on Tuesday nights from 6 to 8 p.m., starting this week. The adult class in Auburndale comes daily from 4 to 5.

During the past week certificates have been awarded for the completion of Beginners and Intermediate classes. Those successfully completing the courses include:

Beginners: Anthony P. III, John Murphy, Barbara Yariotti, Winifred Murphy, Robert Bonetto, Richard Lupo, Beverly Hayes, Janet Marshall, Marie Lynch, Karen Obermeyer, William Hungerville; and Intermediates: James Caffery, Stephen Smith, Mary Ross, Peggy Witton, Sophie Vangel, Eleanor Vachon, Jean Obermeyer, Patricia Nagle, Charles Nangle, and James Sherry.

The U. S. was born July 4, 1776. Recklessness and speed will cause many Americans to celebrate the birth by dying.

(Mo) and Miss Evelyn Conrad (Connie) assistants. Miss Mildred L. Knutz (Chris) Camp Director and Miss Mary Browning (Slim) and the waterfront staff served as judges for the boat name contest and announced the winners last Saturday at the Swim Play Day. The winners of the contest christened the boats as follows: rowboats, PICKEREL, Anne Cotter, PERCH, Anne Cotter and Bunny Johnson and PIKE, Evelyn Conrad; canoes, SKIMMER, Mary Browning, TIPPER, Ellen Goldman and SWIFTY, Dot Swanton; and the dory, HUNKY DORY by Anne McCarthy.

Holiday Magazine Takes You to Boston

A 7000-word picture of Boston, the capital city of Massachusetts, is the lead story in the August issue of Holiday magazine.

Written by Benjamin Russell, the article describes Boston as "probably the most history-conscious big city in the United States."

Fifty-one vivid photographs, many in full color, illustrate the Boston article. A suitable number of them plug the antiquity theme, but they are run side by side with photographs of such relatively modern innovations as the Merry-Go-Round Bar at the Copley Plaza, and Sally Keith, Tassel Queen of the Crawford House.

Boston's pride and joy in its antiquity are not unmixed with a shrewd realization of its commercial value. "Down in the market district near Faneuil hall," the article says, "where most of the brick buildings of an earlier Boston survive in various stages of dilapidation, many stores boast of their antiquity and do a business far beyond that expected in a run-down part of town." Eating places, particularly thrive on ancient traditions. Even brokers and bankers plug the antiquity theme.

According to Holiday, Cole Roast Boston is giving way to a mixture of racial strains. Inhabitants of more recent origin than the forefathers run the city politically, increasingly challenge the economic control of the old families, and set the prevailing patterns of everyday life, the article adds. Lack of servants, high taxes, changing tastes and modern transportation have driven most of the old Yankee first families from Common-

Rotary Club

A brief meeting was held at the usual meeting place prior to the attendance of 55 members at the Braves-Chicago Cubs baseball game in the afternoon. Transportation was by Harry Hanson's bus.

Richard White Jr., presented by Charles Hilliard, was inducted by Past President, Warren W. Oliver.

Among the distinguished guests present was Paul E. Elicker, 1938 President of Newton Rotary.

Announcement was made of a District Assembly for which Newton has been asked by Tommy Thompson, our District Governor, to be host. The Assembly will take place at Braeburn Monday, July 21st, from 10:30 to 4:30, and the Presidents, Vice Presidents, and Secretaries of seven clubs will take part. The visiting officers will be guests of our Club at its Monday meeting.

Next week's program will provide a report on the San Francisco Conference by Al Hartshorn, Charlie Meeker, and Harold Gores.

A member of the Club offered for auction a baseball autographed by all members of the Braves team, which produced $50.00 to benefit Rotary charities.

wealth avenue and Beacon street into the Back Bay. Though most Bostonians don't realize it yet, the era of George Apley has passed.

Holiday does admit that some things remain untouched, listing among these the elderly ladies in high choker collars who still take tea at the Bellevue, "unaware that Ann Corio patronizes the same hotel during her Boston theater engagements and, even, that there is an Ann Corio."

Dr. Gibson to Attend Congregational Assembly in England

Dr. George M. Gibson of 230 Homer street, Newton Center, head of the Pilgrim Press, Beacon Hill, Boston, is sailing today on the Queen Elizabeth for England where he will participate in an important meeting of the International Congregational Council assembling at Bournemouth, England, from July 26 to August 2.

One of the important features of this meeting will be the formulation of plans for the great International Congregational Council to be held in the U. S. A. at Wellesley, Massachusetts in the summer of 1949. The President of Wellesley College, Mrs. Douglas Horton, is attending this same meeting with her husband who is head of the General Council of Congregational Churches in America.

Perhaps the most important job on which this group of Congregationalists from all parts of the world will work is the drafting of a world constitution for all countries and the establishment of a world headquarters. This will be voted upon at the big International Congregational Council in Wellesley in the summer of 1949.

Dr. Gibson, who assumed the post of General Secretary of the Pilgrim Press in Boston last year, is also planning to visit editors and publishers in Great Britain for conference before he returns and will preach in some British pulpits.

Heavy Automobile Traffic Predicted For Month of August

Boston, July 17—Automobile traffic that will match or surpass in volume the heaviest on record is predicted for Massachusetts highways during the month of August, according to information collected today by the Mass. Development and Industrial Commission in cooperation with the Traffic Division of the State Public Works Department.

The all-time peak was reached in August, 1941, four months before Pearl Harbor. For such obvious reasons as gas rationing and shortage of automotive equipment, traffic figures during the past six years have lagged behind, but with the vacation season now at hand, traffic experts feel confident that if the increasing trend continues, traffic statistics for the next month will come close to matching, if not exceeding, the best pre-war days.

The Quartermaster Corps procured more than 70,000 different kinds of articles for the Army during the recent war.

Kiwanis Club

The Boston Braves stars of the miracle 1947 team, Tommy Holmes, right fielder, Phil Masi, the season's outstanding backstop and Shortstop Dick Cullen, accompanied by Tom Carey, manager of the Capitol Theatre, Allston, lunched with the Newton Kiwanis Club, Wednesday, at the YMCA, the guest of Alton (Al) Greene, manager of Liggett's Newton drug store.

They heard William Reardon, public relations representative of the Registry of Motor Vehicles, tell of the highway hazards facing motorists in Massachusetts, their steady increase due to carelessness and his prediction that compulsory insurance will be up 50 per cent in five years. Highways are not adequate for constantly increasing automotive travel, the attitude "I am the best driver" and others are more or less novices, and the business of "fixing," thus nullifying 50 per cent of police efforts to stem violations are a few of the reasons Mr. Reardon cited as the cause of our high accident and insurance rates.

Speeding is increasing he continued, Judges are convicting twice more than ever before. Motorists are inconsiderate of pedestrians, until turned pedestrians, they growl at motorists. The pedestrian has right of way inasmuch as driving is allowed by permission of the Registrar, who is in full charge. Violators are usually of ages less than 29 years, 85 percent of them. There will be 100,000 more cars on the road within the next 60 days. It's a common problem, the motor vehicle accident increase, Mr. Reardon concluded, but one that could be cured tomorrow by the application of hard common sense.

KIWANIS NOTES . . . Accompanied on the piano by Albert H. Gagne, Louis LeBlanc sang "The Bells of St. Mary's." James Gallagher, Edward Hickey, Charles Foster, and William Duffy rendered "The Strawberry Blonde." Patrick Ranbow, Wellesley and Harry Harian, Watertown, were guests of the Club at this meeting. . . . President Dr. Ernest Marcoux and Mark Hopkins told of advanced plans for the Kiwanis Clubs' August circus, at Suffolk Downs. . . . Plans were made to attend "Bobby Dyer Day," August 2. . . . Carl Alvord announced that the Club had arranged to pay transportation costs of children taking the athletic course at the Auburndale Playground. . . . Charles Hildred, program director, has arranged that Newton's Clerk of Court James P. Gallagher will be the Club's speaker next week.

SNAPPY COMEBACK: To test rubber jar rings for canning, freeze them in half and press the fold between your fingers. When released the ring should spring back to its original shape.

DINING with JANE and BILL

Bill—Right after dinner, Jane, let's go out and see our garden. Every day I like to see how much our vegetables have grown.

Jane—So do I! I can hardly wait to start bringing them into this kitchen.

Bill—That sounds good. One of the things which I like about summer is that we can have all the fruits and vegetables we want so easily. Vitamins grow in our yard.

Jane—This year we can have the same eating pleasure in the winter.

Bill—What's up? I can see you're planning something.

Jane—Well, this summer I plan to can all the fruits and vegetables which I think we can use next winter.

Bill—Gee, honey, isn't that a lot of hard work? I remember how Mother used to spend hours in the hot summer time canning stuff. She wouldn't have minded, except that when we were ready to use the food that winter, we'd find lots of the beans and corn spoiled, and other things, too. She finally gave it up, and decided it was better to buy vegetables in cans from the grocery store all winter.

Jane—You don't think we women are going to be kept back that way, do you? I plan to follow tested methods for canning, and use a pressure cooker for the vegetables which are hardest to keep.

Bill—A pressure cooker? Isn't that a pretty heavy investment, Jane?

Jane—Not the way we are doing it. The members of my bridge foursome were discussing buying one jointly. Each of us could use it one day every week, plus an extra day every other week. We live so close, it won't be any trick at all to pass the cooker around, and a day a week will take care of all my canning.

Bill—Honey, do you know how to can—how long things should be cooked so you can be sure of not having spoilage?

Jane—I didn't know until I wrote for a leaflet called "Home Canning of Vegetables, Fruits, and Meats." The nutritionists, Miss Cantoni, at the Newton Nutrition Center (BIGelow 4912) told me about it. The book gives step-by-step canning instructions, and, of course, tells how long foods should be processed.

Bill—Processed? That means cooking in the jars, doesn't it? Tell me Jane, what foods should be processed in the pressure cooker?

Jane—The non-acid foods, Bill, such as: asparagus, squash, beans, carrots, corn, peas, cauliflower, and beets. Practically all fruits are acid, and that helps in the preservation. This means they don't have to be processed in the pressure cooker. Bill, I know the pressure cooker saves time and helps the foods keep better, but why?

Bill—In the pressure cooker, all the air is forced out, and you have a vacuum inside the cooker. It is possible to get the temperature of a vacuum much higher than you can get the boiling water. The higher temperature means the cooking can be done more rapidly than in boiling water alone.

Jane—So that's it! Quicker cooking means time saved; higher temperatures mean less chance of any bacteria remaining alive to start spoilage.

Bill—Let's see those processing times, Jane. Why don't you pin them up in the kitchen so you can't go wrong?

Published by the Massachusetts State College Extension Service. Here is Jane's Time Table for Processing. Why not pin it up in your kitchen, too?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of the Graphic:
Sir, As a reader of your paper I would like to express my thought in regards to what P. W. C. says about women in public office.

(First) He states thousands of the fairer sex will view the idea of a woman running for alderman in Newton with dissatisfaction.

I don't quite agree with him. Since women are the sufferers I think they should have a hand in the making of our laws.

(Second) he states there was a lady who made the grade only to be defeated in re-election. That is just one instance, but think of the many women re-elected to office year, after year.

Congressman Rogers of Lowell has been re-elected to office more times than the majority of men, and is still going strong.

I believe America is a woman's world just as much as it is a man's world. With all our improvements that are aimed to make housekeeping easier, women have more leisure. But if women waste away this leisure they will lose lots of prestige. Best of luck Mrs. Helen B. Lesses.

Mrs. Margaret M. Hoar,
1148 Beacon street,
Newton Highlands, Mass.

July 12th, 1947.

Dear Sir:
Please accept this communication as an official expression of thanks from the Kiwanis Club of Newton for the recent newspaper readers on our coming Circus in your paper.

We are truly grateful for your thoughtfulness and we feel that the Kiwanis Circus will be a great success.

All money will be used for the Under-Privileged Children here in Newton, in many ways.

With kindest regards, I remain,
Cordially yours,
Kiwanis Club,
George E. VanBuskirk,
Secretary.

In addition, it is hoped that many other prizes will be made available as club prizes, group prizes, etc.

It is expected that there will be about 300 entries in the meet. There is no entry fee, and the public is invited to attend, no admission will be charged.

The committee in charge of the event will welcome donations from business firms, manufacturers, etc., to be used as prizes. All gifts should be sent to the Newton Chamber of Commerce, Walnut Street, Newtonville.

Newton Newcomers Club

On Friday, July 11, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club the Newton Newcomers Club held its regular bi-monthly meeting.

A delicious dessert was served, Mrs. Herbert J. Ham and Mrs. Raymond Blaisdel presiding at the tea table. Following a short business meeting the afternoon was spent playing bridge. Prizes were won by Mrs. Edward Currier Jr., Mrs. Byron Pierce, Mrs. M. J. Flaherty and a guest from Akron, Ohio, Mrs. McGuire.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Byron Pierce, 203 Islington road, Auburndale, on July 25, 1947.

VEAL WAIT: Livestock marketing officials say that consumers can expect more meat the remainder of this year than they had the latter half of 1946. Beef and veal will make up more than half the total supply.

Light-As-A-Feather Potato Souffle

Cheese is both economical and highly nutritious. Wholly aside from the fine flavor it adds to many foods when cheese is one of the ingredients, its nutritious goodness as a concentrated protein food containing most of the food nutrients found in milk is well known. It is an ideal food to serve to add more milk for every member of the family — for cheese is a concentrated form of milk.

Cheese and potatoes are two foods that combine naturally to make a pleasing flavorful dish. Perhaps a little more unusual than potatoes au gratin are these individual golden, light-as-a-feather potato and cheese souffles. They are delicious as a luncheon dish or are ideal to serve with a well browned leg of lamb.

POTATO AND CHEESE SOUFFLE

1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
1/4 cup milk
1 cup grated or shredded cheese
1 tablespoon grated onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2 cups diced potatoes
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites

Melt butter, add flour and blend. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add cheese and seasonings and stir over very low heat until cheese is melted. Add potatoes and well beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Turn into one large, or individual buttered casseroles and bake in a moderately slow oven, 325° F. for 40 to 60 minutes. Serves 6.

Back Yard Gardener

Accident prevention to my way of thinking should be, as the minister says, "With you now and forever more."

Coming up some time this month is Farm Safety Week. As I hinted, the week isn't so important as preventing accidents all through the year.

From what I read, farming is one of the most dangerous businesses in the country, perhaps because the farmer has so many businesses within a business. He isn't like a machine operator whose job becomes so routine that he does the right thing automatically. The farmer is changing from job to job so frequently that he forgets the little safety measures that are necessary.

I always like to think of my back yard gardening operations as farming only on a smaller scale. We bump into the same difficulties many, many times. I'm thinking now particularly of the use of insecticides. So with Farm Safety Week coming up, here are a few suggestions that back yard gardeners, as well as farmers, should heed.

First of all, follow directions on the package. Those directions were put there for you, not for the other fellow.

When handling poisonous material, take extra care to keep it out of the mouth, nose, and eyes. If you do any amount of spraying, keep the body well covered and wear goggles and a gas mask. Then wash thoroughly after changing your clothes and of course wash the clothes frequently.

Keep the pest materials out of reach of children, preferably locked up. You may think they're out of reach, but a youngster can devise some ingenious ways of reaching high spots, and he usually gets hurt getting down.

Take care that livestock doesn't feed on the grass or underneath sprayed trees or on the trees themselves. It looks humorous to drive along the street and see a poison sign on a huge elm tree, but it's a darn good precaution that the spray men take in putting up these signs. You might not get enough poison to kill you, but one or two leaves could make you mighty sick.

Burn or bury all empty packages and bags, if you burn them, be sure to burn them out of doors.

And finally, always wash garden products before using or selling.

and elementary back stroke, turning in a closed course, one-minute floating, treading water, ten yards of sculling using hands only, underwater swimming for two body lengths, running front and standing front dives. For life-saving, participants will show throwing a buoy, swimming with a torpedo buoy, locating a submerged victim, bringing victims to surface, and carrying him to safety, disrobing in water, and various methods of carry.

The public is cordially invited to attend this demonstration.

H.S. Placement Office Open All Summer

The Newton High School placement office offers vocational placement service to high school graduates and others. Miss Emily Guzzi, secretary, reports that at present there are several boys registered who are available for cutting lawns and general outside work. There are, also, several girls who have indicated interest in caring for children in Newton homes. Two veterans are also registered for part-time work.

More requests for students to accept permanent jobs have been received than there are boys and girls to fill them.

Educational Benefits Of GI Bill Still Available To Regular Army Enlistees

"The educational benefits of the G.I. Bill of Rights are still available to qualified young men who enlist in the New Regular Army," according to information released today by Major Douglas A. McKillop, commanding officer of the Army Recruiting Station, 55 Tremont street, Boston.

"Some people are of the belief that the benefits of the G.I. Bill of Rights are no longer available," said Major McKillop. "This is far from being true. A young man who enlists now and serves 90 days in the service is entitled to one year of college plus an additional month of college education for every month of service completed before the repeal of this bill. So, it is plain to see that education is still assured to those men who join the Army now."

"Not only does the G.I. Bill of Rights provide for those who desire college education but it also allows for refresher courses, 'on the job' training and even the completion of high school courses."

In addition to these benefits, the man in the Army also has the privilege of enrolling for courses in the United States Armed Forces Institute. This institute offers more than 300 different courses and credits may be obtained on these courses towards degrees.

"The key to success is available today," concluded the major, "and the young man who accepts this key is the one who will find the doors of the future readily opened."

Explains Govt. Procedure of War Dead Return

The government's procedure in returning to this country the bodies of war dead buried overseas was explained to the priests of the Duluth Catholic diocese by Col. M. A. Quinn, commanding officer at the Kansas City quartermaster depot. Addressing the priests at their annual retreat in Duluth the Army officer related that the war dead of World War II who were buried overseas can now be brought back to the States for burial if the next of kin so desire. He pointed out that with many next of kin now taking advantage of the opportunity the clergy will be called upon in increasing numbers to officiate at the final burial services.

Mail Forms
The War and Navy Departments in Washington are mailing out forms to the relatives of those buried in 120 of the 181 temporary cemeteries overseas inquiring what disposition they wish made of the remains. The next of kin have four options, he related: they may elect to have the remains interred in a private or a United States military cemetery overseas or in a private cemetery or a national cemetery in the United States. A family may arrange funeral services of any nature or extent according to its wishes, he said.

For burial in private cemeteries, the government provides the casket, transportation from overseas to the place of burial, headstone, and $50 to be applied on actual funeral expenses. In national cemetery burials the government takes care of all expenses and arrangements. Colonel Quinn emphasized that the Army or Navy departments would not send a form of inquiry to any family if there was the least vestige of doubt as to the identity of the remains. He added that further information could be obtained from the Quartermaster General in Washington.

The Quartermaster Corps predicts that in the not-distant future, woolen fabrics will be available which are shrink-proof and moth-proof.

Boston First To Adopt New Parking Ban

At a meeting sponsored by the Highway Division of the Massachusetts Safety Council on June 26, 1947, police officials from Boston and the surrounding cities and towns of the Metropolitan Area unanimously adopted a 60-day trial period to ban parking on the right-hand side in line of travel on certain important streets or avenues leading into Boston Proper during the hours of 8:00 to 10:00 A.M. and 4:00 to 6:00 P.M. Boston, with an approximate 41.3 miles to be considered in this plan, led the way in accepting this contemplated plan to diminish present traffic problems and free the lanes for mobile traffic. Temporary enactments will be set up in the Metropolitan area and the trial period will go into effect on October first through December first. If this 60-day trial period proves successful, laws will be enacted to make this plan permanent.

The Massachusetts Safety Council will furnish temporary signs to the various cities and towns and cooperate to the fullest extent in putting this plan into

Moonglow Salad To Serve at High Noon

Moonglow! It's a crooner's phrase to sing in summer. But it's also the name of a cool, cool salad made with pale gelatin and bananas the color of a mellow, summer moon. Marry the chill of crisp, green leaves to this Moonglow Salad and you're just about the coolest combination of color and flavor you could find for a hot day's midday meal.

The unexpected thing about a food as cool and refreshing as bananas is the high nutrition they bring along with their smooth texture and tropical flavor. Bananas are one of the better sources of vitamin C; they have the B group and vitamin A, together with eleven essential minerals, including calcium, phosphorus and iron. Important, too, on a hot day is the fact that fully-ripe bananas furnish a quick energy pickup because their natural sugars are readily absorbed into the body system.

Fully-Ripe Bananas Make Best Salad

Whenever you use bananas "as is," the way you'll use them in this Moonglow Salad, choose the kind that are fully-ripe. They can be distinguished by their yellow peel flecked with brown. Bananas you buy at your local store may have all-yellow peel or yellow peel tipped with green. These bananas will ripen readily in your own home if you leave them out at room temperature until the brown flecks appear on the yellow peel, indicating full ripeness. Don't put bananas in the refrigerator as a low temperature arrests the banana's ripening process.

Here for a luscious summer lunch dish is a Moonglow Salad you'll want to feature often for both visiting friends and your own family:

Moonglow Salad

1 pkg. gelatin

2 fully-ripe bananas, sliced*

Salad greens

*Use fully-ripe bananas... yellow peel flecked with brown

Prepare gelatin according to directions on the package. Chill.

Place slices of banana in an attractive arrangement in small individual molds. When gelatin mixture is slightly thickened, pour into mold. Chill until firm.

Unmold and place in crisp lettuce cup or garnish with crisp salad greens. Arrange a half circle of fluted banana slices in front of each lettuce cup, if desired. Serve with mayonnaise, cream or French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

If it's colors that make you feel cooler, you can easily ring them into this same salad by making your gelatin lime, cherry, raspberry or any one of the brighter-hued fruit flavors. Bananas blend obligingly with all fruit flavors both because of their creamy color and their bland, delicious taste, so that you can vary the flavor of the gelatin to suit your mood and bananas will blend right into the spirit of what you have in mind.

Pertinent Paragraphs

Sweets, 'tis summer, and sweets is what makes a fashionable summer potato course when it's quick canned yam sweet potatoes from Louisiana that bring the dish to your table. Simply heat the yam sweets in the sirup from the can; serve!

No nonsense is a garnish when it's chopped Brazil nuts because these glamor nuts from the Amazon have hefty nutritional value. They're a source of protein, they have vitamin B1 and B2 and vitamin A. Use them for flavor contrast with bland summer foods; use them for extra nutrition in summer-light salads and desserts.

Better butter? Look for it in paraffin cartons because that's the way the butter makers themselves pack their best product.

Lime-light shines on a brand new lime product—canned Florida limejuice ready to mix in 'ades, punches, or to flavor desserts. Comes from those big, green limes which are Florida's pride.

Summer's own crispy delight is a luncheon main-dish put on the table pronto in a bowl of ready-to-eat cereal with cool milk and a sprinkle of sugar. Refreshingly light in texture, actually it's a heavyweight for nutrition since an average serving of cereal with milk and sugar contributes top quality protein, the B vitamins (thiamine, riboflavin, niacin), the minerals (calcium, phosphorus, iron) and energy, all in a single, thrifty dish!

When roses bloom in the moonlight, don't forget they may bloom in your salad bowl, too, in the form of radish roses. And perky raw carrot sticks, celery curls, green pepper rings for further flower-bright effects in summer saladary.

Am I Bleu! said the cheese to the French dressing, and that tells the story of one of the most delicious salad dressings for greens from the garden—or from the corner store—crumbled bleu cheese blended with French dressing.

—Among the larger industries in the city of Louisville, Kentucky, are the manufacture of tobacco products, cement, wagons, plows and leather.

George E. Mitchell

George E. Mitchell of Newton Centre, passed away suddenly in Wellesley where he was supervising construction on an addition to his firm's office building.

Born in Marion, Iowa, Mr. Mitchell spent most of his early life in Massachusetts at Winthrop and resided in Newton Centre the last 21 years. While living in Winthrop he was active in local politics and one of the founders of the Winthrop Improvement Association.

Engaged in the building business for 60 years, he was a member of the firm, Woodbury and Leighton of Boston before going into business for himself. Subsequently, he entered into partnership with the late George E. Leighton and incorporated that association into the firm Leighton Mitchell Company of Boston, in 1913.

An ardent Christian Scientist, Mr. Mitchell built the Mother church in Boston and numerous other Christian Science Churches around Boston. The impressive list of buildings erected by this firm in New England includes college structures, Dexter school, Middlesex school, Channing sanatorium, Wellesley, "90 house in 90 days" at Bath, Me., for ship yard workers during World War I, railway station at Augusta, Me., church in Bangor, private residences around Boston, the White Mountain and Berkshire areas, post offices, etc.

Private funeral services were held at Waterman Chapel, Boston, July 11 followed by cremation at Forest Hills.

Mr. Mitchell leaves a daughter, Mrs. Harold R. Jaques of Newton Centre, with whom he made his home; a grandson, Harold R. Jaques, Jr.; a great granddaughter, Nancy Lorna Jaques; a brother, Fred Mitchell of Roslindale; a sister, Mrs. George M. White of Newton Centre, and a sister, Miss Myrtle B. Mitchell of Roslindale.

NEWTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

FIRE PREVENTION SERVICE

In these times when people of patriotic motives wish to do all in their power to aid in the conservation of food, there is certainly no desire on the part of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to alarm the public. However, there have already been several casualties through lack of knowledge of fundamental safety facts. To prevent these is the object of this article and the data following may result in the saving of life and preventing injuries.

Cold Pack or Water Bath.—This is probably the least hazardous. The principal danger is from scalds in removing the jars. There is also danger of spattering from boil-overs especially where some form of grill work is not put in the boiler for the jars to set on; this grill prevents the breaking of the jar, and also the accumulation of steam under the bottom of the jars, which when released may bring up a mass of boiling water.

One feature of the cold pack is that it requires several hours, and where gas is used the flame may be put out by a boil-over at a time when there is no one around, thus allowing an accumulation of gas. When this happens, never attempt to relight the burner until the room has been well aired.

Pressure Cookers.—There are several very serious dangers to this method. One is the attempt to build or improvise such a cooker. The demand for these far exceeds the supply, and the consequence is that home-made affairs have been put into service. Some of these have been extensive and involve the installation of a steam boiler.

All pressure cookers, or any process involving the use of steam, must have several attachments. One is a safety valve which will operate at a low pressure, and which must be kept in good condition; another is a reliable gauge, to show the pressure on the cooker. A recent check-up of 15 cookers showed one safety valve needed cleaning, another had a gauge which was six pounds off normal. Often these gauges will be checked by the gas company.

The necessity of having the cover-holding lugs in good condition and properly tightened before applying heat or steam is very important, but of even more importance is the need of releasing the steam before loosening any of the cover lugs.

Oven Pack.—This is the most hazardous form of canning, whether glass or tin cans are used. It is not possible to regulate an oven to the degree where it does not introduce a hazard from a pressure explosion in the can or jar if these are sealed or tightened before being heated. In a recent case, and there have been others like it, nine pint jars were placed in an oven and the heat regulator set at 275 degrees. A violent explosion occurred, which blew off the oven door, blew the oven apart, broke the gas connection, and badly scalded and cut a boy sitting in the room. It is very evident that the tops had been tightened and under this condition a temperature of 275 degrees will produce a steam pressure of 29 pounds inside of the jar or can, which far exceeds the safe limits of a sealed glass jar or even a tin can. A temperature of 250 degrees produces a pressure of 15 pounds which is the highest recommended for pressure cooking. Remember also that with the oven controls set low all of the burners may not stay alight and unburned gas may collect in the oven.

The saving of food is essential at this time in order that everyone may be properly fed, but let us all use the safest methods possible that will stop accidents and fires.

Accidents in the Quartermaster Corps depots have been sharply retarded by the use of a color code. Different colors are applied to appliances to designate danger, caution, electric switches, fire apparatus, and other situations and equipment.

No fish live in Great Salt Lake, Utah, because the average salinity is almost six times greater than that of the oceans.

One out of three rural pedestrian deaths from accidents in 1946 occurred while the victim was walking on the roadway.

Drunkenness In 1 of 4 Fatalities

Although the number of offenses of this nature are considerably lower in Roslindale and West Roxbury than other areas of Greater Boston, drinking by drivers and pedestrians is generally a growing traffic safety problem, W. Earl Hall, chairman of the National Committee for Traffic Safety, said in a statement released to the Transcript today. The most recent records of state authorities show that in one out of four fatal traffic accidents, a driver or a pedestrian was reported as having been drinking, Hall declared.

Special studies bear out the belief of many authorities that the information on official accident reports understates the true picture. Surveys involving chemical tests of blood or other body materials of drivers tested who had been injured or killed in traffic accidents showed that half of the drivers had alcohol in their systems. About one third of all the drivers tested had sufficient alcohol to be under its influence.

Results show that the greater the concentration of alcohol in a person's system, the greater the danger. A person with a blood alcohol concentration of over 15 per cent has a relatively poor chance of staying out of an accident. The average driver in this range is fifty-five times more likely to be involved in an accident than drivers with no alcohol.

The public is well aware of the dangers of driving after drinking. In a public opinion poll for the National Committee for Traffic Safety, each person interviewed was asked which of ten listed factors caused the greater number of accidents, in his opinion. Driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor ranked number one.

Stumbling Block
Perhaps the main stumbling block in getting better enforcement of drunken driving laws in most places has been the difficulty in determining whether drivers actually were under the influence. So much difficulty has been experienced in some places in convicting drivers who are under the influence but not "staggeringly drunk" that enforcement has been directed at only the most obvious cases.

Many progressive enforcement agencies, however, have turned to use of chemical tests to provide the needed additional evidence. Such tests show definitely whether there is sufficient alcohol in the blood stream and brain to cause intoxication. Their use eliminates guesswork by showing whether a drinking driver has enough alcohol in his system to be legally under its influence.

Tests results do not measure how much a person has been drinking—they show instead how much has been absorbed in the blood stream, and how much gets to the brain. It is the concentration of alcohol in the blood stream and brain, and not the amount in the stomach, which bears a definite relationship to degree of intoxication.

The use of such scientific tests was recommended by the President's Highway Safety Conference of 1946. National organizations which have long advocated use of alcohol tests for alcoholic influence include the American Bar Association, American Medical Association, Federal Bureau of Investigation, International Association of Chiefs of Police, National Safety Council and the National Conservation Bureau.

Despite the technical and promotional work of these groups, there are still jurisdictions which regard chemical test evidence in somewhat the same light as the lie detector—a "new-fangled gadget." Many cities however, notably Cincinnati, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Detroit, Washington and Indianapolis, use chemical tests as routine practice. A recent tabulation showed 62 cities over 10,000 population reporting use of such tests for enforcement purposes, with 20 state enforcement agencies likewise reporting their use.

Officially Recognized
Use of evidence obtained through chemical tests is now officially recognized in state laws in Maine, New York, Indiana and Oregon. Model legislation on interpretation of chemical test results, as recommended in Act V of the Uniform Vehicle Code, has been introduced in legislature of several states this year.

A chemical testing program has many advantages. There are

Carney Hospital Marks 85th Year With Ceremonies

The Carney Hospital recently inaugurated its 85th year of service to the sick and afflicted, with simple ceremonies in the hospital foyer where Superintendent Sister Mary Paul placed a wreath before the painting of the founder, Andrew Carney. It was through the generosity of the Boston merchant that the Howe estate on the Southwestern slope of Dorchester Heights, near the place where Washington's troops erected their entrenchments, became the site of The Carney.

The building erected a few years after Carney's purchase of the estate is now over 80 years old, and the wing and new entrance date back over 50 years. This led Archbishop Cushing, president of The Carney's advisory board, to declare earlier this year that the hospital "faces the greatest crisis in all its history", and that it has come to the point "where it must have a new, modern hospital building, or it cannot long continue to keep open the doors which for 84 years have been closed to the afflicted".

Furniture dents may be removed by putting moist blotting paper over the dent and applying more pleas of guilty, and fewer cases necessitating jury trial, with the attendant expense. There is less chance of a miscarriage of justice—the non-drinker and the mild drinker are spared the embarrassment of unjust arrest. These tests actually "free the innocent and convict the guilty."

The organizations making up the National Committee for Traffic Safety look upon drinking and driving as a safety problem. The Committee is concerned in seeking to develop greater public acceptance of the responsibility for avoiding the social tragedy and economic waste caused by traffic accidents. As far as liquor is concerned, we urge only: "When you have been drinking, don't drive." Even two or three drinks may affect judgment in driving and contribute to an accident.

How to develop a fabric which will keep water out yet permit body vapor to escape is a problem which the Quartermaster Corps hopes to solve in the near future.

WHERE THOUSANDS DIE!

91 killed—3,150 injured! If that were the report of an explosion, wreck or other disaster, it would be front page news. People would be horrified! But worse—it's just one day's automobile casualty list in the United States. It happens every day, week in, week out. Four deaths, 131 injured—every hour. At year's end 33,500 lives snuffed out, over a million injured or maimed for life. That's what happened last year. This year's record threatens to be even higher.

Speed—reckless, wanton speed—drunken driving—defiance of safety rules and regulations—and careless, jaywalking pedestrians, top the list of causes for this grim toll.

What can you do about it? Will the speeding wheels of your car add one death to this mass murder of the highways? Not if you, the driver—and you, the pedestrian—take your individual responsibilities seriously. Drive carefully at all times, under all conditions, and be alert when walking.

Don't be one of the thousands to kill, or be killed. Drive safely—and live!

COMMON INTEREST Your Government and Mine

PLAN D
Kings lost their heads in popular uprisings against their government. Mayors were figuratively beheaded when protesting citizens went about their job of improving the tone of city affairs, and established the Commission Plan (C) as form of municipal government.

Experiments with the Commission Plan proved that a small council or commission without a Mayor or Single Authority is apt to act like a ship without a rudder. Civic minded and public spirited citizens studied Plan C in operation and went about the task of remedying its defects. As stated last week the main objections were the amateurish administration it produced in too many instances, and no responsible head to integrate the work of the Commissioners. The City-Manager Plan evolved. Analogies were drawn from other fields in formulating what is our Plan D. In a business corporation the stockholders choose a board of directors, which in turn elects its president or chief executive. In our city schools we elect a Board of Education which in turn selects a superintendent of schools, the basis of selection being his ability to perform the duties of the office. Previous training and experience are the most important factors in determining whether he has the necessary ability. A similar principle is applied in the election of a Board of Trustees for the State University. The voters elect the trustees, and the trustees select the President, who is given practically complete control over the personnel of the staff. Thus we find that the appointment of technical officers or experts is left to the Board of Directors or Trustees, and the person selected given rather extensive power and freedom of action in carrying out his work. As we shall see, these fundamental principles are the basis of Plan D—the Mayor-City Council-City Manager Plan.

In Plan D all the powers of the city are concentrated in the Council. The Council is comprised of four members and a Mayor, all elected at large for a term of two years. The Council passes such legislation as may be necessary and has complete control over finances. The budget submitted by the Manager is considered, changed as the Council thinks necessary, and then adopted. From it the tax rate is set and appropriations are made. The Council makes the important contracts and authorizes borrowing. It grants franchises and CONTROLS administration of the city functions by its right to employ and discharge the City Manager and to hold him responsible for the administration of the various city departments. It determines all policies, gives orders to the Manager accordingly, and requires him to carry them out. Thereby policy-making is divorced from the function of administration, and the checks-and-balances idea is completely disregarded.

Moriarty Pleads for Increase in Pensions Of City Employees

A public hearing was held by the Newton Board of Aldermen Monday night on the petition of A. Leslie Moriarty and other pensioned city employees for an increase in the amounts of pensions, under the provisions of Chapter 559 of Acts of 1946.

Mr. Moriarty headed a group of 25 pensioned city employees who attended the meeting. The Act provides that pensions of men retired under the non-contributory system be increased by 20 percent but that the pension not exceed $1000 per year. Mr. Moriarty, asserted that there are only 59 pensions of men whose ages range up to 87 years, who would be affected by the law, and that one of these now receives $7 per week.

Mr. Moriarty, who is 82 years of age, made an eloquent plea in behalf of these men saying: "These men built the City of Newton with the pick and shovel, not with steam or machines, but by hard, hard work. The increased pensions won't cost the city a great deal and these men really deserve anything you can do for them. They always did an honest day's work."

The matter was held in committee subject to later action by the Board.

Newton Army Dietitian Studies Mess Administration

1st Lt. Mary H. Russe is one of eight Army dietitians attending an advanced course in mess administration at Brooke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Texas.

After completion of the two-week course she will return to her regular assignment at Valley Forge General Hospital, Phoenixville, Pennsylvania.

She is the daughter of Joseph R. Russe, 176 Dedham street, Newton Highlands.

Summer Volunteers Still Needed

The Volunteer Service Bureau of the Newton Community Council, a Red Feather Service, still requires volunteers for August to fill the needs of various Newton agencies.

The Volunteer Service Bureau was created to fill the need for volunteers in the city of Newton. It cooperates with all organizations for the benefit of the city as a whole. It has sought and been partially successful in finding and supplying volunteers for work in the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Coffee Shop, as well as typists, drivers, recreational directors for other agencies; but still more volunteers are necessary.

The agencies that need volunteer assistance assure higher standards of living in Newton and aid the community as a whole. As these organizations consistently prove to be good neighbors to all in Newton, so YOU can be a good neighbor by volunteering any spare time you may have this summer to help them.

If you have special talent it can be utilized. There is a volunteer need for every skill. If you have but one or two hours a week to donate or many hours there is a worthwhile and interesting volunteer job waiting for you. It is your opportunity to actively participate in the most necessary of all post-war endeavors—that of showing the world as a whole that the United States is a successful example of democracy at work. Democracy will not function efficiently unless each and every citizen, town and village sets itself to the task of proving that all can work for the common good. This Newton is doing. With the help of the many member organizations of the Newton Community Council this ideal is becoming a reality. But your assistance is needed. Actively participate in making Newton a city of good neighbors. Vol. (Continued on Page 3)

Gordon B. Russell Files as Candidate For School Committee

Gordon B. Russell of 29 Jameson road, Newton, filed nomination papers with the City Clerk on Tuesday, as a candidate for the school committee, seeking election at large from Ward 7.

Mr. Russell has been active in community work for many years. He is associated with the Boston office of Goldman Sachs and Company, bankers. A native of Dorchester he has resided in Newton for 21 years. A member of the Vestry of Grace Episcopal Church, Newton, since 1939 he served as treasurer of the church for two years. He is treasurer of the Family Service Bureau of Newton and of the Newton Council of Churches. He is also a member of Troop 22 Boy Scouts Committee and of the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners of the City of Newton, and a director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association. During the war, he was a member of the Auxiliary Fire Department of the Newton A.R.P., attached to Engine 1.

Mr. Russell has served as residential chairman for Newton in the Community Chest campaigns (Continued on Page 3)

The resignation of Clarence R. Mease, general secretary of the Newton Y.M.C.A. for the past five years to take effect on September 1, has been announced by President Frederick Sayford Bacon.

Under Mr. Mease's leadership the Newton Association has expanded its program especially in boys' activities. Community outposts for boys' work in Waban, West Newton and Auburndale have been established and the boys' membership has increased by 25 per cent. The activities for young men have also been greatly increased for the benefit of the young men who have returned to the community.

While in Newton, Mr. Mease has been active in charitable organizations, serving on the Boards of the Family Service Bureau, Rebecca Pomroy House, and as executive director of the Newton Community Council, all Red Feather Agencies, in addition to his work at the "Y." He also served as chairman of the Board of Religious Education in (Continued on Page 3)

Newton Junior College Admissions Show Increase

Will Accommodate 250 Students This Year; Offers Six Curricula

Admissions to the Newton Junior College are on the increase according to C. Elwood Drake, director. Last fall 165 students were enrolled in the freshman year of instruction. This year the sophomore curricula have been added. The College plans to accommodate a total of 200 to 250 students. Approximately 50 of last year's freshman students have indicated their intentions of returning as sophomores. Applications for admission to the freshman class have been coming in steadily since May and have been carefully considered by the committee on admissions. Successful applicants are being notified of their acceptance as soon as their previous school records can be studied. Applications are acted on in the order of their receipt by the committee and candidates are urged to send them in at an early date.

Applications for admission to the Junior College will be accepted until such time as the enrollment for this coming year is filled. Registration for the new school year for students who have been accepted will be held in the Junior College Library on September 22 and 23.

Chocolates Kept Under Refrigeration At Hahn's Drug Store

Have you at some time or other purchased an attractive box of chocolates, taking it home with pleasurable anticipation or present it as a gift to some one, then find that the confection was dull, stale looking, and messy?

Summer heat plays havoc with candy stored in an ordinary showcase. Merchants who care, have struggled with this problem and solved it.

In Newton Centre, Hahn's Drug Store have overcome the summertime hazards of handling chocolates by installing a Whitman Co. refrigerated candy case, one of the first in this section of the country.

The case, 6 feet long and 5 feet high, is manufactured by General Electric Co. Carl H. Alvord, proprietor of Hahn's Drug Store on Union street stated "It has a capacity of 240 pounds of candy which can be kept at an even selected temperature the year round, thus enabling Hahn's to sell candy during the summer or winter in as fresh condition as the day it left the factory."

The new candy case was installed by Whitman's, manufacturers of quality candies, including the famous Whitman Sampler.

New Director for Red Cross Home Service

Announcement comes from Mr. Charles B. Floyd, Chairman of the Newton Red Cross, of the appointment of Mrs. John A. Chase, 17 Churchill Terrace, Newtonville, as Executive Director of Home Service, to begin her new position on August first.

No one could be better informed than Mrs. Chase as to all phases of Home Service. She has worked in that office of the Newton Chapter since 1941, first as a volunteer and soon after as a paid case worker.

With a background of teaching, Mrs. Chase volunteered full time to the Family Service Bureau during the depression. She received first-hand training and experience under Miss Ruth Chapin, the able General Secretary of the Family Service Bureau at that time. There Mrs. Chase continued to serve until she became connected with the Red Cross. Throughout the war years, she gave countless hours of her time in helping the service men of Newton and their families.

Official announcement has been made by the American Red Cross that specific services now extended to servicemen and veterans and to their dependents will continue to be rendered indefinitely.

Explosion and Fire in Manhole At Newtonville

A fire and explosion in an underground conduit of the Boston Edison Company on Walnut street near the Newtonville square railroad bridge on Friday afternoon caused a gas main to break and resulted in detour of traffic for several hours while repairs were made.

The odor of gas was detected after members of the First Department had extinguished the blaze, which started in a transformer in the conduit and resulted in a blast that blew the manhole cover about six feet off the ground narrowly missing automobiles and pedestrians.

The Fire Department received the first call at 12:41 P. M. and Engine 4 was sent to the scene. The company returned to quarters at 1:50. All electric power in the Newtonville square district was out of commission until repairs were completed in the conduit by Edison employees.

by plane from the Logan International Airport and flew to Chicago. After a short stay there, he continued over the Rockies to Portland. He said his trip was very interesting seeing the different states from the air and the beautiful landscape of our great country.

The Exalted Ruler then left Portland on July 18th and flew to San Francisco where he visited friends in Oakland, California. He left there and flew to Chicago where he had to stay several hours due to a terrific wind and rain storm that was raging down from Canada. After the storm cleared, Veducchio left Chicago and landed at Logan Airport on July 19th after a bumpy and rocky trip.

He was met at the East Boston Airport by several members of the Newton Lodge of Elks.

Rotary Club

A report on the recent Rotary Conference in San Francisco was presented at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club.

The first reporter was Al Hartshorn who spoke on his first trip to the West Coast. He went as far as Denver by plane, went thru the tail-end of a cyclone, but somehow managed to survive a very exciting flight, then on to San Francisco by train. While in San Francisco the Rotarians there took their own cars and piloted the visiting Rotarians to all points of interest about the city. The most valuable part of the Conference was the "Clinics" where the delegates presented their problems and then took away with them a tremendous amount of help and information. If any Rotarian was having trouble it was either because he was not following the Aims and Objects of Rotary or else they didn't have the proper planning for their projects. Al took in Hollywood and all the sights and places of interest there. He returned via Grand Canyon then a day in Chicago.

President Al Hartshorn and his reactions were also most interesting. He emphasized the fraternal spirit that existed among all the visitors and delegates. He commended San Francisco on their hospitality, as all were well treated. Charlie Meeker stated that the greatest value he got out of the Conference was the Acquaintance of people from all parts of the world. There were 15,000 in attendance, and the Conferences are growing to such a size that the housing problem is an outstanding one. Charlie feels that Chicago is the permanent headquarters of R. I. All in all it sounded like one grand Conference.

side of Newton will be accepted as long as there is room for them.

The Junior College will continue to offer six curricula to students—the liberal arts, pre-engineering, general, vocational, technical, secretarial, and business administration. New courses offered this fall will include economic geography, integral calculus, discovering music, introduction to philosophy, American government and comparative government, survey of science, preparation for family life, advertising, marketing, and management of small business.

The results achieved by the students in the first year of the college were most gratifying to the faculty. High honors in scholarship were granted to two students and another 40 students made honor grades. On the basis of their excellent achievement approximately twenty students have succeeded in securing transfer to the sophomore class of other colleges and universities. These include such colleges as Bates, Bowdoin, Springfield, Union, Syracuse, Adelphi, Russell Sage, Boston University, and the University of Massachusetts. It is anticipated that more and more students will take advantage of this local college opportunity to prepare for entrance to other colleges inasmuch as the admissions problem to nationally known institutions is so acute today.

The Newton Junior College is a part of the Newton Public School system and operated under the approval of the State Board of Education and the College Board of Authority. Tuition is charged to meet the cost of operation, amounting to fifteen dollars per credit hour for Newton residents. Application forms and a descriptive catalogue may be secured from Charles H. Mergendahl, dean of admissions, by writing to the college at 40 Elm Road, Newtonville, Mass.

MISS HELEN RANDALL, 44 Fuller street, Newton, was selected to take part in the "Welcome Travelers" broadcast when she was in Chicago on July 7th. The coast-to-coast broadcast is aired locally over station WCOP, Monday through Friday at 12 noon, and any day you may hear your neighbor on the air should he or she be traveling through Chicago.

Elks Joint Sponsors Of Field Day Aug. 16

The Newton Lodge of Elks Youth Committee jointly with the Newton Recreation Department will sponsor a field day for teen agers of all the city playgrounds on Aug. 16, at the Newton High School athletic field.

Nicholas Veducchio, exalted ruler, heads the committee, which consists of Thomas L. McEnaney, John F. Donahue, Joseph W. Chavarley, esteemed L. O. Y. 1 knight, George O'Neil, N.S.N.R., and James Chandler.

The event will open in the morning at 10 A. M. and continue until 5 P. M. Sports events, a doll carriage parade and a soft ball game between the Elks oldtimers and the teen age playground team will feature the day. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served to the children by the Elks.

Wilson Resigns as Recreation Comm'r.

The resignation of Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson, and the appointment of C. Evan Johnson, Newton High School teacher-coach, as his successor was announced on Friday by Mayor Paul M. Goddard.

Wilson plans to retire, but will continue to serve throughout the present playground season, as his resignation will not go into effect until Sept. 12. He and Mrs. Wilson are planning then to move to Antrim, N. H.

Johnson has been a teacher at Newton High School for 11 years, with the exception of several years in the service during the war. He served in the Army Air Forces personnel division and attained the rank of major. Besides serving as a teacher and hockey coach, he was an assistant coach of football. He is married and lives at 9 Proctor street, Newtonville.

Mr. Wilson has been in public service in Newton for 20 years, starting as director of physical education in the public schools. After 12 years in that position, he was appointed recreation commissioner, on Jan. 1, 1940, by Mayor Paul M. Goddard.

His wife is the former Virginia Luce, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Frank L. Luce, formerly of Dorchester.

Among his supporters is State Representative George E. Rawson, who filed the nomination papers in his behalf. In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Russell asserted that he has always been interested in civic affairs, especially in the School Department.

Republican Clubs to Hold Moonlight Sail

Plans are nearing completion for every Young Republican Club in Massachusetts, and the Republican Club of Massachusetts, for the ninth moonlight sail which will take place on the night of August 4.

With Mrs. Meredith Chute of Beverly at the helm, the general committee has chartered the S. S. Pilgrim Belle for the trip around Massachusetts Bay. The ship will leave India Wharf, Boston, at 7 and dancing and deck games will be enjoyed throughout the evening. The ship will dock at 11 o'clock, in time for out-of-towners to get home at a reasonable hour. Each young Republican Club president has a local committee cooperating with the general committee.

He leaves Newton to take the position of general secretary of the Scranton, Pennsylvania Y.M.C.A., an Association about double the size of that in Newton.

Mrs. Mease has also been active in Newton serving in the Women's Auxiliary of the Newton "Y" and during the current year as president of the Rebecca Pomroy House.

It is a real loss that the family must leave Newton, but every good wish for a successful career and full life in their new location goes with them.

Bunker - Neill

At an 8 o'clock candlelight service in the Plymouth Congregational Church, Belmont, Saturday evening, Miss Flora J. Neill of 61 Brantwood road, Arlington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Neill, was wed to Malcolm F. Bunker, 28 Lakewood road, Newton Highlands, son of Everett L. Bunker of Newton. Rev. John P. Fitzsimmons performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a bluish pink satin gown with a long train and long veil falling from a duchess lace coronet which matched the neckline of duchess lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Marjorie E. Neill, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were, Priscilla Hallett of Newton, Janet Alken of Georgetown, Virginia Ringberg of Cambridge, and Barbara Clahane of Belmont. Marcia Lee Kelloway of Georgetown was the flower girl.

The attendants were gowned in pink jersey and carried bouquets of pink and blue snapdragons and delphinium.

The bridegroom's brother, Richard E. Bunker, was the best man, and the ushers were, Robert H. Neill, William Rangnow, Alan Talley, all of Newton Highlands, and Herbert Ross of Watertown.

The bride was graduated from Belmont High School and Chandler Secretarial School. Mr. Bunker attended Newton High School and Wilbraham Academy and was a member of the Fifth Ranger Battalion in Europe during the war.

Pomeroy - Preble

Mrs. Irma R. Preble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Rowley of 285 Tremont street, Newton, was married on Sunday afternoon to Richard W. Pomeroy of 1195 Longmeadow street, Longmeadow, at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Pomeroy.

Rev. Eugene Bushong of the First Church of Christ, Longmeadow, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Preble's former husband, Pvt. Edward H. Preble, Jr., of Malden, was killed in action in France in December, 1944. They had been married over three years, and have a son now four years old.

Mr. Pomeroy is a student at Northeastern University. He served with the Army in Trinidad during the war. The bride was graduated from the Boston Dispensary Laboratory and is a medical technician.

Miss Phyllis Prior of Natick was the maid of honor, and the best man was Frederick Baldwin of Springfield. The bride wore a tailored rose crepe dinner gown with a picture hat trimmed with horsehair, and carried a corsage bouquet of white stephanotis. The maid of honor wore a flowered organdy gown and picture hat and carried sweetheart roses. The bride's mother was dressed in a magnolia crepe with blue stripes, and the bridegroom's mother wore a beige silk and lace suit.

Recent Marriages

Adams - Norris

The Rev. Randolph S. Merrill of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, where the bride had been secretary for the past two years, officiated Saturday, assisted by the Rev. Walter E. Wyman of the Congregational Church of Westhampton, at the marriage there of Miss Jeanette Aurella Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Norris, to Mr. John Edwin Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Adams of Newtonville.

The bride wore a white marquisette gown with a train, lace bodice and long, lace sleeves. With the bridegroom's mother's veil, she wore an heirloom lace coronet trimmed with orange blossoms, and she carried white roses. Her sister, Miss Elizabeth Norris, as maid of honor, wore orchid marquisette and carried yellow roses and ivy.

In bustle gowns of pink, blue, yellow and green organdy, the bridesmaids were the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Philip J. Norris, with her cousins, Miss Mary G. Edmonds of Accomac, Va., Mrs. Percy W. Fuller, Jr., of Middlebury, Vt., and Mrs. Donald K. Williams of Middletown, Ct. Two other cousins of the bride, Elizabeth and Christine Clapp, were flower girls, wearing blue and yellow organdy. They carried colonial bouquets of forget-me-nots, yellow rosebuds, sweet peas and baby's breath. The bridesmaids carried gladioli, lilies, carnations and ivy, to match the flowers in their hair.

Mr. George B. Curran of Brookline was best man. The bride's brothers, Mr. Philip Norris and Mr. Robert Norris, ushered with Mr. David B. Eddy and Mr. E. Lawrence Chamberlain of Newtonville.

A reception on the lawn of the Norris homestead followed the church ceremony, which took place before the white colonial pulpit against a background of white birches, cedars, hemlock boughs, and rambler roses. The bride and the bridegroom, who attended Wesleyan University and served in the Navy, will live on Crafts street, Newtonville.

Crane - Penhallow

Miss Louise Harrison Penhallow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherburne Penhallow, Jr., of 1935 Beacon street, Waban, was married to Dr. Chilton Crane, son of Rev. and Mrs. William Merriam Crane of "Morning Face," Richmond, Mass., on Saturday, July 19. The four o'clock ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's father on the terrace at "Morning Face."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a period gown of Brussels lace belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Nazro of New York City, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath. She was attended by Mrs. Richard C. Harrison of Marblehead as matron of honor, who wore a gown of aqua lace and carried a Colonial bouquet of tallman roses. Deborah and Gail Graves were flower girls.

Gordon Crane of Richmond, was best man for his brother.

The bride attended Miss Carroll's School and was graduated from the Beaver Country Day School. She made her debut in the 1942-43 season and is a member of the Junior League.

Dr. Crane attended the Fessenden School and prepared at Phillips Academy, Andover, for Yale University. He was graduated from the Harvard Medical School in 1938 and is now a surgeon on the staff of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and the Aesculapian Club of Boston. During the war he served three years in the Army in the Southwest Pacific.

On their return from a wedding trip to New Hampshire, Dr. and Mrs. Crane will reside in Brookline.

Parker - Collens

In Christ Church, Tunbridge Wells, Kent, England on Saturday, July 19, Miss Priscilla Standish Collens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terry Collens of 190 Dudley road, Newton Centre, was married to Lt. David Ewart Parker of the Royal Navy.

The bride was given in marriage by Commr. H. Ewart Flint, Royal Navy, O. B. E., uncle of the bridegroom. She wore a gown of white silk with pearl embroidery and a long gold train, and her veil of lace was caught to a wreath of orange blossoms. Her attendants, Miss Nanette Cripser, cousin of the bridegroom, and Miss Eleanor Souby, wore gowns of turquoise taffeta with gold headresses.

Major Robin Flint Parker of the Royal Engineers, was best man for his brother. The ushers were headed by Cadet Officer Hugh Cripser.

The bride was graduated from the Beaver Country Day School in 1945 and made her debut the same year.

After a wedding trip to Boxhill, Surrey, Lt. and Mrs. Parker will make their home in Devenport, Plymouth, England, while he is stationed there at the Royal Navy Barracks.

Hart - Hamilton

Miss Ruth F. Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm A. Hamilton of 154 Parmenter road, West Newton, was married to Landrick F. Hart of Arden, N. Y., on Saturday afternoon July 19 at the home of her parents.

Rev. Alan L. Blacklock of the First Presbyterian Church, Waltham, performed the ceremony. The bride wore a white gabardine suit and carried a prayer book and white orchids and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart left on a trip to Vermont and Pennsylvania. The bride was graduated from Boston University. Mr. Hart, a graduate of Trenton High School, Trenton, N. J., served in the Navy three and one-half years in the European area.

Recent Deaths

Henderson Inches

Henderson Inches, 61, retired treasurer of the John Richardson Company, importers, and former Newton alderman and state representative, died on Friday July 18 at his home, 41 Middlesex road, Chestnut Hill.

Born in Boston, he was graduated from Noble and Greenough School and Harvard College, class of 1908. During the first World War he served overseas as a major in the field artillery. Later he became associated with the importing firm, retiring in the early 30's. He served as alderman of Newton for 11 years, and was elected to the state legislature for the 1945-46 term. He also was a former director of the Farwell Mills and Farwell Bleachery. He was a member of the Harvard Club of New York and Boston, Exchange Club, Somerset Club and Longwood Cricket Club.

He leaves his wife, the former Elizabeth Ayer; two daughters, Mrs. Harrie Rogers Chamberlain and Miss Susan Brimmer Inches; a son, Henderson Inches, Jr., and a sister, Mrs. Henry Seton of Concord.

Services were held Monday at Bigelow Chapel, Mt. Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, with Rev. Kenneth C. Gessner of the First Unitarian Church, Chestnut Hill, officiating. Burial was in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Many city officials including members of the Newton Board of Aldermen attended the services.

William J. Gerity

Funeral services for William J. Gerity, husband of Florence L. (Bryson) Gerity, were held Wednesday morning from his home, 16 Omar terrace, Newtonville. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated in the Church of Our Lady by Rev. Charles H. Bryson of the Church of the Most Precious Blood, Hyde Park, assisted by Rev. Joseph Cronin of St. Theresa's Church, Weston as deacon and Rev. Arthur I. Norton, sub-deacon.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham with prayers by Fr. Bryson.

Mr. Gerity died on Sunday, July 20 following a long illness. He was in his 56th year and was born in Newton, the son of the late John and Nora Gerity. He had been employed for a number of years as a railway clerk.

Besides his wife he is survived by two sons, William J. Gerity, Jr., of Newtonville and John F. Gerity of West Roxbury and four daughters, Mrs. Bernard M. Coen of Cambridge, Miss Lillian M., Miss Dorothy A. and Miss Marjorie A. Gerity, all of Newtonville.

Louis A. Duolos

Funeral services for Louis A. Duolos, husband of the late Margaret A. (Regan) Duolos, were held Wednesday morning from his home, 48 Windemere road, Auburndale.

A solemn requiem mass was celebrated in St. Bernard's Church, by Rev. John J. Crane, S.T.L., assisted by Rev. Walter J. Doyle of St. Philip Neri Church, Waban, as deacon and Rev. Robert P. Brennan, sub-deacon.

Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline, with prayers by Fr. O'Donnell.

Mr. Duolos died on Sunday, July 20, following a long illness.

He was in his 82nd year and was a retired general sales manager of the Plymouth Rubber Company.

He was born in Boston the son of Euzebie and Agnes (McGonagle) Duolos and had lived in Newton for many years.

He leaves a son, Howard Duolos of Marshfield and two daughters, Miss Agnes A. and Miss Louise M. Duolos, both of Auburndale.

William T. Jones

William T. Jones of Newtonville died suddenly of a heart attack early Saturday morning at his residence.

Mr. Jones was treasurer and director of Barnes and Jones, Inc. He was born on Peake's Island, Me., 64 years ago. He was a graduate of the Lowell Institute School of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He is survived by his widow, Freda; a daughter, Mrs. Rodman Flinchbaugh of Newton; a son, Howard S. Jones, a student at the University of Maine; a grandson, Richard Flinchbaugh, and by his mother, Mrs. P. M. Jones of Peake's Island, and a brother, Colonel Clifford R. Jones of the U. S. Army stationed at Washington, D. C.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Newton Cemetery Chapel.

Aldermen Vote Funds for Sewer Street and Drain Construction

Miss Ellice Appointed Temporary City Treasurer

An appropriation of $165,000 was made by the Newton Board of Aldermen for sewer construction for Dorset road, Locke road, Metacommet road, Quidnic road, Holly road, Larch road, Nonaire Circle, and Pickwick road, also Private lands, Day street to Moffat road, off Dorset road and off Pickwick road. Other appropriations made were $60,000 for construction of Waverley avenue from Franklin street to Ward street, 3600 feet; $40,000 for construction of Newtonville avenue, from Harvard street to beyond Howard street, 2800 feet; $4,000 for the widening of Dedham street, from Wiswall road, 900 feet; $2,800 for a drain on Mill street from Centre street to Edmonds Park; $705 for extension of the water main on Russell road, Ward 3; and $800 for the extension of the water main at Billings Park, Ward 7; $565 for additional sewer construction on Shady Hill road, Ward 5 and $175 for additional sewer construction on private land on Shady Hill road.

A recommendation from Mayor Paul M. Goddard that a hydrant be installed at the Pine Street dump, Ward 4 at a cost of $1620, was held in committee. Eleven streets recently completed were accepted by the Board of Aldermen in order that assessments may be made on the abutters under the General Laws. They were Dunklee street, Ipswich road, Terrace avenue, Wenham road, Manchester road, Kingman road, Beverly road, Hickory Cliff road and Hemlock road, all in Ward 5; Oakmont road in Ward 6 and Gambier street, Ward 4.

On the recommendation of Mayor Goddard, Deputy Collector Laura R. Ellice was appointed temporary city treasurer by the Board in order that she may sign checks and perform other duties of the treasurer, Clarence C. Colby, who is ill at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The appointment of C. Evan Johnson, teacher-coach at the Newton High School to succeed Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson, as recommended by Mayor Goddard, was placed on the table until the next meeting in accordance with the rules of procedure. Commissioner Wilson will retire in September.

Following a public hearing a petition of Edwin S. Webster for a license to keep, store and use gasoline at 40 Woodman road, Ward 6, 1000 gallons maximum at any one time, to be stored in an underground tank, for private use only, was granted by the Board, there being no opposition. Public hearings were also held on the following:

For construction of drain and sewer, taking land therefor, etc., Upland road, extended southerly to Pine Ridge road, Ward 5.

For construction of drain and sewer, taking land therefor, etc., Ridge road, from Carlton road, southwesterly, Ward 5.

For construction of sewer in Nod Hill road, from Upland avenue, to Druid Hill road, Ward 5.

For construction of sewer in Brush Hill road, from Druid Hill road, to Dedham street, Ward 5.

For construction of sewer in Druid Hill road, from Nod Hill road to Brush Hill road, Ward 5.

For laying out, grading and acceptance of streets under the provisions of law authorizing the assessments of betterments, with cement curbing:

Russell road from Cherry place to beyond Sylvester road, Ward 3.

Sylvester road from Cherry street to Russell road, Ward 3.

Oakdale road from accepted portion to Walnut Hill road, Ward 5.

Old Farm road, from Brookline street to Longmeadow road, Ward 5.

Street betterment assessments were approved for Fuller terrace, West Newton and Kodaya road, Waban, and sewer assessments were approved for Fordham road, West Newton.

Drawn for jury duty to serve in the opening Fall terms were John H. Gordon of Auburndale and Joseph T. Walker of Chestnut Hill to serve in Lowell at the first criminal session on Sept. 3; John W. Kreisel of Newton Centre and Arthur E. Snyder of Waban, to report on Sept. 8 at Cambridge for duty in the first civil session; Edward Dodge Murphy of Newton Highlands and Francis J. Roman of Waban, for the second civil session in Cambridge on Sept. 8.

The Board accepted the recommendation of the Planning Board and granted the petition of Samuel W. Poorvu for the change of his property on Lyman street from residential to business zone in order to provide parking space and a rear entrance to a block of stores being constructed on Langley road, Newton Centre.

The Board granted the petition of Abraham Ginsburg to subdivide his lot at 204 Concord street, Ward 4, to permit a 45-foot frontage. Alderman Donald L. Gibbs objected to the granting of the variance on the grounds that it may be a bar to the future development of nearby property for residential purposes. Alderman Kenneth D. McCutcheon, chairman of the claims and rules committee, denied that the

Red Cross Aquatic Demonstration At Crystal Lake Witnessed by 500

Newton Girl Scouts Quabbin Day Camp

More than five hundred spectators watched boys and girls of Newton's Water Safety program demonstrate all phases of the course of instruction. The event took place at the swimming area at Crystal Lake in Newton Centre under the direction of Miss Claire McCarthy, assisted by Miss Phyllis Moran and Miss Virginia Murphy.

Throughout the afternoon explanations were given by Miss McCarthy on the various events, explaining how and when each skill is used. Starting off with the Beginners, the affair went on with the work of the Intermediates. This class is especially important, according to Miss McCarthy, as all children must pass these requirements before swimming out to the large raft. Safety precautions are stressed at all times.

Advanced swimming consists of the development of coordinated strokes for the side, crawl and breast strokes demonstrated by one hundred yard swims. Rescue work in life-saving was also shown, including the location of a submerged victim, bringing him to the surface and carrying him to safety.

Mr. Frank E. Dowdett, chairman of the Newton Red Cross Water Safety Committee, and Mr. F. Ewing Wilson, Commissioner of the Newton Recreation Department, were guests of the afternoon. Under Mr. Dowdett's direction, ice-cream for the participating children was supplied by the Red Cross, and topped off the afternoon.

change would be a bar to such development and the Board acted favorably on the request.

The Board ordered one-hour parking for the south side of Commonwealth avenue from Centre street, to 620 Commonwealth avenue. A public hearing was ordered for Aug. 18, on the question of changing Bower street to a two-way road barring parking on both sides of the street. A hearing was ordered for the same time on the question of no parking on Algonquin road, from 116 Algonquin road to Waban Hill road.

The Board refused to reconsider unfavorable action on the petition of Zella Buchingham for a rest home for four persons at 15 Moreland avenue, Newton Centre.

Similarly the Board refused to act on the petition for reconsideration of Mildred B. Kredenser, 33 Walbridge street, Allston, for a license to deal in second hand articles in Newton.

Max Ulin was granted a waiver of the zoning law to permit the erection of a garage on Ferncroft road, Waban, 21 feet from the lot line, instead of the required 25 feet.

The next meeting of the Board will be on Monday, August 18.

USDA tests show that a dime's worth of DDT, used as a spray for flies on cattle, produced an additional 100 pounds of beef.

Newton Girl Scouts Quabbin Day Camp

During the last 12 years, over 1,300 Newton youngsters have enjoyed the Day Camping program sponsored by the Newton Local Council, Girl Scouts, Inc., a Newton Red Feather service. But no group of campers in the past have enjoyed the various former sites at Cedar Hill, Riverside Recreation Grounds, and Edmonds Park as much as these 1947 campers are enjoying the new site on a section of the Camp Mary Day property, now called Quabbin Day Camp.

The Quabbin site has a snug cottage for shelter on rainy days, shade trees for hot sunny days and a real babbling brook and two bridges. The swimming program is conducted on the waterfront of Camp Mary Day, a short walk from the Quabbin site.

The director, Miss M. Josephine McDonough, Newton field director, and Mrs. J. Bernard Geagan, camp committee chairman, both report that all campers are happy and that 3:15, the time to leave to meet the buses comes all too soon for campers and staff.

Planning for all camp activities is done by the staff, the director and the campers jointly. Twice weekly, the camp council made up of representatives meet with director. Serving for two weeks are: Bluebird Unit, Sandra MacNair, Newton Highlands; Judith Varley, West Newton; Bubbling Brooklets, Alice Anderson, Newton Lower Falls; The Robins: Elinor Weeks, Newtonville; Chipmunks: Ann Blanchard, Newton Lower Falls. Ann Blanchard has been appointed by the council as chairman for the special investiture ceremony to be held on Thursday to welcome Miss Anne F. Millan into membership in the Girl Scout organization.

Miss Millan will receive her Girl Scout pin. She is serving on the staff of the camp this season as waterfront director. Wednesday was the annual visiting day and open house, for all parents and friends who visited the site to see the campers in action. No special program was planned and visitors were free to wander around, watching whatever activity they wished. The usual schedule of swimming, crafts, music, cooking-out, games and nature study was continued. An unusual bit of program undertaken at the camp is the new International project sponsored by the National Girl Scouts (the idea originating with the Massachusetts Girl Scouts under the leadership of Mrs. Horace F. Moulton of Needham, called "Treasures for Pleasure." Chests of toys, repaired and repainted, books, games, balls or any one of the number of things which delight the hearts of children are being collected at camp. Special articles for the boxes are being made in the arts and crafts classes. These boxes will be sent by our Newton Girl Scouts to the children of Europe. Beyond the vital needs of food and clothing are other needs. A toy could start a dream for a better tomorrow.

New campers who will join those already attending Quabbin on next Tuesday are: Louise Baker, Carol Dunleavy, Delores Fox, Donna Glidden, Janet Goldrick, Dorothea Goudas, Ann Gough, Sheila Gough, Brenda Haywood, Toby Hoffenberg, Janet Kochenderfer, Linda Lomasky, Leslie McNutt, Elizabeth Merrill, Mary Louise Merrill, Judith Michelson, Nancy Moir, Elaine Pionti, Marjorie Pionti, Marie Precious, Carolyn Rothwell, Anne Shaw, Mary Ann Simcock, Elizabeth Zeigel.

Kiwanis Club

"It Seems To Me" was the title of James P. Gallagher's address, Wednesday, at the Newton Kiwanis Club's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. Normal government is a business proposition, he declared and inasmuch as the salvation and future of our country is in hands of the 'common people', it should be made a point to lend courage, advice and encouragement to those who represent us.

Everybody's positive, the reports of favorite commentators and columnists, propagandists, plus a tendency to believe everything that appears in print, is developing a mass habit of letting the other fellow do our thinking for us, continued the speaker. A city such as Newton, with a population of more than 80,000 and estimated by steadily increasing figures to be well on its way to the 100,000 mark, should have a daily newspaper in which every activity, especially municipal, county and state would be brought to the attention of every reader.

In this manner, Mr. Gallagher continued, limited information that is responsible, often, for poor governing bodies, due to errors or indifference of the voting public, would be replaced by accurate, timely and complete coverage of a city's local affairs. Mr. Gallagher pointed out the fact long distance newspaper reporting is not accurate or timely.

KIWANIS NOTES

With Alfred Gagne at the piano, the 60 Kiwanians attending the meeting, sang 15 old time ditties without pause. Songleader John Janse had an easy day. . . . Alton Greene and Charles Hildred rendered solos. . . . Leo Brehm, organist at the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, guest of Carl Alvord and John Fairfield, guest of Charles Foster, attended the meeting. . . . Mark Hopkins reported the Newton Kiwanis Club's progress in preparing for the mammoth Kiwanis Circus to be held at Suffolk Downs, Boston, August 18-24. . . . Police Chief Veduccio recounted his experience while attending the Portland, Oregon Kiwanis Club's luncheon. The Club, he said, is obtaining jobs for all veterans that avail themselves of its services. . . . Program Director Charles Hildred announced that Professor Paul Picors, Mass. Institute of Technology Labor Relations Director, will be next week's speaker.

Red Cross Assumes Nat'l Blood Program

Newton citizens who recently gave such fine support to the visit of the State Bloodmobile Unit will be interested to know all of the recent adoption of a National Blood Program, according to a statement from Mrs. F. Brittain Kennedy, Blood Donor Chairman of the Newton Red Cross. Mr. Basil O'Connor, President of the American Red Cross, announces the appointment of Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, wartime Surgeon General of the U. S. Navy and formerly White House physician, as director.

The goal of this new Red Cross activity will be the provision of blood and its derivatives, without charge for the products, to the entire nation. Mrs. Kennedy points out. This is the most far-reaching health program in the peacetime history of the Red Cross. Mr. O'Connor says it is being undertaken in direct response to the urgent need of the medical profession for blood in the saving of life as well as in the treatment and prevention of disease.

From three to five years will be required before the full benefits of the program can be extended to the entire citizenship of the nation. At its peak, when it will reach every community in the land, an estimated 3,700,000 blood donations will be needed annually.

"The American Red Cross is an agency mobilized for action in emergencies and disasters," Mr. O'Connor explained. "The need for blood is a continuing day-by-day emergency, involving costs beyond the ability of the vast majority of people to meet. Moreover, in time of national emergency the program would be functioning immediately to meet the needs of national defense, both military and civilian."

"The American Red Cross is extremely fortunate in having the services of Dr. McIntyre in launching this program," Mr. O'Connor added. "His long and outstanding career in safeguarding the health of the U. S. Navy, and his familiarity with the blood plasma program of the Red Cross in World War II, combine to make him an ideal choice for this important task. As a national leader in his field, Dr. McIntyre has the complete confidence of the medical profession and hospital authorities."

"My family will have $100 a month income"

"I wanted to provide protection in terms of income for my family while my children are young. So, I bought $5,000 of low-cost Savings Bank Life Insurance with FAMILY INCOME BENEFITS. Together with estimated Social Security benefits in case I should no longer be here, this would assure $100 monthly income until the children are grown up. And, when monthly payments cease, my wife would receive $5,000."

FAMILY INCOME policies are issued in units of $1,000 of "Straight Life" insurance, combined with sufficient decreasing term insurance to provide $10 a month income to your family after your death for a period up to 20 years from date of issue. Here are some examples of the low premium rates.*

Family Income (per month)	Death Benefit (end of 20 yr. period)	Monthly Premium (at age 30)	Maximum Benefit Possible
$10	$1,000	$2.33	$3,400
50	5,000	11.65	17,000
100	10,000	23.30	34,000

*These rates apply during 20 years from date of issue during which Family Income Benefits are provided. Thereafter, only straight life insurance premiums are payable.
Sample age only. Rates for other ages and other types of insurance on request.

CITY'S FIRST MODEL PLANE MEET AT HIGH SCHOOL FIELD THIS SATURDAY

Entrants to Contend for State Championship In Speed, Stunts, etc., A. M. A. Sanctioned

What promises to be one of the outstanding sports events in Newton this season, will be the Model Plane meet at the High School Field Saturday, August 2, from 10 A. M. to 6 P. M. The meet is being sponsored by the Newton Chamber of Commerce, The Newton Graphic, Newton Transcript and the American Legion.

More than 300 model plane flyers have signified their intention of entering the meet, including entries from New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maine and New Hampshire.

The famous Ernie Babcock father and son team will fly from New Jersey, weather permitting, in the Aerocoupe which they won in the Daily Mirror model plane meet in New York last year. Scores of prizes are being offered in various contests during the meet.

The Newton Graphic Trophy will be awarded to the plane having the best lines, finish and appearance. The Newton Transcript will award a like trophy in the speed contest. 6 model motors and innumerable plane kits are included in the prizes.

A record number of spectators is expected at the meet and extensive preparations have been made to handle the crowds. The Newton Recreation Department will rope off the field. The public will enter the field at the Grand Stand Entrance while contestants will enter from the school drive-way. A special parking place for them will be provided and adequately policed.

The plane beauty contest will be judged late in the afternoon.

Oak Hill Association Recommends Improvements

In their recent report the Oak Hill Improvement Association announces that many new families are moving into that part of the city and that activities which were more or less in a state of suspension during the war years, are now progressing.

A new program of supervised play at the Oak Hill School playground on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, sponsored by the Newton Community Chest, will start with the Fall session. A group of residents headed by Mr. Donald Hill of 24 Solon Street is engaged in a campaign to raise the necessary funds to pay for a supervisor.

The Association also announces that the Newton Board of Health has deferred a decision at least

Massachusetts Ideal Vacationland

With the 1947 summer vacation season approaching its half-way mark, the Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission suggests that this would be an ideal time for Bay Staters to talk more about Massachusetts as a vacationland.

Massachusetts businessmen will gross better than $100,000,000 in summer tourist trade this year. Those dollars circulate through everybody's hands. The bigger the return, the greater the prosperity in Massachusetts; that's of prime importance to all of us. How can we sell Massachusetts individually? We can write to Aunt Susie in New York, or to Uncle Bill in Ohio, or to those old friends we haven't seen for some time. We can tell them about the unexcelled vacation opportunities this state offers. Tell them about our beaches, our lakes, our rolling Berkshire Hills and historic landmarks for which the Bay State is noted.

Every bit we do to help lengthen the vacation season means more money in our pockets. This year the Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission is planning an all-out campaign to bring vacationists here to see the beautiful autumn foliage, to enjoy September and October golfing and sailing and to engage in salt-water fishing derbies off our coast. A majority of the resort hotels will remain open this season at least until mid-September with many of them planning to keep their doors open well into October.

Now that war-time travel restrictions are relaxed, Americans are going places in greater numbers than ever before. Other vacation resorts are making a strong bid for their business. It's important that Massachusetts does the same, if this state is to get its fair share of vacation dollars. Everyone of us can help by inviting our friends and relatives to enjoy the natural blessings which Massachusetts offers, and by making their visits here pleasant and memorable.

Miss Lucas Assigned To Red Cross Post At Lyons, N. J.

Assignment of Netta S. Lucas of Newton, Mass., as an assistant field director on the staff of the American Red Cross at the Veterans' Administration hospital at Lyons, N. J., was announced today at the North Atlantic area Red Cross offices in New York.

Her assignment was one of a number announced in the expanding program of Service to Veterans which now staffs 110 veterans hospitals throughout the nation.

Although the Red Cross is cutting down its program of services to the Armed Forces in proportion to the decrease in the army and navy, the veterans' program has increased broadly. There are now approximately 105,000 hospitalized veterans to whom the Red Cross offers services of professional staffs and more than 10,000 trained and organized volunteers.

An assistant field director, Miss Lucas will assist in the supervision and development of the Red Cross Volunteer services at the veterans' hospital.

Miss Lucas has been employed by the Red Cross since May, 1945, serving in the Philippine Islands and Japan.

She attended Newton high school and Edgewood Park Junior College, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y. Before becoming affiliated with the Red Cross she was a secretary at the Harvard Medical School and previously was employed by Nichols & Company, Inc., and the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

power was in his hands or in the hands of the council. There are likes and dislikes which are typical American institutions, such as our apple pie, our Saturday night baked beans and brown bread. Our like for personal leadership is in the group. We have a President of the United States, a Governor of the State, a Mayor of the City. The Mayor's office was brought back in Plan D, but shorn of powers and with little influence. Many feel this is a defect. Some cities have added a few additional duties to the office of Mayor to build it up.

The City Managership is a position of esteem and importance. The Manager is the one who is before the public making reports. The Mayor appears at formal municipal functions, but the important man is the Manager. This is seized upon to argue that the City Manager may make himself a political leader.

The City Manager is the council's expert adviser; may attend council meetings, make recommendations; drafts the budget, directs the administration, and sees that the budget and all other laws and ordinances are properly carried out. His position is designed for freedom from political impact. He should not attempt to determine general programs and policies, although tactical suggestions to the Council are always well received. However, there have been cases where a city manager has succumbed to the spell and openly stumped for the political party of his choice, and has tried to dictate policies to the Council.

Once more we find the human elements working, which is in the power of the people to control—the Council controls the Manager, and the VOTERS control their Council.

Another argument advanced as a serious drawback is the lack of qualified city managers. In the early years this may have been true, and the selections were confined mostly to the engineering fields. Now the public service field furnishes good managers, and the City Managers have their own organization, the International City Managers' Association, which is helping to build up a supply of professional administrators. Through its annual conventions, publications, research and training courses, professional standards and professional spirit are being developed. Professionalism has also been furthered by training programs and "promotions" from small cities to larger cities, and by the use of under-studies as assistants to the Manager.

As a rival plan certain of its failures have and will be enlarged upon, but the real reasons for the failure will be obscured. As the purpose of these articles is to make the reader do some outside thinking on matters concerning his local government, we shall elaborate on a few that space permits. Upon consideration of the cases the reader cannot help but see that it is mostly the human elements, the Plan is designed to guard against, and which were deliberately sacked, that are responsible for the failure, and not the Plan itself.

Another thought to be borne in mind in comparing results in other cities is that throughout the cities the plan varies as to the power of the Council to confirm appointments made by the Manager, physical makeup of the area; and in the manner of the election of the Council, viz:

City Manager Plan with Council elected at large
City Manager Plan with Council elected by wards
City Manager Plan with Council elected wards and at large
City Manager Plan with Council elected by proportional representation (Plan E)

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI. Kansas City adopted the City Manager Plan, but at the same time maintained Boss Pendergast in power. He did not actively oppose the change from the mayor-council form, but contented himself with the shrewd plan of controlling the government established under the new system. The city manager was of his selection and one who would not vigorously oppose his domination of the Council. Civic groups continued to try to break his machine and even the Governor of Missouri declared war on him. It took the National Government to clean up the situation and then only slowly. First through federal investigation and prosecution of the election frauds, through all of which Pendergast still maintained his hold over the Council. It was not until the spring of 1939 when he was sent to the federal prison for income tax evasion that a clean sweep could be made. Present reports show that the city is now competently operated under a first class manager and is pulling out of the bad situation left by the Pendergast regime.

In Massachusetts, Fall River and Waltham gave Plan D a brief try. The Depression is blamed for its failure in the textile city of Fall River which adopted it in 1928. Industries had moved South, relief load was rising, city indebtedness had mounted to about ten million dollars, the cost of government had risen several million over previous costs. Plan D was opportunistically presented and adopted, catching the politicians napping. They got busy at election time, however, and result was that Plan D's proponents had elected 2 councillors and the Politicians 3. A local politician was chosen as manager, and for 2 years the mayor and 2 associates on the council dominated the situation. Thus every safeguarding feature of the Plan was ignored. Conditions became worse and state control went in in 1931, during which time the manager plan functioned only nominally. Several years later changes in the council took place and an able city engineer put in as manager. The city was gradually coming back by 1934, but at this time the forces that had opposed the manager from its inception were ready with a petition to exchange Plan D for Plan A the strong mayor-council form. This time it was the voters who were caught napping. Commentators on the situation stated that the change was due to reasons "purely political" "not due to defects in the system, but because the politicians wanted it thrown out," "the 'pols' who were pushed away from the public crib took advantage of the lethargy of the 'good element'."

Waltham tried out Plan D for a four year term (1918-22). When it was abandoned there was no question of the honesty or efficiency of the officials chosen under the Manager Plan. Several reasons were suggested but Former Manager Beal explained that the supporters of Plan D "considered the plan so firmly established that no campaign was undertaken in opposition to the proposal to return to Council-mayor form of government. This coupled with a failure to vote on the part of a large number of the satisfied citizens, resulted in a change."

NOTE: ONCE A NEW PLAN HAS BEEN ADOPTED IT MUST REMAIN IN FORCE AT LEAST FOUR YEARS.

Next week's article will start on Plan E which is the City Manager Plan with elections by Proportional Representation.

W. C. Fanning Named Deputy Chief Of Newton Fire Dept.

Capt. William C. Fanning, a member of the Newton Fire Department for 14 years, has been appointed a Deputy Chief of the fire department. Announcement of his appointment was made last Friday by Chief John L. Keating who acted with the approval of Mayor Paul M. Goddard.

With the adoption of the 70 hour week in the fire department last year a third deputyship was created and to fill this position a civil service examination was held recently. Capt. Fanning topped the list of five members of the department who took the examination. Since the third deputyship was created Capt. Thomas M. Enegess has been acting deputy. As he is within a few years of the retirement age Capt. Enegess did not take the examination.

Deputy Chief Fanning was first appointed to the department on June 18, 1933 and on Feb. 2, 1943 was promoted to Lieutenant. He became a captain on Aug. 8, 1943 and was stationed at Engine 2 where he is to remain as deputy.

He has resided in Newton for 20 years, is a member of the Newton Retirement Board and chairman of the Newton Municipal Employees Committee, as a member of which he led the movement for the adoption of the State Contributory Retirement Act which went into effect on July 1. He is also a member of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady's Church, Newton, and a director of Our Lady's Athletic Association.

He resides with his wife and their daughter, Jean, a senior at the Newton High School, at 25 Lewis street, Newton.

Although his new appointment is effective as of August 3, he will not assume his duties until he returns from his vacation on August 12.

Restaurateurs Join State Assoc.

Albert F. Bonazoli of the Beacon Restaurant and Mrs. Edith A. Simpson of Simpson House both of Newton Centre, are numbered among the new members of the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, according to an announcement just made by John W. Stokes, President of the Association.

The Massachusetts Restaurant Association, one of the leading established trade associations, is affiliated with the National Association, and has as its purpose the improvement of the restaurant owners business knowledge and protection of his business investment, plus the opportunity of enjoying more business friendships and sharing in the progress of the industry. In addition to John W. Stokes, of Newton, President; the other officers are: Andrew S. Sells, Vice President; Miss Anne D. Zebal, Secretary; and D. Joseph Sheehan, Treasurer.

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note).

Political Candidates

It is obvious that some of the politically-minded gentlemen throughout Newton are getting a bit restive, due to the failure, to date, of a flat announcement by some of the sitting Aldermen that they either will or will not run for reelection.

The most interesting bit of news recently was the long-awaited statement by Alderman John E. Barwise of Ward I that he was retiring at the close of this year after completing thirteen consecutive years of service. He has served for a longer period than any other sitting Alderman.

Coincident with the Barwise announcement came one from Alderman Edward A. Fahey to the effect that he would run for Alderman-at-Large this coming fall. This is a common procedure and is being followed by Ward Alderman Julian D. Anthony in Ward 6, who seeks to fill the place which will be vacated by the president of the Board, Joseph B. Jamieson, Jr., who, like Barwise, is an Alderman-at-Large.

When the new Board of Aldermen takes over next January, along with the new Mayor, "The Man Called X," it will represent the end of an era, so far as your columnist is concerned. I shall make a detailed check of the figures in January, but I think it is safe to say that the average length of service of the incoming Aldermen will be the lowest in many, many years. It is questionable whether this is good business for the city government. It seems such a short time ago that we were watching Charles B. Floyd presiding noiselessly over the meetings of the Board. Men like Clarence C. Colby, George E. Rawson, Benjamin J. Bowen, Clifford H. Walker and the late Henderson Inches were only a few of the Aldermen who were in the midst of long and very useful terms of service.

Plan E

The more I read about Plan E the more I incline to the belief that it is quite possibly a grand thing for a city like Cambridge, which used to have one of the worst groups of professional politicians running the show over there, to put into effect. The results appear to be most impressive from practically every angle. But, Newton is very, very different. We have never suffered the humiliation of having our Mayor in jail. We do not have to apologize to anybody for the record made by our schools, judged by state and national standards. The point which worries me, however, is the painfully obvious fact that the establishment of Plan E in Newton would inevitably result in a perfect legion of candidates for the new Council. Reason: the job would be a paid job.

My readers know just as well as I do that this financial inducement would NOT be conducive to the same type of high-grade citizens whom our citizens have hitherto drafted for the Aldermanic office. Look over the list of names in my opening paragraph and decide for yourself how many of these busy men of affairs would care to get out on the street corner and match their political debating skill with some scrappy young lawyer who has everything to gain and nothing to lose by lambasting the well-known businessman or lawyer and making a tramp out of him. Let's remember that this city is something big and important with a wonderful history behind it. We spend many millions of dollars yearly and we cannot afford the luxury of having too many "wise-guys" who think that they know all the answers sitting on the Board of Aldermen.

Our Congress

Congress adjourned at the precise moment which it set for itself several weeks ago. It only goes to show that Congress can do what it really wants to. I wonder what the veterans of world war two are thinking about the housing situation at the moment. Nothing of the slightest importance was done by Congress to help improve the housing situation, either for the veteran of the recent war or for the civilian population. Neither do I recall that our State Legislature made any imposing contribution toward solving the urgent housing problem. If we are going to blame one legislative group it is only fair to blame the other. What puzzles your columnist at this juncture is this: starting with Pearl Harbor, this country has undertaken all sorts of apparently impossible assignments, especially in the field of production. Even the late Mr. Roosevelt's most bitter enemies will concede that he was right and that they were wrong when he used to make estimates for plane production, tanks and many, many other vitally-important pieces of equipment. The United States made one of the most brilliant production records in world history. And yet, now that the shooting has been over for more than two years, we find that we are still asking the men who won the war for us to live in attics, basements, trailers, garages, dog-houses, tents, and even, temporarily, in a jail.

What's the matter, you Congressmen? You passed considerable hasty legislation for certain business interests, but you were disgustingly slow in connection with housing, education and health legislation. Let's have a little action on these vital matters at the next session.

DINING with JANE and BILL

Bill—Boy, do I ever like this chili sauce! Believe I'll have some more. Is this the last of it, Jane?

Jane—Yes, until I make some this summer. This is the same recipe Mother uses, but it's one which I gave her this time.

Bill—Where did you get it?

Jane—The recipe came from a leaflet called "Vegetable and Fruit Products," published by the Massachusetts State College Extension Service, at Amherst. The Newton Nutrition Center also has copies for free distribution.

Bill—Is that where you learned to make your apple jelly? And the vegetable soup mix?

Jane—Yes, from this leaflet, plus some good counsel from the nutritionist at the Nutrition center. She has answered so many of my questions.

Bill—Will you have to use your pressure cooker to follow the directions from this leaflet?

Jane—Oh, no. Jams and jellies require little cooking in the jar. The sugar acts as a preservative, and a short cooking in a boiling water bath to insure a complete seal is all that's needed after the food is in the jar. The pickles and relishes require only slightly longer cooking by this same method, too.

Bill—Well, Jane, why don't you give all husbands a treat to some delicious chili sauce by sharing this tested recipe with the other women?

CHILI SAUCE

1. Wash, peel, core, and run through food chopper enough tomatoes to make two quarts after cutting. Use the coarse cutter.
2. Prepare green and ripe sweet peppers to give $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of each after chopping with food chopper, using medium cutter.
3. Prepare $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of chopped onion using medium cutter.
4. Mix with all these vegetables, $1\frac{1}{4}$ tablespoons of salt.
5. Put in a spice bag containing 1 tablespoon of ground cinnamon and $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon each of ground clove and allspice.
6. Boil moderately fast with constant stirring until reduced one quarter.
7. Add $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of vinegar and $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of sugar.
8. Boil rapidly with constant stirring until reduced about one-half or until as thick as desired.
9. Pour into clean, dry jars.
10. Seal jars.
11. Process $\frac{1}{2}$ pint or pint jars for 5 minutes in boiling water.
12. Remove from boiler, cool, and store.

Chief Justice Field Retires From Supreme Court

Chief Justice Fred Tarbell Field of 36 Fairmont Avenue, Newton who served for 18 years as a member of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts and as chief justice since 1938, announced his retirement in a letter to Governor Robert Bradford on Wednesday of last week, to become effective on the following day.

In his reply Governor Bradford wrote "It is with deep regret that I have received your resignation as Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, effective July 24. You have well served the people of Massachusetts, both as an associate justice and later as chief justice of that distinguished court. During your tenure as chief justice the court has ably maintained its pre-eminence among the courts throughout the country."

"As you enter upon retirement I wish to express to you the gratitude and appreciation of your fellow citizens. May I add my own personal best wishes for the many years of leisure to which you are so richly entitled after a life of devoted service to your profession and to the public."

Youngsters Complete Red Cross Swimming Courses

During the summer months the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross is conducting Water Safety Courses for Children and Adults at Crystal Lake and Auburndale. Those who have successfully completed the courses this week include:

Beginners, Crystal Lake—Marie McIsaac, Katherine Melia, Richard Walsh; Auburndale, Jean Walsh, Mildred Ferrara, Dorothy Lamb.

Intermediate, Crystal Lake—James Burke, Charles Kelly, Arthur DeStefano, Camp Wilson, William Hungerville; Auburndale, Phyllis Muldoon, Audrey Kenna.

Junior Life Saving: Louise Murphy, Mary Crean, Carl Harterius, William Stober.

Allison Beach, Nonantum Closed Temporarily

Allison Beach, Nonantum which was closed by Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson on the advice of the Newton Health Department because of a high bacteria count, still remains closed.

Samples of the water at the beach will be analyzed in the laboratory of the Newton Health Department every other day and as soon as it is found that the pollution has cleared up the beach will be open again for bathing.

Tests of safe beaches are taken weekly by the Health Department and all others in the city have so far been declared safe.

Mrs. Selby Attends Methodist Church Conference in Ind.

Mrs. Howard W. Selby of West Newton is one of an estimated 100 leaders in the Methodist church Women's Division of Christian Service who is attending the annual national seminar, July 24 to August 6, at DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind. "Status and Responsibility of Women in the World Today" is the theme of the conference this year, co-sponsored by the church department of Christian Social Relations and Local Church Activities and the Committee on the Status of Women. Addresses on women's status and responsibility in Latin America, Europe and the Orient were presented July 25 by authorities and natives of these areas, including Mrs. Carmen D. Lazado, wife of the Bolivian representative to the United Nations, Miss Violeta Cavallero of Uruguay, and Mrs. Angela Ramos, wife of a member of the Philippine legation in Washington.

Discussion July 26-28 opened with "Women in Politics," an address by Mrs. Jean Murrell Capers, assistant prosecuting attorney, Cleveland, Ohio. Women in economic life, women and the family, and women and the church are discussion topics scheduled to be considered during remaining days of the seminar.

Delegates will carry information back to their local conferences and jurisdictions for further consideration by church women.

NEWTON IN THE PAST

From the Files of The Newton Graphic

55 Years Ago, July 29, 1892

The weather has been the main subject of conversation this past week, and it is probably the hottest week Newton has known for many years. The mercury has been over the ninety point every day and except for the east wind of Thursday, the heat has been very uncomfortable. Nevertheless, other places have been hotter and even at the shore the mercury has been higher, so Newton was comparatively comfortable. The heat has been by westerly winds, but such a long continuance has been debilitating, and it has seemed to be very fatal to young children. The lawns about the city show the effects of the hot sun and the long drought, and but for the abundance of city water they would look even worse, as hose has been used freely. In other places water is not so plenty and the use of hose has been restricted. The recent addition to our water supply has proved of great value this summer, as the street sprinklers and the sewer department use several hundred thousand gallons daily.

NEWTONVILLE—Mr. G. W. Morse's stylish pair ran away from his stable on Court Street, Tuesday, with a valuable carriage, and overturned with the vehicle in Waltham. The horses cleared and were caught shortly after the capsize. The pole was broken, the horses scratched, and the carriage somewhat damaged.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS—Those who should know say the electric cars will be in operation in about ten days, and if our citizens feel as demonstrative as they did after the granting of the overhead system of propulsion, it is about time the band was engaged for the initial trip beneath the trolley wire. The poles are about up and two-thirds of the wires for the support of the trolley wire are in position. The car trucks are at the new house waiting for the cars, which are all ready, and the car house itself is sufficiently advanced toward completion to house the cars.

The electric cars are certainly a blessing to babies, and on every trip one discovers several of these small atoms of humanity, who appear to enjoy the breeze in the cars even on the hottest day and come home refreshed by the trip, as well as the mothers and nurses. There is no prettier street car ride in the vicinity of Boston than from Newton to Waltham, and the great number of ladies and children who take it this hot weather shows what a benefit it is to Newton. Our local fresh air societies could not do more good than furnishing free rides to those who cannot afford it although fortunately we have very few such in Newton.

50 Years Ago, July 30, 1897

NEWTON—The depressed tracks, when completed will throw out of employment permanently, the gate tenders of eight street crossings. Faithful men they have been, and the means saving many a life in the days of the deadly grade crossings.

NONANTUM—A hundred new hands have been taken into the Nonantum Mills and times are beginning to look brighter.

AUBURNDALE—The capsizing of a party of four canoeists Saturday evening resulted in much excitement. The party consisted of two ladies and two gentlemen and it was when about leaving Norumbega park that they all received a thorough ducking. The canoe was righted, however, and all was well until they reached the floating wharf at Riverside. As soon as landed safely one of the ladies had a violent attack of hysterics which for a time caused much commotion.

Appointed Supt. of Nurses at Worcester County Sanatorium

Miss Alice W. Marsh of West Newton has been appointed superintendent of nurses at Worcester County Sanatorium in Worcester, according to Dr. Edson W. Glidden, head of the County Hospital for treatment of tuberculosis.

Miss Marsh was former superintendent of nurses at Memorial Hospital. She will take over her new duties in September.

Miss Minnie E. Sands, superintendent of nurses at Boylston since 1922, will retire August 1 and return to her former home in Indianapolis, Ind.

Organist Receives Farewell Gift

Rev. Burton B. Smith pastor of the First Methodist church, presented a gift of money on behalf of the members of the church and congregation to Mrs. Margaret Hartshorne Remond who is retiring as organist.

Mrs. Remond has been the organist of the First Methodist Church for the past 18 years. The presentation was made by Mr. Smith at the morning service on Sunday July 27.

The Senior Choir at their morning rehearsal presented Mrs. Blanche Greenway Allen a gift of Costume Jewelry on Sunday. Mrs. Allen is retiring as choir director.

Lovelands, and the gratitude of the Newton Girl Scouts and their parents is expressed in the dedication of "Loveland Cottage."

The ceremonies included a short playlet, "The Tenant" by Virginia Alcott, a chorus of Quabbin and Camp Mary Day Campers, and as grand finale the hanging of the sign "Loveland Cottage" by Dr. Loveland. Participating in "The Tenant" were Landlord, Yvonne Lee; two girls, Deborah Drake and Janet Goswell; Girl Scout, Nancy Goldman. The chorus sang preceding the ceremony while the guests were gathering and sang "The Blessing of the House" by Anna Hempstead Branch and George Newell while Dr. Loveland hung the sign.

The dedication was under the direction of Miss Mary Browning, Dramatics Counselor for Camp Mary Day assisted by Mrs. Charles E. Anderson, Dramatics and Music advisor at Quabbin.

The many individuals who have assisted the Lovelands at Camp Mary Day and to whom the Newton Girl Scouts express their appreciation are: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Crandall, Mr. James L. Kirwan, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Swanton, Jr., Miss Ursula Hayden, Mrs. J. Bernard Geagan, Mr. William F. Hollings, Mr. John H. mentation of Mayor Paul M. Goddard.

Recommendation for the construction of the assembly hall was made by Commissioner Campbell at the request of the Library trustees who had been urged to take the step by civic organizations including the Auburndale Women's Club and the Parent-Teachers Association. It was pointed out that there was no assembly hall in the village except that of the Auburndale Club and that the proposed hall would fill a public need.

The plans call for the construction of a new entrance on Auburn Street in addition to the one on Ash Street. Exposed terra cotta walls are to be plastered, a new asphalt tile floor is to be laid and a wood platform built. The work will also require relocation of the present wall in the basement to provide additional space for the hall. Work on the project is to be started within a short time.

B.U. Opens Public Relations School
In September

President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University has announced that in line with its tradition of pioneering, Boston University will open this fall, September 1947, the first School of Public Relations in any American university. Dean Howard M. LeSourd, of 206 Waverley avenue, Newton, formerly dean of Boston University's graduate school, and more recently dean of radio and visual education, will be the dean of the School of Public Relations which will be composed of four distinct divisions with a competent and experienced person as a director of each unit, namely, journalism, radio, motion pictures, and speech.

In his announcement President Marsh revealed that while each of these fields represents an area of concentration and even specializations, constituting vocational opportunities in and by themselves alone, so complex have become our modern business enterprises that the combination of all is the well rounded background for the Public Relations man who wishes to carry out an adequate promotion, even for small time organizations.

Scholarship—

lege authorities announced, today.

The full scholarship awarded by the trustees of Boston college, as a result of competitive examination, provides for the five-year program combining academic studies with the basic professional nursing course. Graduates of approved secondary schools who fulfill credit requirements may enroll this fall. Applications for admission must be received by August 15, and entrance examinations will be held at the school headquarters, 126 Newbury street, on August 27.

The disastrous floods of 1947 should be a lesson that would induce farmers, land owners and states to build more farm ponds and lakes.

LASSIE, whose three stellar motion pictures have endeared her to the American public, has added radio acting to her list of accomplishments when she starred in a new series over WCOP, which began Sunday, June 8. until Fall, on a petition of the Riverside Cemetery Association for a cemetery near the West Roxbury line.

On June 19 on a petition for change of zoning on Winchester Street from A to B and C, at which members of the Association and several abutters appeared in opposition, the Board granted the petition in part only, allowing a small portion of the land in question to be classed as C zone.

The efforts of the Association over several years to further mosquito control is beginning to bear fruit, the Eastern Middlesex Mosquito Control Project being now underway with breeding spots in the district being marked and some actual work being done.

Other recommendations of the Association which have been presented to the Planning Board of the City of Newton include: A fire station at Oak Hill to be erected at the earliest possible time. The site for a fire station has been fixed and the Fire Department has already developed plans: The repairing, resurfacing and elimination of dangerous curves; and traffic control such as STOP streets, SLOW signs and SCHOOL signs. Also that the Planning Board and Board of Aldermen zealously guard against rezoning to lower standards, and that school grounds, parks, sidewalks etc. be cared for. It is also recommended that adequate appropriations be made to permit the City to participate fully in the Eastern Middlesex Mosquito Control Project.

Mr. Taylor's closing plea was for the promotion of individual understanding among all peoples. We should open our homes to other races and nationalities as represented by their students in our schools, that we may understand their ways and problems and that they in turn can have a better understanding of us.

The next meeting of the Newton Rotary Club will be August 4 at the Brae Burn Country Club. "Jo" Limric will be the speaker.

Before 1799 the U. S. Senate held secret meetings only.

Rotary Club

The speaker at Newton Rotary, July 28, 1947 was Kenneth Walsham Taylor of Lytham, St. Annes, England and Past President of the Colombo, Ceylon, Rotary Club. He served on the Western Front in World War I as an officer in the Durham Light Infantry. For twenty-two years he managed rubber and tea plantations in India and Ceylon and he was Governor of the ninety-first Rotary District in those countries. Mr. Taylor has visited many Rotary Clubs in England, Europe, Japan and the U. S. A. He is now retired, making his home in England and is a member of the Rotary Club of Lytham, St. Annes, England.

Jim Bryant introduced him to the Club.

Mr. Taylor spoke of an experiment in international understanding which he helped promote and with which he was closely associated for many years. He was referring to the Rotary Club of Colombo, Ceylon, composed of about one hundred members representing twenty-three different races and religions, including Mohammedans and Hindus. About ten years constant effort was required to compose the differences in beliefs, traditions and customs and to surmount the racial and religious barriers before a genuine fellowship was developed.

The club luncheons were a problem. The orthodox Hindus were vegetarians, the more liberal Hindus could not eat beef or veal and the Mohammedans were denied pork. As a solution, a colored card was given each member to signify the diet he was to be served.

In the early days of World War II, the Colombo Club felt it should make some contribution to Britain's war effort. With an objective of raising $10,000, the group staged a carnival in which all the members participated. The splendid outcome was the earning and donating of $40,000 by the whole-hearted, friendly cooperation of all the races and creeds involved.

Among other accomplishments of the assorted group in the Colombo Rotary Club were the opening of their homes to the crews of a flotilla of mine sweepers, and the complete rehabilitation of a neighboring village that was diseased, filthy, vice laden, and utterly degraded. In the latter project, the village streets and homes were cleaned, medical service provided, a religion restored and crafts and sports promoted. The crowning achievement was the building, by the inhabitants, of a community center from materials provided by the Colombo Club.

Mr. Taylor's closing plea was for the promotion of individual understanding among all peoples. We should open our homes to other races and nationalities as represented by their students in our schools, that we may understand their ways and problems and that they in turn can have a better understanding of us.

The next meeting of the Newton Rotary Club will be August 4 at the Brae Burn Country Club. "Jo" Limric will be the speaker.

Before 1799 the U. S. Senate held secret meetings only.

Kiwanis Club

The guest of Charles Hildred, Professor Paul Picors, M.I.T. authority on management-labor relations, addressed the noon meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club, at the Y.M.C.A., Wednesday.

According to Professor Picors, little is known of the Taft-Hartley Act's efficiency as yet. Time and litigation will prove its benefits to management and labor and likely will bring two possible developments to a head—one of them good, the other not so good, he said.

At this time, he continued, responsible unions and business establishments are trying to make collective bargaining work. The effect of the act was good although some powerful unions, accustomed to power methods, seem unwilling to assist, and the situation may well develop "power politics."

It was his opinion, he said, that on the defensive because they realize public opinion is against them, some unions will rush to their highly paid lawyers and a clash for power will be the result of the legal holiday ensuing, with a more or less disregard for the country and the consumer resulting.

The country's good unions, he concluded, are intelligently realizing the necessity for fair collective bargaining and are doing all in their power to "straighten out the entire labor-management tangle."

Kiwanis Notes . . . Newton Kiwanians will be working nightly at the Kiwanis Circus, Suffolk Downs, August 18-24 . . . Aubrey Clapper's birthday was celebrated at this meeting . . . Pat Lambro, Wellesley; William J. Theriault, Frank East and George Hopkins, Needham, were guests of the club . . . James Riggs announced an inter-club meeting with Brookline Kiwanis, August 12.

Newcomers Club

Mrs. Byron Pierce opened her home on Friday, July 25, to the Newcomers Club of Newton for their regular semi-monthly meeting. After a delightful picnic lunch in the garden, a short business meeting was held, followed by an afternoon of bridge.

New members for the month were Mrs. Loring Litchfield, Mrs. Walter Bird from Rockland, Me., and Mrs. George Wilson, Norwich, Conn. The winners at bridge were Mrs. Roy C. Rook, Mrs. Paul M. Herbert, Mrs. Carl F. Humphrey and Mrs. Walter Engel. There will be no meetings for the month of August. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph P. Maloney, at Old Billerica road, Bedford, Mass., on September 5, 1947.

Chimney Struck

Richard Arlen At Boston & Cambridge Summer Theatres

Broad-shouldered, handsome Richard Arlen is being starred this week at The Boston Summer Theatre (air-conditioned New England Mutual Hall) in the hilarious comedy "The Man In Possession" for the week of July 28—August 2 with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

"The Man In Possession" is the laugh-filled comedy about the scapegoat son of a well-to-do British family who obtains a job as a sheriff's officer to regain the good graces of his father. But complications arise when the young man falls in love with a wealthy widow to whose home he is assigned. The widow happens to be the fiancée of the young man's brother. What finally results when these complications rise to a boiling point makes one of the zaniest comedies ever presented in summer theatre history. Richard Arlen will be making his Boston stage debut with this comedy and the advance interest in the production indicates that his week here in Boston will be a popular one.

Reservations for Richard Arlen in "The Man In Possession" may be made at the box office of The Boston Summer Theatre, Filene's and KEN 2038.

At The Cambridge Summer Theatre this week of July 28—Aug. 2, summer theatre audiences are experiencing two and a half hours of thrills and chills thanks to the theatre magic of Bela Lugosi starring at the Cambridge Summer Theatre in "Dracula" the famous vampire thriller. Critics and public alike have hailed Bela Lugosi's performance in "Dracula" as one of the exciting experiences in the American Theatre today.

Closed since the fire, which damaged store and merchandise five weeks ago, Dudemaine's women's shop will reopen under new ownership on Friday, August 15, at the same location, 270 Centre street, Newton Corner.

The new owner, Robert Kemelgor, comes to Newton with a background of many years experience in the women's wear field, having been associated for 15 years with two of New York's larger department stores. He is a member of leading fashion guild organizations which keep their members informed and up-to-date on advanced styling and new merchandising ideas.

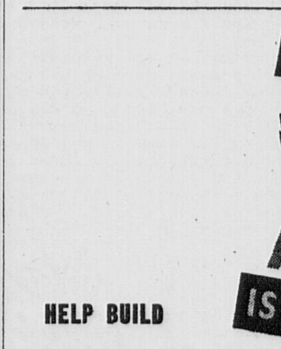

The store has been thoroughly renovated and remodeled, all old merchandise has been removed. Mr. Kemelgor has just returned from a buying trip to New York and Chicago so that Dudemaine's will reopen with a completely new stock of the very latest fall styles in ladies' suits, coats and dresses as well as millinery, handbags, lingerie and accessories.

Mrs. Dudemaine will be in attendance for the first two weeks to greet her former customers and introduce them to the new management.

Four varieties of soil are recognized in the state of Arkansas.

Scholarship Winner Lauded On Her Role In Wellesley Play

Boston, July 29 — Catherine Metcalfe, winner of the Yankee Network Institute scholarship to the Wellesley Summer Theatre and Workshop is currently receiving excellent notices for the fine way in which she played her part in the Pulitzer Prize-Winning play, "State of the Union."

Formerly a legal reporter on the New Britain Herald (Conn.), Miss Metcalfe was cast as Lulu, belle Alexander in "State of the Union" which stars Richard Arlen, noted personality of stage and screen. The Wellesley audiences, critics and theatre group all agree that Miss Metcalfe does an excellent characterization of the wife of a Southern judge.

Following the opening performance of "State of the Union" Richard Arlen was asked what he thought of the acting ability of Miss Metcalfe, his reply was: "Miss Metcalfe is a very talented actress and one from whom we shall probably hear a great deal. She has a sense of comedy timing which is rarely found in a student of drama, it should take her far in the acting profession. Appearing with her has been a pleasure which I hope will be soon repeated."

Eldon Winkler, Director of the Wellesley Summer Theatre and School heaped more praise on this talented young actress by saying, "Miss Metcalfe is one of the most talented students I have ever been my pleasure to direct. The Yankee Network is to be congratulated for having discovered her, for she is indeed a 'find'; and the opportunities which they are now offering her to receive integrated professional theatre training at the Wellesley Summer Theatre and School is something of which they may well be proud."

Don Messenger, drama critic for the Christian Science Monitor wrote glowing words concerning "State of the Union" and had this to say concerning Miss Metcalfe, "The amusing role of the Judge's wife, Lulu, belle Alexander, was carried off very successfully by Catherine Metcalfe."

Miss Metcalfe along with other students, is enjoying the golden opportunity of working and appearing with professional actors and actresses at the Wellesley Summer Theatre and School. It is believed that this venture, under the direction of Eldon Winkler, is the first of its kind in the country.

Prior to the opening of the Wellesley Summer Theatre and School, Linus Travers, Executive Vice President and General Manager of the Yankee Network, became interested in the project. Through the Yankee Network Institute, Mr. Travers sponsored an essay contest on "Why I Like The Theatre." After judging the thousands of entries received, Wellesley College and Theatre directors awarded the scholarship to Miss Metcalfe.

Gardeners, Florists, To Rally At Waltham

On next Wednesday, August 6, several hundred market gardeners, fruit growers, nurserymen, florists, arborists, and amateur gardeners will be greeting one another in Waltham at the eastern branch Experiment Station of the University of Massachusetts. The occasion is the Annual Field Day which has been conducted the first Wednesday in August for the past 25 years.

The Waltham Field Station was established in eastern Massachusetts by the Boston Market Gardeners Association, the better to serve the growers of horticultural crops in this section of the state. Sixty acres of land, two greenhouses, several offices and laboratories, and a complete equipment facilitate the work of research and demonstration. The staff is composed of men especially trained in the various branches of horticulture in which their investigations are the most useful.

Hundreds of commercial growers and home gardeners visit the Field Station throughout the year in search of information pertaining to their commercial enterprise or for help in the beautification of the home grounds, or to request demonstrations of tools and machinery.

A complete assortment of gardening tools and machinery will be on display. Tractors, motor cultivators, hand cultivators, weedeaters, seeders, sprayers, dusters, several different makes of irrigation systems, and all manner of equipment necessary in modern gardening will be at the disposal of visitors for actual trial under practical conditions. If it is up-to-date, it will be there.

Specialists will be available for personal consultation on plant diseases, insect pests, soil fertility, greenhouse management, and other problems of the grower. Bring samples of disease and insect injury for diagnosis.

The flower gardens at the Waltham Field Station contain several hundred varieties. These plants are all plainly labeled in such a way that the visitor can make a list and purchase plant materials from nurseries for his home.

The Field Station lies to the northeast of Waltham Center, between Waverley and Waltham hours are from 10 o'clock to 4 (Route 60) on Beaver Street. The o'clock. Last year 1,500 people came, saw a lot, learned something and had a good time.

Buddy Ebsen For Wellesley Stage

BUDDY EBSEN

As the fourth attraction of its five week season, the Wellesley Summer Theatre will present Buddy Ebsen, well known stage and screen comedian, in the Broadway smash hit of several seasons back, "The Male Animal," with Lawrence Fletcher. Opening on Tuesday evening and continuing nightly thru Saturday, this hilarious comedy of college life will be shown in Alumni Hall on the Wellesley College campus. Eldon Winkler is director and Robert MacKichan is designer.

Buddy Ebsen is well known to millions of movie fans who have seen him in such films as "Ziegfeld Follies of 1933"; "Broadway Melody of 1933"; "Born to Dance"; "Broadway Melody of 1938"; "Banjo on My Knee"; and "Yellow Jack." On Broadway he has been seen in many hits ranging from Ziegfeld's "Whoopee" with Eddie Cantor in 1928 to last year's successful revival of "Showboat." Others of his stage hits are "Yokel Boy" and the smash farce "Good Night Ladies" which ran in Chicago for three years, breaking all records.

During the war, Ebsen was Executive Officer on a Coast Guard patrol frigate operating in the Alaskan Sea Frontier. His only public appearance during this time was a war bond show in Seattle which sold more than twelve million dollars worth of bonds, an all time record for a single performance as acknowledged by the Treasury Department.

One or more farm ponds or lakes on every farm would enhance the value of the farm and help control disastrous floods.

Payne-Walley

Mrs. GEORGE DWIGHT PAYNE

Large cybotium ferns and bouquets of white roses and snapdragons formed the background in the Second Congregational Church in Newton, West Newton, on Saturday afternoon, July 26th when Miss Gladys Amelia Walley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Henry Walley of West Newton and Princeton, became the bride of Mr. George Dwight Payne of East Brookfield, Mass., son of Mrs. Charles Noyes Payne and the late Mr. Payne of East Brookfield. The Rev. Joseph A. Sisk of Newton Centre officiated. A family reception followed in the Young People's Parlor of the church.

The bride wore her mother's gown of cream-colored Chinese silk, heavily embroidered with roses, which was cut in train and trimmed with Brussels lace and American Indian needle lace. A crown of her, loom Rose Point held her chapel-length veil of French illusion net, and she carried a cascade bouquet of cream roses and gypsophila. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Among her attendants was Miss E. Mary Payne of East Brookfield, maid of honor, who wore a droned Grecian gown of pink satin matching those of the four bridesmaids but differing from them in her cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses with millets to match. The bridesmaids carried cascade bouquets of spring flowers and wore millets matching their gowns, while all attendants wore Grecian crowns of laurel leaves.

Mrs. Herbert H. Walley wore a gown of aqua crepe with a V-shaped corsage of talisman roses at the neckline and a floral hat, while Mrs. Charles N. Payne wore an ashen of roses chiffon gown, a champagne straw and horsehair hat and a corsage of roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara J. Burton of Chevy Chase, Maryland; Miss Doris L. Hayward of Newton Highlands; Mrs. George M. McCrillis of East Brookfield; Miss Helen L. Payne of East Brookfield. Ushers for the ceremony, at which Mr. Philip E. Terry of East Brookfield was best man, were Mr. Charles E. Anderson of North Brookfield; Mr. Samuel B. Field, Jr. of Greenwood; Mr. George M. McCrillis of East Brookfield; Mr. John R. Cronen of Montague.

After a wedding trip through New England, Mr. and Mrs. Payne will reside in East Brookfield.

Miller-Weston

In the Pilgrim Church, Duxbury on Saturday afternoon, July 26, Miss Thalia Weston, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Thomas Weston of 56 Valentine street, West Newton and Duxbury, became the bride of James L. Miller of Fairfield, Connecticut, son of Mrs. W. J. H. Miller. Dr. J. Edgar Park, president emeritus of Wheaton College and Rev. Cary Franklin Hall, pastor of the Pilgrim Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a long train and a 100 year old heirloom veil. Her bouquet was of white gladioli and sweet peas. She was attended by her cousin, Helen Bird Loring of Newton Centre, as maid of honor, who wore a gown of pink taffeta and carried lavender gladioli. The bridesmaids were Mrs. John P. Danforth, sister of the bride, of Covington, Kentucky and Mrs. Thomas S. Boerke, sister of the bridegroom, of Bucksport, Me. They wore gowns of light and dark aqua and carried yellow gladioli.

Alan Thompson Wenzell of New York City was the best man. The ushers were Don R. Ross of Quincy, John P. Danforth of Covington, Kentucky, Thomas S. Boerke of Bucksport, Me., and Albert Gruenwald of Grosse Pointe, Michigan.

The reception was held at Brewster Bluff, summer home of the bride's parents, after which the couple left on a wedding trip to New Hampshire and Maine.

The bride was graduated from Vassar College in 1944. Mr. Miller, who is a graduate of Yale, 1943, is a chemical engineer.

Keegan-Costa

Miss Catherine Eleanor Costa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Costa of 61 Prescott street, Newtonville, was married to Robert James Keegan, son of Mr. Michael L. Keegan of 29 Broadway, Newtonville on Sunday afternoon, July 27, in the Church of Our Lady, Newton. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur I. Norton. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride wore a princess gown of white satin and marquisette. Her long veil of tulle fell from a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli with an orchid center. She was attended by Miss Elvira E. Costa as maid of honor, who wore pink net and carried lavender gladioli. The bridesmaids, Miss Florence Cedrone and Miss Mary DePrilla were gowned in blue and carried gladioli. Frederick Leo Gregor was the ring bearer.

Laurence Keegan was the best man and the ushers were Gerardo Cedrone and Nicholas Joseph Costa.

Mr. and Mrs. Keegan are both graduates of the Newton High School. Mr. Keegan served with the Army in Hawaii for four years.

Rousseau-Jewett

Miss Joanne Jewett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Jewett of 64 Webster street, West Newton, was married to John Rousseau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rousseau of 180 Jewett street, Newton, on Saturday morning, July 26, at 9 o'clock in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Robert Brennan.

The bride's gown of white organdy was fashioned with an embroidered bodice and ruffled skirt. Her long veil was fastened to a cap of seed pearls and she carried a white orchid on a mother-of-pearl prayer book with orchids on the streamers. She was attended by her sister, Miss Emily Jewett, as maid of honor, who wore frosted ice blue organdy and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Albert Frechette of Newton was the best man. The ushers were James Jewett, brother of the bride, Hugh Powell of Waltham, and Roland Rousseau, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the Hotel Beaconsfield, Brookline, immediately following the ceremony.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of the Newton High School. During World War II he served for three years on a P.T. boat in the Pacific as a member of the U. S. Navy.

Clara Barton, first president of the American Red Cross society, held that position from 1881 to 1904.

John J. Morrissey

Lawrence S. Mayo

Word has been received here of the death of Lawrence Shaw Mayo of 257 Chestnut street, West Newton, at his summer home Wolfeboro, New Hampshire, on July 23.

Mr. Mayo was born in Newton, June 26, 1888 the son of Lawrence and Helen Isadore (Merrill) Mayo. He received his A. B. degree from Harvard University in 1910 and his Master's degree in 1911. From 1911 to 1916 he was assistant in history at Harvard University, and was assistant dean of Harvard College from 1916 to 1919 and from 1924 to 1927. Since 1927 he had been assistant dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences.

He was trustee of the New Hampshire Historical Society, a member of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Historic Society, Phi Beta Kappa, the Republican and Unitarian Clubs and the Harvard Club.

He was the author of a book on the career of John Wentworth, last Colonial governor of New Hampshire, and was owner of part of the Wentworth estate. He also had written other books and was editor of America of Yesterday.

Frank G. Willson

Funeral services for Frank G. Willson of 76 Madison avenue, Newtonville, are to be held at the Central Congregational church, Newtonville, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Willson died on Tuesday, July 29. He was in his 69th year and was a native of Montana. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1903 and received his master's degree from the University of Illinois in 1913. From 1905 to 1913 he taught electrical engineering in Illinois and in 1913 came to the Wentworth Institute where he was instrumental in developing the electrical engineering courses and was head of the electrical department. He also collaborated in the writing and revising of many electrical textbooks.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lynn (Corbett) Willson and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Adams of Watertown, Conn.

Robert J. Devlin

Funeral services for Robert J. Devlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Devlin of 1001 Watertown street, West Newton were held this morning from the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Finney of 233 School street, Waltham. A high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Bernard's church, West Newton at 9 o'clock. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Mr. Devlin who was in his 28th year died on Monday, July 26, at the Union Hospital in Framingham where he was taken on Sunday night suffering from injuries received when he slipped and fell under the wheels of a train at Framingham.

A former sergeant in the Army Air Forces, he took part in more than 30 missions over Europe with the Eighth Air Force and was awarded the Air Medal with five Oak Leaf Clusters.

NEWTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

FIRE PREVENTION SERVICE

Repeated and disastrous explosions of grain dust, the blowing up of mills and grinders and the injury caused to the employees by the inhalation of dust particles have resulted in more attention being paid to the necessity of removing and separating dust from the air in connection with many processes.

There are two general classes of dust, those of fire hazard properties and those involving health of the employees. Some dust is in both classes.

Dust of fire hazard characteristics are those produced in connection with the processing of vegetable or animal origin; it also includes metallic dust if finely ground.

Mineral dusts seldom have a fire hazard and, in fact, most of them are effective extinguishing agents, but dust from coal, which is classed as a mineral, is highly explosive in proper mixtures with air. These mineral dusts, especially those of a gritty nature, cause various ailments, especially those to the nose, throat and lungs. Some also are harmful to the skin, or may definitely poison persons.

The above introduction could be expanded indefinitely as many volumes have been written on the hazards of dust, especially applying to health. As in prevention work in other industries, these two factors—safety to life and safety to property—go hand in hand.

Dust and lint producing appliances must be provided with suction removal systems. Such appliances include grinders, buffers, sanders, gins and similar machinery for the pulverizing or separation of products; also those appliances or systems where in the handling of the material dust clouds are liberated.

It is necessary to judge from watching actual operations, or to tell from the amount of dust present on floors, machinery and other places, as to whether a dust hazard condition must be cared for. One of the principal features of an exhaust or blower system is the question of getting rid of the material collected. It must not be done by discharging the material above the roof or underneath the floor. Some of these materials in their finely divided state, are subject to spontaneous heating.

The hazard of these collecting systems is severe, because of danger of sparks and of spontaneous heating. They often involve cloth as the filtering medium. Because of the hazard, which includes that of explosion, these collectors should be located outside the building. When inside they should be inclosed in non-combustible housing. Where dusts are handled in considerable quantities these vents must be of sufficient size to take care of explosions and must be short, with direct and straight opening to the air.

Dust explosions can happen in the home or apartment building due to several causes. One of the most common causes is the throwing of dust into the incinerator shaft which has been collected from the floors. The various dust particles while descending in the incinerator shaft may form a combustible mixture which can be ignited by a spark and will explode with great violence. Be safe, place all dust in closed containers before throwing them into the incinerator shaft. This is no time to lose a home due to carelessness.

The total acreage of principal crops in the U. S. for 1945 was 346,974,000 acres.
